Masculinity and Place in American Literature since 1950 Vidya Ravi, 2019-05-15 American literature has long celebrated the figure of the self made man and the idea of establishing selfhood particularly male selfhood in nature However during the crisis of masculinity that swept across America in the middle of the twentieth century a generation of writers started exploring a different kind of a man This was a figure who was concerned not so much with the loss of the West or the desire to recover a wilderness but with how to live in an ordinary domesticated continent Masculinity and Place in American Literature since 1950 explores the role of place in negotiating reinforcing and subverting articulations of hegemonic masculinity in the work of four American writers from the latter part of the 20th century John Cheever John Updike Raymond Carver and Richard Ford The book argues that American fiction by white male writers between the 1950s and the present day is compelled by the troubled and troubling relationship between masculinity and place This relationship is deeply embedded in how ideals of masculinity are predicated upon the experience of the physical world and how the symbolic logic of masculinity is continually subverted by alternative conceptions of dwelling and ecological consciousness

A Companion to the American Short Story Alfred Bendixen, James Nagel, 2010-02-12 A Companion to the American Short Story traces the development of this versatile literary genre over the past 200 years Sets the short story in context paying attention to the interaction of cultural forces and aesthetic principles Contributes to the ongoing redefinition of the American canon with close attention to the achievements of women writers as well as such important genres as the ghost story and detective fiction Embraces diverse traditions including African American Jewish American Latino Native American and regional short story writing Includes a section focused on specific authors and texts from Edgar Allan Poe to John Updike

Carver Across the Curriculum Katherine Ashley, Paul Benedict Grant, 2020-05-15 Raymond Carver's canonical status is secure his short stories appear regularly in all of the major literary anthologies and his fiction and poetry are taught at universities around the world Despite this there are few instructional aids to teaching Carver's work at university level and none that take into account the interdisciplinary nature of many modern university courses Carver Across the Curriculum addresses these needs Drawing on the experiences and expertise of a group of international scholars it presents a variety of innovative interdisciplinary approaches to teaching Carver's work at the undergraduate and postgraduate levels The chapters cover a wide range of disciplines including music creative writing translation humor studies food studies the medical humanities and the visual and performing arts As such the collection serves as a guide and a source of inspiration to instructors and offers readers new insights into Carver's fiction and poetry In-roads of Language
