Remembrance Of Repasts An Anthropology Of Food And Memory:

Remembrance of Repasts David E. Sutton, 2001-01-09 Proust's famous madeleine captures the power of food to evoke some of our deepest memories Why does food hold such power What does the growing commodification and globalization of food mean for our capacity to store the past in our meals in the smell of olive oil or the taste of a fresh cut fig This book offers a theoretical account of the interrelationship of culture food and memory Sutton challenges and expands anthropology's current focus on issues of embodiment memory and material culture especially in relation to transnational migration and the flow of culture across borders and boundaries The Greek island of Kalymnos in the eastern Aegean where Islanders claim to remember meals long past both humble and spectacular provides the main setting for these issues as well as comparative materials drawn from England and the United States Despite the growing interest in anthropological accounts of food and in the cultural construction of memory the intersection of food with memory has not been accorded sustained examination Cultural practices of feasting and fasting global flows of food as both gifts and commodities the rise of processed food and the relationship of orally transmitted recipes to the vast market in speciality cookbooks tie traditional anthropological mainstays such as ritual exchange and death to more current concerns with structure and history cognition and the anthropology of the senses Arguing for the crucial role of a simultaneous consideration of food and memory this book significantly advances our understanding of cultural processes and reformulates current theoretical preoccupations

Food in Memory and Imagination Beth Forrest, Greg de St. Maurice, 2022-01-13 How do we engage with food through memory and imagination This expansive volume spans time and space to illustrate how through food people have engaged with the past the future and their alternative presents Beth M Forrest and Greg de St Maurice have brought together first class contributions from both established and up and coming scholars to consider how imagination and memory intertwine and sometimes diverge Chapters draw on cases around the world including Iran Italy Japan Kenya and the US and include topics such as national identity food insecurity and the phenomenon of knowledge Contributions represent a range of disciplines including anthropology history philosophy psychology and sociology This volume is a veritable feast for the contemporary food studies scholar The Politics of Traumatic Literature Önder Çakırtaş,Şahin Kızıldaş,Antolin C. Trinidad,2018-10-29

This book is a collection of essays offering an inside view into the inner analysis of traumatic literary studies wherein language is used as a medium of expression so as to interpret man psyche and memory By making literature the partner of a dialogue with psychology in order to better comprehend the psyche it serves to alter the way of understanding the literary phenomenon Featuring relevant coverage on topics such as literary production psychology in literature identity and traumatic studies this book provides in depth analysis that is suitable for academicians students professionals and researchers interested in discovering more about the relationship between psychology and literature and their effects on thinking Not Bread Alone Nathan MacDonald,2008-09-25 In ancient Israel the production of food was a basic concern of almost every Israelite Consequently there are few pages in the Old Testament that do not mention food and food provides some of the most important social political and religious symbols in the biblical text Not Bread Alone is the first detailed and wide ranging examination of food and its symbolism in the Old Testament and the world of ancient Israel Many of these symbols are very well known such as the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden the abominable pig and the land flowing with milk and honey Nathan MacDonald demonstrates that the breadth biblical symbolism associated with food reaches beyond these celebrated examples providing a collection of interrelated studies that draw on work on food in anthropology or other historical disciplines The studies maintain sensitivity to the literary nature of the text as well as the many historical critical questions that arise when studying it Topics examined include the nature and healthiness of the ancient Israelite diet the relationship between food and memory in Deuteronomy the confusion of food sex and warfare in Judges the place of feasting in the Israelite monarchy the literary motif of divine judgement at the table the use of food in articulating Israelite identity in the post exilic period The concluding chapter shows how some of these Old Testament concerns find resonance in the New Testament Kitchen Secrets Frances Short,2006-08-07 This book explores the thoughts values and opinions of home

cooks their practices and experiences and the skills and knowledge they use to prepare and provide food It provides new and challenging ways of thinking about cooking examining and often contesting commonly held beliefs and theories about the role of practical cookery lessons dinner parties as showcases for culinary flair and the negative effect of convenience foods on home cooking and kitchen skills Abraham's Luggage Elizabeth Lambourn,2018-10-18 A single unique document a list of one merchant's baggage is the starting point used to bring to life the twelfth century Indian Ocean. Drawing connections between material culture, foodstuffs, and the construction of identity, Lambourn examines notions of home and mobility at a key moment in world history.

