Information and Communication Technologies in Nigeria Patience Idaraesit Akpan-Obong, 2009 In recent years information and communication technologies ICTs have been linked with socioeconomic development with the assumption that they can be harnessed for economic growth in developing countries and facilitate integration into the global information society However very few studies in the ICT for development field examine the direct connections between ICTs and socioeconomic growth Information and Communication Technologies in Nigeria Prospects and Challenges for Development is a compelling account of the development of ICTs in Nigeria It examines the ICT policy framework and the societal context within which application of the technologies emerged and highlights the potentials of ICTs in socioeconomic development However this book also demonstrates through interviews and case studies that ICTs are not the panacea to underdevelopment constraining factors in different countries can limit their capacity to succeed The author employs a rare multidisciplinary approach that makes the book appealing and accessible to a diverse range of readership

African Studies Review , 2004 Women and Peacebuilding in Africa Ladan Affi, Liv Tønnessen, Aili Mari Tripp, 2021 Even in the best of circumstances women are all too often excluded from formal peacemaking and peacebuilding processes and relegated to the sidelines as observers or limited to informal peacebuilding strategies Yet there is enormous potential in these strategies as women often strive to build bridges across political ethnic religious clan and other differences through alliances arising from common concerns around violence land access to resources and protection of their families and communities and address sources of conflict at both national and local levels Drawing on cutting edge research by scholars and women s rights activists in South Sudan Sudan

Algeria northern Nigeria and Somalia this book focuses on the consequences of the continuing exclusions of women from peace talks and from post conflict governance structures The case studies reveal how peacebuilding is gendered and why this matters in developing meaningful and sustainable approaches to peacebuilding Examining how women activists have made a difference through informal peacebuilding activities the contributors explore women s efforts to reshape the post conflict context by struggling for legislative and constitutional reforms and by advocating for political representation and political inclusion more generally within peacebuilding processes They also look at how women have pushed back against the conservative Islamist forces that today dominate much armed conflict in Africa Suggesting that women s formal participation in peace negotiations is vital in bringing about an end to conflict and preventing its resumption as well as the one of the most effective strategies this book will be essential reading for scholars and NGOs involved in development conflict resolution and peacebuilding
