Past And Present Vegetation Of The Far Northwest Canada:

Past and Present Vegetation of the Far Northwest of Canada James Cunningham Ritchie, 1984 Quaternary history of vegetation in the northern Yukon and adjacent Mackenzie Delta region      Post-glacial Vegetation of Canada J. C. Ritchie, 2004-04 This book brings together all the available information about the complex history of vegetational and environmental change in Canada since the last Ice Age Professor Ritchie discusses the roles of climatic change wildfires diseases and biological factors in controlling the emerging patterns of new plant growth      Vegetation history B. Huntley, T. Webb III, 2012-12-06 The analysis of vegetation history is one of the prime objectives for vegetation scientists In order to understand the recent composition of local floras and plant communities a second knowledge of species composition during recent millennia is essential With the present concern over climate changes due to human activities an understanding of past vegetation distribution becomes even more important since the correlation between climate and vegetation can often be used to predict possible impacts to crops and forests I was very fortunate to receive the help of Drs Webb and Huntley to compile this volume on vegetation history They have collated an impressive set of papers which together give an account of the vegetation history of most of the continents during the late Tertiary and Quaternary periods There are however gaps in the coverage achieved most notably Africa and Asia apart from Japan The information in this book will nonetheless certainly be used widely by vegetation scientists for the regions covered in the book and much of it has relevance to the areas not explicitly described The authors of the individual chapters have done their best to cover recent topics of interest as well as established facts It is intended that a separate volume will be produced in the near future covering the vegetation history of Africa and Asia I thank the editors of It fits well into this volume for their commendable achievement      Canada's Cold Environments Hugh M. French, Olav Slaymaker, 1993 Low temperatures wind chill snow sea ice and permafrost have been primary characteristics of Canada's northern and alpine environments during the past two million years The evolution of Canada's cultural landscapes the processes of settlement of rural areas and the present interaction of Canadian industrial society with its biophysical environment are all deeply influenced directly or indirectly by the frigidity of the greater part of the country The phenomenon of global warming if it occurs will lessen this coldness but its impact on temperature extremes sea ice regimes vegetation snow distribution permafrost glaciers lakes rivers and mountain hazards are all the subject of intensive research the highlights of which are reviewed in Canada's Cold Environments Eleven of Canada's leading geographers geologists and ecologists provide an authoritative yet readable scientific statement about the physical nature of Canada's coldness They focus on the distinctive attributes of Canada's cold environments their temporal and spatial variability and the constraints that coldness places on human activity The book is aimed at environmental scientists at all levels who need informed overviews of the substantive findings on a range of cold related topics      North American Terrestrial Vegetation Michael G. Barbour, William Dwight Billings, 2000 This second edition provides extensively expanded coverage of North American vegetation from arctic tundra to tropical forests      Human Ecology And Climatic Change

David L. Peterson, Darryll R. Johnson, 2020-03-06 The Far North a land of extreme weather and intense beauty is the only region of North America whose ecosystems have remained reasonably intact Humans are newcomers there and nature predominates As is widely known recent changes in the Earth's atmosphere have the potential to create rapid climatic shifts in our life time and well into the future These changes a product of southern industrial society will have the greatest impact on ecosystems at northern latitudes which until now have remained largely undisturbed In this fragile balance as terrestrial and aquatic habitats change animal and human populations will be irrevocably altered      Arctic Ecosystems in a

Changing Climate F. Stuart Chapin III, Robert L. Jefferies, James F. Reynolds, Gaius R. Shaver, Josef Svoboda, Ellen W. Chu, 2012-12-02 The arctic region is predicted to experience the earliest and most pronounced global warming response to human induced climatic change This book synthesizes information on the physiological ecology of arctic plants discusses how physiological processes influence ecosystem processes and explores how climate warming will affect arctic plants plant communities and ecosystem processes Reviews the physiological ecology of arctic plants Explores biotic controls over community and ecosystems processes Provides physiological bases for predicting how the Arctic will respond to global climate change      Patterns of Life Howard Mielke, 2012-12-06 Insight into universal nature provides an intellectual life