Going to the People Jeffrey Veidlinger, 2016-02-22 A remarkable achievement demonstrating the vitality of Jewish folklore and ethnographic studies a hundred years after Ansky's pioneering expedition. Folklore Taking S Ansky's expeditions to the Pale of Jewish Settlement as its point of departure, the volume explores the dynamic and many-sided nature of ethnographic knowledge and the long and complex history of the production and consumption of Jewish folk traditions. These essays by historians, anthropologists, musicologists, and folklorists showcase some of the finest research in the field. They reveal how the collection, analysis, and preservation of ethnography intersect with questions about the construction and delineation of community, the preservation of Jewishness, the meaning of belief, the significance of retrieving cultural heritage, the politics of accessing and memorializing lost cultures, and the problem of narration among other topics. Going to the People proves itself a useful addition to scholarship on Jewish folklore and ethnography by introducing major issues in these fields as well as the historical figures and contemporary scholars who have shaped and continue to shape their development. Western Folklore This book's essays portray the various threads and trends in Jewish ethnography in Poland and Soviet Russia, the US, the new Jewish State of Israel, and eventually in postcommunist societies. The endurance and evolution of Jewish folk culture is analyzed using techniques applicable to all groups and communities. Recommended Choice. I read through this collection with pleasure and fascination. These are valuable voices that should be heard. Gabriella Safran, Stanford University. This volume brings together some of the most innovative research in the field. Eugene Avrutin, author of Photographing the Jewish Nation: Pictures from S Ansky's Ethnographic Expeditions.

Teaching Food and Culture Candice Lowe Swift, Richard R. Wilk, 2016-07-01 With the rapid growth and interest in food studies around the U.S. and globally, the original essays in this one-of-a-kind volume aid instructors in expanding their teaching to include both the latest scholarship and engage with public debate around issues related to food. The chapters represent the product of original efforts to develop ways to teach both with and about food in the classroom, written by innovative instructors who have successfully done so. It would appeal to community college and university instructors in anthropology and social science disciplines who currently teach or want to develop food-related courses. This book illustrates the creative ways that college instructors have tackled teaching about food and used food as an instructional device. It aims to train the next generation of food scholars to deal with the complex problems of feeding an ever-increasing population. It contains an interview with Sidney Mintz, the most influential anthropologist shaping the study of food.

Memory Studies in India, 2025-05-29 This pioneering volume marks a significant contribution to memory studies in India, offering an in-depth exploration of how collective and individual memories shape and reshape identities, narratives, and historical knowledge. By addressing a diverse array of topics from forgotten events, massacres, and monuments to public spaces and food rituals across various epochs the essays in this collection bring new insights into India's complex cultural history. With contributions from scholars across different stages of their academic careers, this volume not only enriches the field of memory studies but also paves the way for future research in India and beyond.

On the Topology of Cultural Memory Thiemo Breyer, 2007

Memory Work Nina Fischer, 2015-09-27. Memory Work studies how Jewish children of Holocaust survivors from the English-speaking diaspora explore the past in literary texts. By identifying areas where memory manifests (Objects, Names, Bodies, Food, Passover, 9/11), it shows how the Second Generation engages with the pre-Holocaust family and their parents' survival.

A Museum Studies Approach to Heritage Sheila Watson, Amy Jane Barnes, Katy Bunning, 2018-10-08. Heritage's revival as a respected academic subject has in part resulted from an increased awareness and understanding of indigenous rights and non-Western philosophies and practices, and a growing respect for the intangible. Heritage has thus far focused on management, tourism, and the traditionally heritage-minded disciplines such as archaeology, geography, and social and cultural theory. Widening the scope of international heritage studies, A Museum Studies Approach to Heritage explores heritage through new areas of knowledge, including emotion and affect, the politics of dissent, migration, and intercultural and participatory dimensions of heritage. Drawing on a range of disciplines and the best from established sources, the book includes writing not typically recognised as heritage but which nevertheless makes a valuable contribution to the debate about what heritage is, what it can do, and how it works, and for whom. Including heritage perspectives from beyond the professional sphere, the book serves as a reminder that heritage is not just an academic concern but a deeply felt and keenly valued public and private practice. This blending of traditional topics and emerging trends, established theory and concepts from other disciplines, offers readers international views of the past and future of this growing field. A Museum Studies Approach to Heritage offers a wider, more current and more inclusive overview of issues and practices in heritage and its intersection with museums. As such, the book will be essential reading for postgraduate students of heritage and museum studies. It will also be of great interest to academics, practitioners, and anyone else who is interested in how we conceptualise and use the past.

