Negotiating Religious Faith In The Composition Classroom:

Negotiating Religious Faith in the Composition Classroom Elizabeth Vander Lei, Bonnie Lenore Kyburz, 2005 Resource added for the Communication 108011 courses Religion in the Composition Classroom Joe Wagner, 2015-06-08 Students in first year composition courses across the country discuss and write about touchy subjects like race class gender and religion This book focuses on the latter offering a pragmatic way of working with religious belief as a subject of study in the secular setting of the university classroom Based on the work of American pragmatists like Charles Peirce William James and John Dewey this approach considers what religious belief does in the world the tangible consequences of believing or not believing and steers away from questions concerning God's existence or benevolence Religion is viewed as a social and political force affecting human interaction Drawing on years of experience teaching composition in Chile and the United States the author explores real world events such as Chile's 1973 coup d'etat the resignation of Pope Benedict XVI and the daily interplay of religious beliefs among family members Reading and writing assignments geared for believers and nonbelievers alike are provided including student essays that make various arguments about religion Evangelical Writing in a Secular Imaginary Emily Murphy Cope, 2024-02-13 Evangelical Writing in a Secular Imaginary addresses the question of how Christian undergraduates engage in academic writing and how best to teach them to participate in academic inquiry and prepare them for civic engagement Exploring how the secular both constrains and supports undergraduates academic writing the book pays special attention to how it shapes younger evangelicals social identities perceptions of academic genres and rhetorical practices The author draws on qualitative interviews with evangelical undergraduates at a public university and qualitative document analysis of their writing for college grounded in scholarship from social theory writing studies sociology of religion rhetorical theory and social psychology to describe the multiple ways these evangelicals participate in the secular imaginary that is the public university through their academic writing The conception of a secular imaginary provides an explanatory framework for examining the lived experiences and academic writing of religious students in American institutions of higher education By examining the power of the secular imaginary on academic writers this book offers rhetorical educators a more complex vocabulary that makes visible the complex social forces shaping our students experiences with writing This book will be of interest not just to scholars and educators in the area of rhetoric writing studies and communication but also those working on religious studies Christian discourse and sociology of religion Sexual Rhetorics Jonathan Alexander, Jacqueline Rhodes, 2015-10-16 Sexual rhetoric is the self conscious and critical engagement with discourses of sexuality that exposes both their naturalization and their queering their torquing to create different or counter discourses giving voice and agency to multiple and complex sexual experiences This volume explores the intersection of rhetoric and sexuality through the varieties of methods available in the fields of rhetoric and writing studies including case studies theoretical questioning ethnographies or close and distant readings of texts that help us think through the rhetorical force of sexuality and the sexual force of rhetoric

Religious Faith and Teacher Knowledge in English Language

Teaching Bradley Baurain, 2016-01-14 The field of TESOL Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages stands at an active crossroads issues of language culture learning identity morality and spirituality mix daily in classrooms around the world What roles might teachers personal religious beliefs play in their professional activities and contexts Until recently such questions had been largely excluded from academic conversations in TESOL Yet the qualitative research at the core of this book framed and presented within a teacher knowledge paradigm demonstrates that personal faith and professional identities and practices can and do interact and interrelate in ways that are both meaningful and problematic This study s Christian TESOL teacher participants working overseas in Southeast Asia perceived explained and interpreted a variety of such connections within their lived experience As a result the beliefs practices nexus deserves to be further theorized researched and discussed Religious beliefs and human spirituality as foundational and enduring aspects of human thought and culture and thus of teaching and learning deserve a place at the TESOL table

Re/Orienting Writing Studies

William P. Banks, Matthew B. Cox, Caroline Dadas, 2019-04-15 Re Orienting Writing Studies is an exploration of the intersections among queer theory rhetoric and research methods in writing studies Focusing careful theoretical attention on common research practices this collection demonstrates how queer rhetorics of writing composing textual analysis history assessment and embodiment identity significantly alter both methods and methodologies in writing studies The chapters represent a diverse set of research locations and experiences from which to articulate a new set of innovative research practices While the humanities have engaged queer theory extensively research methods have often been hermeneutic or interpretive At the same time social science approaches in composition research have foregrounded inquiry on human participants but have often struggled to understand where lesbian gay bisexual transgender and queer people fit into empirical research projects Re Orienting Writing Studies works at the intersections of humanities and social science methodologies to offer new insight into using queer methods for data collection and queer practices for framing research

Mapping Christian Rhetorics

Michael-John DePalma, Jeffrey M. Ringer, 2014-10-10 The continued importance of Christian rhetorics in political social pedagogical and civic affairs suggests that such rhetorics not only belong on the map of rhetorical studies but are indeed essential to the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century This collection argues that concerning ourselves with religious rhetorics in general and Christian rhetorics in particular tells us something about rhetoric itself its boundaries its characteristics its functionings In assembling original research on the intersections of rhetoric and Christianity from prominent and emerging scholars Mapping Christian Rhetorics seeks to locate religion more centrally within the geography of rhetorical studies in the twenty first century It does so by acknowledging work on Christian rhetorics that has been overlooked or ignored connecting domains of knowledge and research areas pertaining to Christian rhetorics that may remain disconnected or under connected and charting new avenues of inquiry about Christian rhetorics that might invigorate theory building teaching research and civic engagement In dividing the terrain of Christian rhetorics into four categories theory education methodology and civic engagement Mapping Christian Rhetorics aims to foster connections among these areas of inquiry and spur future future collaboration between scholars of religious rhetoric in a range of research areas Vernacular

Christian Rhetoric and Civil Discourse Jeffrey M. Ringer, 2016-02-05 Vernacular Christian Rhetoric and Civil Discourse seeks to address the current gap in American public discourse between secular liberals and religiously committed citizens by focusing on the academic and public writing of millennial evangelical Christian students Analysis of such writing reveals that the evangelical Christian faith of contemporary college students and the rhetorical practice motivated by it is marked by an openness to social context and pluralism that offers possibilities for civil discourse Based on case studies of evangelical Christian student writers contextualized within nationally representative trends as reported by the National Study of Youth and Religion and grounded in scholarship from rhetorical theory composition studies folklore studies and sociology of religion this book offers rhetorical educators a new terministic screen that reveals the complex processes at work within our students vernacular constructions of religious faith Christian Faith and English Language Teaching and Learning

Mary Shepard Wong, Carolyn Kristjansson, Zoltán Dörnyei, 2013 Ideological and educational political aspects of the link between language and faith especially between Global English and Christianity is a topic of growing interest in the field of English language teaching This book explores the possible role and impact of teachers and students faith in the English language classroom Bringing together studies representing a diversity of experiences and perspectives on the philosophies purposes practices and theories of the interrelationship of Christianity and language learning and teaching it is on the front line in providing empirical data that offers firm insights into the actual role that faith plays in various aspects of the language learning teaching experience By adding a data based dimension the volume contributes to the cultivation of valid research methods and innovative ways to analyze and interpret studies of the intersection of Christian faith and the practice of teaching and learning language

A Rhetoric for Writing Program Administrators 2e Rita Malenczyk, 2016-09-01 A Rhetoric for Writing Program Administrators 2nd Edition presents the major issues and questions in the field of writing program administration The collection provides aspiring new and seasoned WPAs with the theoretical lenses terminologies historical contexts and research they need to understand the nature history and complexities of their intellectual and administrative work
