Relativism And Reality A Contemporary Introduction:

Relativism and Reality Robert Kirk,1999 Our thoughts about the world are clearly influenced by such things as point of view temperament past experience and culture However some thinkers go much further and argue that everything that exists depends on us arguing that even reality is relative Can we accept such a claim in the face of events such as floods and other natural disasters or events seemingly beyond our control Realists argue that reality is independent of out thinking Relativists disagree arguing that what there is depends on our point of view Which is right Robert Kirk provides a crystal clear account of this debate from the Greek philosophers to Wittgenstein and Rorty Along the way he unpacks some of the more complicated issues surrounding ideas of objectivity subjectivity pragmatism and realism essential for those beginning any study of philosophy

The Politics of Suffering Peter Sutton,2009 Peter Sutton is a fearless and authoritative voice in Aboriginal politics In this groundbreaking book he asks why after three decades of liberal thinking has the suffering and grief in so many Aboriginal communities become worse The picture Sutton presents is tragic He marshals shocking evidence against the failures of the past and argues provocatively that three decades of liberal consensus on Aboriginal issues has collapsed Sutton is a leading Australian anthropologist who has lived and worked closely with Aboriginal communities He combines clear eyed original observation with deep emotional engagement The Politics of Suffering cuts through the cant and offers fresh insight and hope for a new era in Indigenous politics

Unfolding Social Constructionism Fiona J. Hibberd,2006-11-24 For more than half of the 20 century psychologists sought to locate the causes of behaviour in individuals and tended to neglect the possibility of locating the psy chological in the social In the late 1960s a reaction to that neglect brought about a crisis in social psychology This crisis did not affect all social psychologists some remained seemingly oblivious to its presence others dismissed its significance and continued much as before But in certain quarters the psychological was re conceptualised as the social and the social was taken to be sui generis Moreover the possibility of developing general laws and theories to describe and explain social interaction was rejected on the grounds that as social beings our actions vary from occasion to occasion and are for many reasons unrepeatable There is so it was thought an inherent instability in the phenomena of interest The nomothetic ideal was said to rest on individualistic cause effect positivism of the kind which arguably characterised the natural sciences but social psychology so it was said is an historical inquiry and its conclusions are necessarily historically relative Gergen 1973 Events outside psychology converged to give impetus to the crisis within

Mind Ascribed Bruno Mölder, 2010 This book provides a thoroughly worked out and systematic presentation of an interpretivist position in the philosophy of mind of the view that having mental properties is a matter of interpretation Bruno Molder elaborates and defends a particular version of interpretivism the ascription theory which explicates the possession of mental states with contents in terms of their canonical ascribability and shows how it can withstand various philosophical challenges Apart from a defence of the ascription theory from the objections commonly directed against interpretivism the book provides a critical analysis of major alternative accounts of mental state possession as well as the interpretivist ideas originating from Donald Davidson and Daniel Dennett The viability of the approach is demonstrated by showing how one can treat mental causation as well as the faculties closely connected with consciousness perception and the awareness of one's own mental states in the interpretivist framework Series A
