Epilepsy Hans Lüders,Ronald P. Lesser,2012-12-06 Epilepsy is among the most common scourges afflicting the health of humankind and perhaps the most terrifying In one form or another it is suffered by one in every hundred people on earth with a disproportionate prevalence at the early and late extremes of life There is nothing sacred or sanctifying about it in spite of Hippoc rates terming epilepsy The Sacred Disease in a famous treatise There is nothing ennobling about it despite its occasional designation as a noble disorder by virtue of its having affected the likes of Alexander of Macedon Julius Caesar and other persons of royal lineage From time to time epilepsy is hailed as a condition which is artistically inspirational Fyodor Dostoyevsky s dependence on his own personal experience with complex partial epilepsy as a source of imagery in the transfiguration scenes of The Brothers Karamazov and as a source of experience in The Idiot is often cited in this respect In fact for all its victims in human history epilepsy has been a sad burden which has disrupted and shortened life causing suffering and castigation for the duration of their terrestrial journey

Epileptic Seizures and Syndromes Peter Wolf,1994 This book reflects debates and results which have developed since the introduction of an international system of classifications in epileptology The creation of such a system was initiated in the sixties mainly for practical reasons growing international exchange had revealed that divergence of terminology in epilepsy had become important enough to prove a serious obstacle to sensible discussions The Bethel Cleveland symposia which was at the origin of this book aim to bring the excellence of advanced inter disciplinary and controversial workshops to a larger public The book concentrates on a selection of topics where progress has been made where controversies are open or where discussion needs to be stimulated

Epileptic Seizures Hans Lüders,Soheyl Noachtar,2000 This new text presents a systematic and comprehensive overview of the clinical semiology of epileptic seizures With discussions on experimental and clinical pathophysiology of epileptic seizures and a specific concentration on clinical ictal symptoms Also includes excellent visual examples of typical examples and new classifications of seizure types
