Remembering Saskatchewan T. D. Regehr, 1979      How Agriculture Made Canada Peter A. Russell, 2012 An original and textured analysis of how agricultural developments in Quebec and Ontario had a significant and direct impact on rural settlement in the Prairies      Improved Earth Rod Bantjes, 2005-01-01 Improved Earth is a history of the making of abstract spaces of modernity in the setting of the Canadian prairies particularly rural Saskatchewan from 1869 to 1944 Rod Bantjes demonstrates how three interrelated projects state formation agrarian class formation and the transformation of the environment were conceived in spatial terms and employed competing visions of spatial possibility Bantjes proposes that the prairies be thought of as a site of modernity and makes a case for viewing prairie farmers as modernists who not only embraced but took an active role in the making of modernity Indeed many of the questions that excited the imaginations of prairie politicians and reformers are alive today the ecological and social value of localization in agricultural production the potentials for community maintained and linked by transportation and communications technologies and the possibilities of democratic decentralization within large translocal networks The first systematic treatment of the spatial dimensions of the colonization of the prairie west Improved Earth is a unique and thorough study certain to provoke new debates about the way space and time are imagined      Lost Harvests Sarah Carter, 2019-09-19 Agriculture on Plains Indian reserves is generally thought to have failed because the Indigenous people lacked either an interest in farming or an aptitude for it In Lost Harvests Sarah Carter reveals that reserve residents were anxious to farm and expended considerable effort on cultivation government policies more than anything else acted to undermine their success Despite repeated requests for assistance from Plains Indians the Canadian government provided very little help between 1874 and 1885 and what little they did give proved useless Although drought frost and other natural phenomena contributed to the failure of early efforts reserve farmers were determined to create an economy based on agriculture and to become independent of government regulations and the need for assistance Officials in Ottawa however attributed setbacks not to economic or climatic conditions but to the Indians character and traditions which they claimed made the Indians unsuited to agriculture In the decade following 1885 government policies made farming virtually impossible for the Plains Indians They were expected to subsist on one or two acres and were denied access to any improvements in technology farmers had to sow seed by hand harvest with scythes and thresh with flails After the turn of the century the government encouraged land surrenders in order to make good agricultural land available to non Indian settlers This destroyed any chance the Plains Indians had of making agriculture a stable economic base Through an examination of the relevant published literature and of archival sources in Ottawa Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta Carter provides an in depth study of government policy Indian responses and the socio economic condition of the reserve communities on the prairies in the post treaty era The new introduction by the author offers a reflection on Lost Harvests the influences that shaped it and the issues and approaches that remain to be explored

Lost Harvests Sarah A. Carter, 1990-10-01 Despite repeated requests for assistance from Plains Indians the Canadian government provided very little help between 1874 and 1885 and what little they did give proved useless Although drought frost and other natural phenomena contributed to the failure of early efforts reserve farmers were determined to create an economy based on agriculture and to become independent of government regulations and the need for assistance Officials in Ottawa however attributed setbacks not to economic or climatic conditions but to the Indians character and traditions which they claimed made the Indians unsuited to agriculture In the decade following 1885 government policies made farming virtually impossible for the Plains Indians They were expected to subsist on one or two acres and were denied access to any improvements in technology farmers had to sow seed by hand harvest with scythes and thresh with flails After the turn of the century the government encouraged land surrenders in order to make good agricultural land available to non Indian settlers This destroyed any chance the Plains Indians had of making agriculture a stable economic base Through an examination of the relevant published literature and of archival sources in Ottawa Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta Carter provides the first in depth study of government policy Indian responses and the socio economic condition of the reserve communities on the prairies in the post treaty era Immigration and Settlement, 1870-1939 Gregory P. Marchildon, 2009 Immigration and Settlement 1870 1939 includes twenty articles organized under the following topics the Opening of the Prairie West First Nations and the Policy of Containment Patterns of Settlement and Ethnic Relations and Identity in the New West The second volume in the History of the Prairie West Series Immigration and Settlement includes chapters on early immigration patterns including transportation routes and ethnic blocks as well as the policy of containing First Nations on reserves Other chapters grapple with the various identities preferences and prejudices of settlers and their complex relationships with each other as well as the larger polity Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index ,1975 Handbook of Research on Ethnic Minority Entrepreneurship Leo Paul Dana, 2007 Professor Dana and his colleagues have carefully and successfully put together a collection of chapters on ethnic minority entrepreneurship from all parts of the world The book comprises eight parts and 49 chapters Undoubtedly given the massive size and content of a 835 page book it is fair to ask is it value for money The answer is unequivocally yes A further comment on the content of the book should probably reassure potential readers and buyers of the book This collection is undoubtedly rich creative and varied in many respects Therefore it will be of great benefit to researchers and scholars alike I will strongly recommend this book to researchers students teachers and policy makers Aminu Mamman International Journal of Entrepreneurial Behaviour and Research The volume presents an impressive panorama of studies on ethnic entrepreneurs ranging from Dalits in India to Roma entrepreneurs in Hungary B P Corrie Choice From a focus on middle man minorities in the 1950s the study of minority ethnic entrepreneurship has evolved into a vast undertaking A major ingredient in this expansion is the massive population movements of the past thirty years that have created ethnic minority communities in almost all advanced economies From New York to San Francisco from Birmingham to Hamburg from the Chinese in Canada to the Turks in Finland to the Ghanians in South Africa to the Lebanese in New Zealand more than twenty chapters in this volume treat small scale ethnic entrepreneurship and the cultural and institutional resources which support it At the other end of the spectrum the ethnic Chinese have created ever larger multi divisional enterprises in the host societies of Southeast Asia At the mid point of the spectrum analyzed in an elegant paper by Ivan Light is the recently identified transmigrant entrepreneur acculturated in two societies but assimilated in neither whose special endowments have provided the lynchpin for for much of the international trade expansion in the global economy over the past decade And Dana and Morris provide us with much more Afro American entrepreneurship caste and class the theory of clubs women ethnic entrepreneurs minority ethnicity and IPOs In the quality of its contributions and in the reach of its coverage this Handbook attains a very high standard Peter Kilby Wesleyan University US The new Handbook of Research on Ethnic Minority Entrepreneurship edited by L o Paul Dana constitutes a major contribution to the literature on ethnic enterprise Unlike previous work which tended to focus on one country or one region of the world this book is global in scope You will find chapters on America Europe and Asia as well as integrative essays that review important principles and concepts from the literature on ethnic entrepreneurship I particularly appreciate the historical and evolutionary framework within which the contributions are situated This book belongs on the shelf of everyone who has an interest in immigration and entrepreneurship or ethnic entrepreneurship more generally Howard Aldrich University of North Carolina US This exhaustive interdisciplinary Handbook explores the phenomena of immigration and ethnic minority entrepreneurship in light of marked changes since the mid twentieth century and the advent of easier more affordable travel and more open and integrated national economies The international contributors key experts in their respective fields illustrate that myriad ethnic minorities exist across the globe and that their entrepreneurship can and does significantly influence national economies The contributors go on to promote our understanding of which factors make for successful entrepreneurship and perhaps more importantly how negative political consequences that members of successful entrepreneurial ethnic minorities might face can be minimized This extensive collection of current research on entrepr
