Rekindling Development Multinational Firms And Third World Debt:

Rekindling Development Lee A. Tavis, 1988 Rekindling Development Lee A. Tavis, 1988 Is the Good Corporation Dead? John W. Houck, Oliver F. Williams, 1996 Can corporations remain socially responsible in today's fiercely competitive global economy For several decades after World War II companies like IBM which exemplified what journalist Robert J Samuelson called the good corporation poured forth material comforts and technological ideas while guaranteeing full employment and adequate retirement In the 1980s all of that changed as corporations moved to downsize and become lean mean global competitors In this collection thirteen prominent scholars in business ethics finance management and religion and six corporate leaders respond to a new essay by Samuelson that sounds the death knell of the good corporation They propose new approaches to corporate integrity and social responsibility in the global economy The book will be useful in corporate workshops and will make an excellent business ethics text in philosophy departments and business schools

Global Development and Poverty Reduction John-ren Chen, David Sapsford, 2005-01-01 Explores the various ways in which the institutions of the global economy might rise to the challenges posed by the twin goals of increasing the pace of global development and alleviating poverty This book also provides a much needed analysis of the successes and failures of international institutions in achieving these aims International Debt and the Third World, 1989 Debt and Transfiguration David Felix, 2019-05-23 Collection of essays representing the analysis and policy proposals of a wide range of economists and dealing with many contentious issues about the re structuring strategies of Latin American debtor countries their economic and political adjustments and schemes for external financing Visits to customers by a cross functional team of marketers and engineers play an important role in new product development entry into new markets and in exploring customer satisfaction and dissatisfaction The new edition of this widely used professional resource provides step by step instructions for making effective use of this market research technique Using a wealth of specific examples Edward F McQuarrie explains how to set feasible objectives and how to select the right number of the right kind of customers to visit One of the leading experts in the field McQuarrie demonstrates how to construct a discussion guide and how to devise good questions and offers practical advice on how to conduct face to face interviews Extensively updated throughout this third edition includes three new chapters as well as expanded coverage of the analysis of visit data It also discusses which industries and product categories are most and least suitable to the customer visit technique The author also covers how the customer visit technique compares to other market research techniques such as focus groups Thinking about Development Paul Patrick Streeten, 1997-07-24 Paul Streeten is recognised as one of the profession's most eminent authorities on economic development In these lectures he provides a major statement on his approach to the development problem stressing that human development not simply income growth should be the focus of all strategies to eradicate hunger and poverty in the world His argument assigns an important role to reformed government both in providing social services and in facilitating the functioning of markets in opposition to the prevailing idea that minimal government is more often than not the optimal solution The role of small and larger firms institutions central and local government is also carefully examined Streeten outlines a normative political economy how to mobilise reformist alliances how to use interest group how to harness coalition in the pursuit of effective development Dealing with Debt, Rekindling Development ,1985
