Regional Development in The 1990s Ron Martin, Ron L. Martin, P. M. Townroe, 1992 In the first half of this book region by region profiles review the experience of the 80s and reflect on the present climate assessing problems and opportunities as they look forward across the next decade The second half provides 25 commentaries on changes influencing the development of regions from questions of industry technology and employment to the impact of national policy and 1992 and the prospects and capacity for regional policy and development From these a number of conclusions are drawn for policy development at local regional national and EEC levels Institutions, Discourse, and Regional Development Henrik Halkier, 2006 Why are some regional development strategies adopted and others rejected Only limited systematic attention has been paid to the politics of regional policy including the role of institutions discourse and political debate in shaping this major area of public policy The book develops an institutionalist approach to the study of regional policy capable of spanning major European development paradigms and accounting for the dynamic relationship between organisations policies and political discourse This conceptual framework is then applied to the Scottish Development Agency a development body famed across Europe for its innovative policies but surrounded by political controversy in Scotland A detailed study of corporate strategies policy implementation and the wider British environment questions existing interpretations of the organisation which tend to vilify anti interventionist Thatcherites or glorify shrewd development professionals Instead the author proposes an alternative synthesis which highlights the interplay between institutions discourse and regional development in the politics of regional policy Transitions in Regional Economic Development Ivan Turok, David Bailey, Jennifer Clark, Jun Du, Ugo Fratesi, Michael Fritsch, John Harrison, Tom Kemeny, Dieter Kogler, Arnoud Lagendijk, Tomasz Mickiewicz, Ernest Miguelez, Stefano Usai, Fiona Wishlade, 2018-10-18 At a time of extraordinary challenges confronting the world this book analyses some of the profound changes occurring in the development of cities and regions It discusses the uncertainties associated with the stalling of hyper globalization and asks whether this creates opportunities for resurgent regional economies driven by local capabilities resource efficiencies and domestic production Theory and evidence on socio economic and environmental transitions underway in many regions are brought together Implications of the shifting balance of global power towards emerging economies in the East are explored along with the consequences of urbanization in the global South for politics and democracy Dilemmas surrounding migration are also discussed including whether incomers displace local workers and depress wages or bring benefits in the form of know how new technology and investment More integrative concepts of the region and theories of regional development are analysed recognising the role of human capital knowledge innovation finance infrastructure and institutions This was originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies Regional Development Strategies Jeremy Alden, Philip Boland, 2013-10-18 Regional development strategies have become the focus of attention in many countries in the 1990s This textbook provides a conceptual theoretical and empirical analysis of regional development strategies within a European context It examines the various regional development strategies which are currently being pursued within the regions of Europe defined in its loosest term to include East and West The book describes how many different European regions are attempting to reduce regional disparities by engaging themselves in coherent and focused regional development strategies and there is also private sector approach to regional economic development There are many case studies from Europe and from other parts of the world including Japan thereby providing lessons that different countries and regions can learn from each other

The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation Philip McCann, Frank van Oort, John Goddard, 2016-11-25 Smart specialisation is the new policy approach to the development of regional innovation systems across Europe and it involves fostering innovative and entrepreneurial initiatives which are well tailored to the local context The different technologies skills profiles business activities institutions and sectors which reflect a region's economic strengths and potential are to be fostered and encouraged to diversify in ways which also exploit the region's linkages with broader global value chains Yet the ideas contained in the smart specialisation agenda have until now been primarily conceptual in nature The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation draws together some of the leading regional economists and scientists in Europe to analyse how smart specialisation is working in practice This book investigates different dimensions of the agenda as it is developing across parts of Europe from both quantitative and qualitative perspectives The quantitative analysis examines the nature of the diversification processes undertaken by regions and the interplay between the chosen local regional development priorities and the wider global value chain impacts of these choices Meanwhile the qualitative analysis examines the institutional opportunities and challenges facing policy makers and the key elements most likely to provide the underpinnings of a workable set of policy settings The book is aimed both at academic researchers interested in the interface between economic geography and regional innovation systems as well as at policy makers making public policy decisions related to regional development at the local city regional or national levels

Urban Innovation Systems Willem van Winden, Erik Braun, Alexander Otgaar, Jan-Jelle Witte, 2014-04-11 Why are some regions and cities so good at attracting talented people creating high level knowledge and producing exciting new ideas and innovations What are the ingredients of success Can innovative cities be created and stimulated or do they just flourish by mere chance This book analyses the development and management of innovation systems in cities in order to provide a better understanding of what makes such systems perform The book opens by developing a conceptual model that combines insights from urban economics with economic geography urban governance and place marketing This highlights the relevance of path dependence different types of proximity and the role of clusters networks and platforms institutional conditions place attractiveness and place identity in the evolution of local innovation systems The authors then draw on this conceptual framework to structure empirical case studies in three cities with a relatively high innovation performance Eindhoven the Netherlands Stockholm Sweden and Suzhou China Through these case studies they provide a detailed analysis of how successful innovation systems evolve and what makes them tick Unique to this book is the linking of analysis to concrete policy and management responses The book ends with a discussion on six themes in the development of successful urban innovation systems firm capabilities and leader firms higher education and research attractive environment place branding institutional environment and entrepreneurship Each theme is examined fully drawing lessons from the case studies and from recent insights and other cases discussed in the literature This title will be of interest to students researchers and policymakers involved in regional innovation systems knowledge locations and cluster development
