Passions In Roman Thought And Literature:

The Passions in Roman Thought and Literature Susanna Morton Braund, Christopher Gill, 1997-08-07 Essays by an international team of scholars in Latin literature and ancient philosophy explore the understanding of emotions or passions in Roman thought and literature Building on work on Hellenistic theories of emotion and on philosophy as therapy they look closely at the interface between ancient philosophy especially Stoic and Epicurean rhetorical theory conventional Roman thinking and literary portrayal There are searching studies of the emotional thought world of a range of writers including Catullus Cicero Virgil Seneca Statius Tacitus and Juvenal Issues of debate such as the ethical colour of Aeneas's angry killing of Turnus at the end of the Aeneid are placed in a broad and illuminating perspective Written in clear and non technical language with Greek and Latin translated the volume opens up a fascinating area on the borders of philosophy and literature

Paul's Emotional Regime Ian Y. S. Jew, 2020-10-15 In his letters Paul speaks often of his emotions and also promotes certain feelings while banishing others This indicates that for Paul emotion is vital However in New Testament studies the study of emotions is still nascent current research in the social sciences highlights its cognitive and social dimensions Ian Y S Jew combines rigorous social scientific analysis and exegetical enquiry to argue that emotions are intrinsic to the formation of the Pauline communities as they encode belief structures and influence patterns of social experience By taking joy in Philippians and grief in 1 Thessalonians as representative emotions and contrasting Paul's approach with that of his Stoic contemporaries Jew demonstrates that authorized feelings have socially integrating and differentiating functions by reinforcing the shared theological realities upon which emotional norms are based group belonging is bolstered Simultaneously authorized emotions fortify the theological boundaries between Christians and others which strengthens group solidarity in the Church by accentuating its members insider status Using this framework heuristically Jew explores how the interplay of symbolic ritual and social elements within Paul's eschatological worldview reinforces emotional norms and demonstrates that attention to emotion can only deepen our understanding of the social formation of the early believers

Juvenal and the Satiric Emotions Catherine Keane, 2015-02-23 This text reveals Juvenal's creative exploitation of Greco Roman ideas about the emotions in this new analysis of his Satires and their arrangement The Passion for Happiness Adam Potkay, 2000 Although widely perceived as inhabiting different even opposed literary worlds Samuel Johnson 1709 1784 and David Hume 1711 1776 shared common ground as moralists Adam Potkay traces their central concerns to Hellenistic philosophy as conveyed by Cicero and to earlier moderns such as Addison and Mandeville Johnson's and Hume's large and diverse bodies of writings Potkay says are unified by several key questions What is happiness What is the role of virtue in the happy life What is the proper relationship between passion and reflection in the happy or flourishing individual In their writings Johnson and Hume largely agree upon what flourishing means for both human beings and the communities they inhabit They also tell a common story about the history that led up to the enlightened age of eighteenth century Europe On the divisive topic of religion these two great men of letters wrote with a decorum that characterizes the Enlightenment in Britain as compared to its French counterpart In The Passion for Happiness Adam Potkay illuminates much that philosophers and historians do not ordinarily appreciate about Hume and that literary scholars might not recognize about Johnson

The Elegiac Passion Ruth Rothaus Caston, 2012-08-01 The passions were a topic of widespread interest in antiquity as has been shown by the recent interest and research in the emotions in Greek and Roman literature Until now however there has been very little focus on love elegy or its relation to contemporary philosophical positions Yet Roman love elegy depends crucially upon the passions without love anger jealousy pity and fear elegy could not exist at all The Elegiac Passion provides the first investigation of the ancient representation of jealousy in its Roman context as well as its significance for Roman love elegy itself The poems of Propertius Tibullus and Ovid are built upon the presumed existence of a love triangle involving poet mistress and rival the very structure of elegy thus creates an ideal scenario for the arousal of jealousy This study begins by examining the differences between the elegiac treatment of love and that of philosophy whether Stoic or Epicurean Ruth Caston uses the main chapters to address the depiction of jealousy in the love relationship and explores in detail the role of the senses the role of readers both those internal and external to the poems and the use of violence as a response to jealousy Elegy provides a multi faceted perspective on jealousy that gives us details and nuances of the experience of jealousy not found elsewhere in ancient literature She argues that jealousy turns centrally on the question of fides The fear of broken obligations and the consequent lack of trust are relevant not only to the love affair that forms the subject of these poems but to many other relationships represented in elegy as well Overall she demonstrates that jealousy is not merely the subject matter of elegy it creates and structures elegy s various generic features Jealousy thus provides a much more satisfying explanation for the specific character of Roman elegy than the various theories about its origins that have typically been put forward

