Passion For Identity Canadian Studies For The 21st Century By Taras 4th Edition:

Canadian Society in the Twenty-First Century, Fourth Edition Trevor W. Harrison, John W. Friesen, 2021-03-03
Confederation may have established Canada's nationhood in 1867 but the relationships framing Canada's modern existence go back much further. Employing a unique socio-historical perspective, Canadian Society in the Twenty-First Century examines three formative relationships that have shaped the country: Canada and Quebec, Canada and the United States, and Canada and Indigenous nations. Now in its fourth edition, this engaging text offers students an overview of Canadian society through a series of connections rather than a collection of statistics. Trevor W. Harrison and John W. Friesen weave together complex aspects of the nation's economic, political, and socio-cultural development. They guide readers to use this interdisciplinary framework to consider some of the tough questions that Canada is likely to face in adjusting to demands and challenges in the next few decades. Reflecting the most current scholarship in the field, this revised edition features new discussions on issues such as the current crisis of neo-liberal globalization, Canada's petroleum industry, global warming, the Wet'suwet'en dispute in 2020, and the COVID-19 pandemic. Exploring the unique character of Canada today, this text is a vibrant resource for sociology courses on Canadian society as well as courses in Canadian studies and Canadian history.

Once and Future Canadian Democracy Janet Ajzenstat, 2003. Annotation: An inspiring case for parliamentary democracy and a sympathetic exploration of current discontents. Second Promised Land Harry H. Hiller, 2009. Explosive economic growth in resource-rich Alberta has led to a stunning increase in its population. In contrast to Ontario and British Columbia, which have grown primarily through international migration, Alberta has become a magnet for internal migrants, contributing to population redistribution within Canada with significant national social and economic consequences. Combining statistical analysis and ethnographic study, Harry Hiller uncovers two waves of immigration to Alberta. His innovative approach begins with the individual migrant and analyzes the relocation experience from origin to destination. Through interviews with hundreds of migrants, Hiller shows that migration is complex and dynamic, shaped not just by what Alberta offers but also prompted by a process that begins in the region of origin that makes migration possible and helps determine whether migrants stay or return home. By combining a social psychological approach with structural factors such as Alberta's transition from a regional hinterland province to its emerging role in the global system, discussions of gender, the internet, and folk culture, Second Promised Land provides a multi-dimensional and deeply human account of a contemporary Canadian phenomenon. One Hundred Years of Canadian Cinema George Melnyk, 2004-01-01. Melnyk argues passionately that Canadian cinema has never been a singular entity but has continued to speak in the languages and in the voices of Canada's diverse population.

Geography of British Columbia, 2nd ed. Brett McGillivray, 2011-11. Why is British Columbia unique within Canada? What physical processes have made this province so rugged and produced such remarkable variation in climate and vegetation? Why did non-Natives come to British Columbia and what impact did they have on First Nations? Why did so many Asian immigrants come to this province and then leave for other parts of Canada How were resources developed in the past and how are those resources developed today Geography of British Columbia discusses these and many other aspects of the growth of this distinctive province Brett McGillivray focuses first on the combination of physical processes that produced a spectacular variety of mountains rivers lakes islands fjords forests and minerals explaining the forces that created the province and the natural hazards that can reshape it A concise examination of B C historical geography follows covering First Nations ways of life colonization Asian immigration and the sad history of institutionalized racism The second half of the book contains a detailed description of the economic geography of the province with chapters on forestry the salmon fishery metal mining energy supply and demand agriculture water and the tourism industry It addresses the present day issues of urbanization economic development and resource management providing a thorough background to these topics and suggesting what the future might hold This up to date and comprehensive exploration of the rich historical geography and development of British Columbia will be welcomed by teachers students scholars and everyone with an interest in the province

Media, Culture, and the Meanings of Hockey Stacy L. Lorenz, 2017-04-21 This volume examines the cultural meanings of high level amateur and professional hockey in Canada during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries In particular the author analyzes English Canadian media narratives of Stanley Cup challenge games and championship series between 1896 and 1907 Newspaper coverage and telegraph reconstructions of Stanley Cup challenges contributed significantly to the growth of a mediated Canadian hockey world and a broader world of sport during this time period By 1903 Stanley Cup hockey games had become national Canadian events followed by audiences across the country Hockey also played an important role in the construction of gender and class identities and in debates about amateurism professionalism and community representation in sport The author also explores the connections between violence and masculinity in Canadian hockey by examining media descriptions of brutal and strenuous play He analyzes how notions of civic identity changed as hockey clubs evolved from amateur teams represented by players who were members of their home community to professional aggregations that included paid imports from outside the town As a result this volume addresses important gaps in the study of sport history and the analysis of sport and popular culture This book was originally published as a special issue of The International Journal of the History of Sport

Creating Citizens Amy Jeanette Von Heyking, 2006 This work examines how Albertans have interpreted themselves and their world through history and social studies curricula and texts from 1905 to 1980 and shows that these courses more than others addressed issues of identity by creating the country and region's past

A Place Called Nunavut Karin Irma Margot van Dam, Kim van Dam, 2008 In 1999 Nunavut Territory was created in the Canadian Arctic The area is about 50 times as large as the Netherlands and is inhabited by a population of 30 000 85% of the population is Inuit the indigenous people in this area The central questions in this research project are what place or regional identities are being ascribed to Nunavut by different groups of people from within and from outside the region and how do these identities work In the process of the formation of the region the territorial Government of Nunavut is an important actor in producing a regional identity that is based on the cultural identity of the Inuit the Inuit Homeland This official regional identity creates a symbolic unity that is important in linking people to the region and through which the land the history and the people are united in a new territorial membership However there is no reason to assume that there is only one regional identity for Nunavut Different individuals or groups of people from within and from outside the region such as the people who live in one of the 25 communities and those who work for the multinational mining corporations or as tourist operators are also involved in the production and reproduction of identities for Nunavut They represent Nunavut for example as a place to live a resource region a wilderness or as a sustainable place Nunavut Government also links these alternative identities to the area because as a government they are not only interested in protecting Inuit culture but also aim to modernize the economy in order to enhance prosperity and well being As such the place identities are hybrid and identities that before were produced only by external actors are now also being produced by internal actors and vice versa
