With international and interdisciplinary contributors, this book sets out to build bridges and provide resources for policy makers, social planners, design practitioners, and students. The content moves from how we conceptualize children in the built environment, what we have discovered through research, how we frame the task and legislate for it, and how we design for and with children. Designing Cities with Children and Young People ultimately aims to bring about change to planning and design policies and practice for the benefit of children and young people in cities everywhere.