The Social Worlds of Ancient Jews and Christians , 2022-11-21 This volume contains fifteen essays in honor of L Michael White whose work has been influential in exploring the social histories of ancient Jews and Christians within the Graeco Roman world Following an introduction that highlights some of White s main scholarly contributions the essays are grouped into three topic areas Paul and his Legacy Social Relations and Material Culture The essays are united by an interest in reconstructing the social worlds of ancient Jews and Christians through careful analysis of literary sources and material culture in their most precise ancient contexts

A Companion to Persius and Juvenal Susanna Braund, Josiah Osgood, 2012-11-29 A Companion to Persius and Juvenal breaks new ground in its in depth focus on both authors as satiric successors detailed individual contributions suggest original perspectives on their work and provide an in depth exploration of Persius and Juvenal s afterlives Provides detailed and up to date guidance on the texts and contexts of Persius and Juvenal Offers substantial discussion of the reception of both authors reflecting some of the most innovative work being done in contemporary Classics Contains a thorough exploration of Persius and Juvenal s afterlives

The Roman Cultural Revolution Thomas Habinek, Alessandro Schiesaro, 1997-12-04 This book places culture centre stage in the investigation of the transformation of Rome from Republic to Empire It is the first book to attempt to understand the so called Roman Revolution as a cultural phenomenon Instead of regarding cultural changes as dependent on political developments the essays consider literary artistic and political changes as manifestations of a basic transformation of Roman culture In Part I the international group of contributors discusses the changes in the cultural systems under the topics of authority gender and sexuality status and space in the city of Rome and in Part II through specific texts and artifacts as they refract social political and economic changes The essays draw on the latest methods in literary and cultural work to present a holistic approach to the Augustan Cultural Revolution

The Oxford Handbook of Philosophy of Emotion Peter Goldie, 2009-12-03 This Handbook presents thirty one state of the art contributions from the most notable writers on philosophy of emotion today Anyone working on the nature of emotion its history or its relation to reason self value or art whether at the level of research or advanced study will find the book an unrivalled resource and a fascinating read

Roman Faith and Christian Faith Teresa Jean Morgan, 2015 This study investigates why faith pistis fides was so important to early Christians that the concept and praxis dominated the writings of the New Testament It argues that such a study must be interdisciplinary locating emerging Christianities in the social practices and mentalities of contemporary Judaism and the early Roman empire This can therefore equally be read as a study of the operation of pistis fides in the world of the early Roman principate taking one small but relatively well attested cult as a case study in how micro societies within that world could treat it distinctively Drawing on recent work in sociology and economics the book traces the varying shapes taken by pistis fides in Greek and Roman human and divine human relationships whom or what is represented as easy or difficult to trust or believe in where pistis fides is deferred and reified in practices such as oaths and proofs how pistis fides is related to fear doubt and scepticism and which foundations of pistis fides are treated as more or less secure The book then traces the evolution of representations of human and divine human pistis in the Septuagint before turning to pistis pisteuein in New Testament writings and their role in the development of early Christologies incorporating a new interpretation of pistis Christou and ecclesiologies It argues for the integration of the study of pistis pisteuein with that of New Testament ethics It explores the interiority of Graeco Roman and early Christian pistis fides Finally it discusses eschatological pistis and the shape of the divine human community in the eschatological kingdom
