Lost in the Crowd Gregory M.W. Kennedy,2024-02-13 In December 1915 as the First World War wore on Acadian leaders meeting in New Brunswick deplored how soldiers from their communities were lost in the crowd of the Canadian Expeditionary Force They successfully lobbied the federal government for the creation of an Acadian national unit that would be French speaking Catholic and led by their own More than a thousand Acadians from across the Maritime provinces Quebec and the American northeast answered the call In Lost in the Crowd Gregory Kennedy draws on military archives census records newspapers and soldiers letters to present a new kind of military history focusing on the experiences of Acadian soldiers and their families before during and after the war He shows that Acadians were just as likely to enlist as their English speaking counterparts across the Maritimes though the backgrounds of the volunteers were quite different Kennedy tackles controversial topics often missing from the previous historiography such as underage recruits desertion and army discipline With the help of the 1921 Canadian Census he explores the factors that influenced post war outcomes both positive and negative for soldiers families and communities Lost in the Crowd offers a completely new and replicable approach to the traditional regimental history reconstituting the lives of soldiers and their families The focus on the Acadians a francophone minority group in the Maritime provinces significantly shifts our understanding of French Canada and the First World War
