Business Analysis Using Regression Robert A. Stine, Dean P. Foster, Richard P. Waterman, 2012-12-06 Preface

Statistics is seldom the most eagerly anticipated course of a business student It typically has the reputation of being a boring complicated and confusing mix of mathematical formulas and computers Our goal in writing this casebook and the companion volume Basic Business Statistics was to change that impression by showing how statistics gives insights and answers interesting business questions Rather than dwell on underlying formulas we show how to use statistics to answer questions Each case study begins with a business question and concludes with an answer Formulas appear only as needed to address the questions and we focus on the insights into the problem provided by the mathematics The mathematics serves a purpose The material is organized into 12 classes of related case studies that develop a single key idea of statistics The analysis of data using statistics is seldom very straightforward and each analysis has many nuances Part of the appeal of statistics is this richness this blending of substantive theories and mathematics For a newcomer however this blend is too rich and they are easily overwhelmed and unable to sort out the important ideas from nuances Although later cases in these notes suggest this complexity we do not begin that way Each class has one main idea something big like standard error We begin a class by discussing an application chosen to motivate this key concept and introduce the necessary terminology

Progress on household drinking water, sanitation and hygiene 2000-2024 World Health Organization, United Nations Children's Fund, 2025-10-23 This JMP progress report presents global trends in household drinking water sanitation hygiene and menstrual health from 2000 to 2024. It tracks progress toward SDG targets and highlights persistent inequalities across regions, income groups, and demographic characteristics. The report incorporates expanded datasets and new indicators offering clearer insights into service disparities, fragile contexts, and menstrual health needs. Between 2000 and 2024, the global population rose from 6.2 to 8.2 billion. Over this period, about a quarter of the population (2.2 billion) gained access to safely managed drinking water, and a third (2.8 billion) to safely managed sanitation. Yet progress has been uneven, and the number of people left behind has fallen more slowly. Since 2015, the distribution of the unserved has shifted: the proportion of the population with sanitation services has risen quickly in rural areas while staying relatively flat in urban areas. However, in terms of raw numbers, most of the gains have been realized in urban areas. Basic hygiene access has improved especially in rural areas, and the share of people unserved has increasingly concentrated in low-income countries.
