Remembering the Future Robert C. Lodwick, 1995 Designed as a regional study this book offers a survey of church situations in the British Isles Latin Europe Scandinavia and the Baltics Central Europe the Balkans and the Commonwealth of Independent States Writers from all parts of Europe share their conviction that while we cannot forget the past our salvation lies in remembering the future To live in the future is a sign of faith and hope that overcomes doubt and despair says editor Robert C Lodwick For there to be a future people must think plan and work for it That is the challenge of the churches in Europe and the challenge for people of faith everywhere Remembering the Future illuminates many fascinating subjects including complex ethno religious conflict in the Balkans signs of hope in Northern Ireland challenges of the Russian Orthodox Church in the postcommunist era ongoing pilgrimages by Christians seeking renewal reflections on issues of church and state in the former East Germany Major overviews by church leaders lay activists seminary professors and journalists are supplemented by news articles interviews and ecumenical statements Maps photos and a glossary enhance the material Back cover

The Ecumenical Movement and the Making of the European Community Lucian Leuștean, 2014 A study that assesses the political history of religious dialogue in the European Community detailing close relations between churchmen and high ranking officials in European institutions immediately after the 1950 Schuman Declaration

North American Churches and the Cold War Paul B. Mojzes, 2018-08-23 History textbooks typically list 1945 1990 as the Cold War years but it is clear that tensions from that period are still influencing world politics today While much attention is given to political and social responses to those first nuclear threats none has been given to the reactions of Christian churches North American Churches and the Cold War offers the first systematic reflection on the diverse responses of Canadian and American churches to potential nuclear disaster A mix of scholars and church leaders the contributors analyze the anxieties dilemmas and hopes that Christian churches felt as World War II gave way to the nuclear age As they faced either nuclear annihilation or peaceful reconciliation Christians were forced to take stands on such issues as war communism and their relationship to Christians in Eastern Europe As we continue to navigate the nuclear era this book provides insight into Christian responses to future adversities and conflicts

Whose Memory? Which Future? Barbara Törnquist-Plewa, 2016-04-01 Scholars have devoted considerable energy to understanding the history of ethnic cleansing in Europe reconstructing specific events state policies and the lived experiences of victims Yet much less attention has been given to how these incidents persist in collective memory today This volume brings together interdisciplinary case studies conducted in Central and Eastern European cities exploring how present day inhabitants remember past instances of ethnic cleansing and how they understand the cultural heritage of groups that vanished in their wake Together these contributions offer insights into more universal questions of collective memory and the formation of national identity American Book Publishing Record , 1995 Remembering 1989 Anke Pinkert, 2024-10-07 This account of the laboratory of radical democracy in the months before East Germany's absorption in the West challenges memories of Germany's reunification For many 1989 is an iconic date one we associate with the fall of the Berlin Wall and the end of the Cold War The year prompts some to rue the defeat of socialism in the East while others celebrate a victory for democracy and capitalism in the reunified Germany Remembering 1989 focuses on a largely forgotten interregnum the months between the outbreak of protests in the German Democratic Republic in 1989 and its absorption by the West in 1990 Anke Pinkert who herself participated in those protests recalls these months as a volatile but joyous laboratory of radical democracy and tells the story of how and why this time out of joint has been erased from Germany's national memory Remembering 1989 argues that in order to truly understand Germany's historic transformation we must revisit protesters' actions across a wide range of minor vernacular and often transient sources Drawing on rich archives including videotapes of untelevised protests illegally printed petitions by Church leaders audio recordings of dissident meetings and interview footage with military troops Pinkert opens the discarded history of East European social uprisings to new interpretations and imagines alternatives to Germany's neoliberal status quo The result is a vivid unexpected contribution to memory studies and European history

The Church of England and the Holocaust Tom Lawson, 2006 Explores the Church of England's understanding of the Third Reich and its impact on the reactions to and memory of the Holocaust in Britain Argues that the Anglican Church did not engage with the Third Reich through the prism of the persecution of the Jews English Christians commonly perceived Nazism as significant through its anti-Christianity as an attack on Christian culture and not through its antisemitism In the 1930s the Church was opposed to war but when Nazi antisemitism became much more pronounced after 1938 the Church incorporated this persecution into its image of Nazism as anti-Christian While there was some concern for Jewish victims especially on the part of George Bell and William Temple particular concern was expressed for the German Christian victims of totalitarianism This led the Anglican Church after the war to favor reconstruction of West Germany as a buffer against communism and anti-Christianity The Church objected to war crimes trials as being opposed to Christian forgiveness vs the Jewish value of vengeance a view which sought to reduce the significance of Nazi antisemitism and the Holocaust

Religion Index One, 2007 Dictionary of the Ecumenical Movement Nicolas Lossky, 2002 The 700 entries in this dictionary have been written by leading figures in the ecumenical movement from all parts of the world Entries are fully cross referenced and many of the articles are enhanced by short bibliographies Entries cover faith and order dialogue mission and evangelism communication church and society theological education institutional histories and relations of Orthodox Protestants and Roman Catholics within the ecumenical movement Biographical sketches outline the contributions of some of the individuals who have furthered the cause of ecumenism in the 20th century Cross references direct the reader to more detailed information or to matters of related interest
