Past Connection:

Arts of Connection Karen S. Feldman, 2019-08-05 At the intersection of literary theory philosophy of history and phenomenology Arts of Connection Poetry History Epochality explores the representation of connections between events in literary historical and philosophical narratives Events in a story can be seen as ordered according to proximate causation which leads diachronically from one event to the next and they can also be understood in view of the structure of the narrative as a whole for instance in terms of the unity of plot Feldman argues that there exists an essential narrative tension between these two kinds of connection i e between the overarching arrangement or plot that holds together events from outside as it were in order to produce an intelligible whole and the portrayal of one by one interstitial connections between events within the narrative Arts of Connection demonstrates by means of exemplary moments in Aristotle and classical German poetics eighteenth century philosophy of history and twentieth century phenomenology that the task of connection is a fraught one insofar as the formal unity of narrative competes or interferes with the representation of one by one connections between events and vice versa context ranging from early Greek traditions to Medieval Christian theories Renaissance esotericism and European Kabbalah all of which had adherents that brought those theories to America Rebirth theories are shown in all these groups to be highly complex and often disjunctive with mainstream religions even though members of conventional religions frequently affirm the possibility of rebirth As a history of an idea reincarnation theory is a current vital belief pattern that cuts across a wide spectrum of social cultural and scientific domains in a long complex history not reducible to any specific religious or theoretical explanation This book is cross disciplinary and multicultural linking religious studies perspectives with science based research it draws upon many distinct disciplines and avoids reduction of reincarnation to any specific theory The underlying thesis is to demonstrate the complexity of reincarnation theories what is unique is the historical overview and the gradual shift away from religious theories of rebirth to new theories that are therapeutic and trans traditional