Memories of Asia Minor in Contemporary Greek Culture Kristina Gedgaudaitė, 2021-11-18. The Greco-Turkish War (1919-1922) in Asia Minor and the Population Exchange that followed led to the forced displacement of more than 1.5 million people who became entangled in the nation-building processes of both Greece and Turkey. This book examines the memories that shaped Asia Minor refugee identity, focusing on the ways in which these memories continue to reverberate in contemporary Greek culture. It explores how memories of Asia Minor frame wider social debates, foster affective alliances, inform different notions of belonging, and provide a toolkit for addressing contemporary concerns. Taking the reader across a wide range of cultural works (history textbooks, comics, theatre, documentary and fiction films, news footage, and photography), the book shows how these works have become means for individuals and communities to contribute to the process of history-making. While keeping its focus on present-day Greece, Memories of Asia Minor joins wider global debates over contested pasts legacies of war and refugeehood Memory, Migration and Travel Sabine Marschall, 2018-05-16 Migration and forcible displacement are growing and impactful dynamics of the current global age These processes generate mobility flows travel patterns and touristic behaviour driven by personal and collective memories The chapters in this book highlight the importance of travel and tourism for enabling such memories and memory based identity practices to unfold This book investigates how diasporic communities transnational migrants refugees and the internally displaced recreate home in their host place of residence through material culture performativity and social relations and how involuntary tangible and intangible stimuli evoke memories of home It explores an array of diverse geographical contexts balancing ethnographic vignettes of contemporary migrant societies with archival research providing historical accounts that reach back more than a century Memory Migration and Travel makes an original contribution by linking the emergent field of memory studies to the disciplines of tourism and migration diaspora studies and will be of interest to students and researchers in the fields of tourism geography migration diaspora studies anthropology and sociology Gastrophysics Charles Spence (Experimental psychologist), 2017 The answer is gastrophysics the new area of sensory science pioneered by Oxford professor Charles Spence Now he s stepping out of his lab to lift the lid on the entire eating experience how the taste the aroma and our overall enjoyment of food are influenced by all of our senses as well as by our mood and expectations Food, Senses and the City Ferne Edwards, Roos Gerritsen, Grit Wesser, 2021-03-23 This work explores diverse cultural understandings of food practices in cities through the senses drawing on case studies in the Americas Asia Australia and Europe The volume includes the senses within the popular field of urban food studies to explore new understandings of how people live in cities and how we can understand cities through food It reveals how the senses can provide unique insight into how the city and its dwellers are being reshaped and understood Recognising cities as diverse and dynamic places the book provides a wide range of case studies from food production to preparation and mediatisation through to consumption These relationships are interrogated through themes of belonging and homemaking to discuss how food memory and materiality connect and disrupt past present and future imaginaries As cities become larger busier and more crowded this volume contributes to actual and potential ways that the senses can generate new understandings of how people live together in cities This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of critical food studies urban studies and socio cultural anthropology Heritage Formation and the Senses in Post-Apartheid South Africa Duane Jethro, 2020-05-11 In this book Duane Jethro creates a framework for understanding the role of the senses in processes of heritage formation He shows how the senses were important for crafting and successfully deploying new nation building heritage projects in South Africa during the postapartheid period The book also highlights how heritage dynamics are entangled in evocative changing sensory worlds Jethro uses five case studies that correlate with the five main Western senses Examples include touch and the ruination of a series of art memorials how vision was mobilised to assert the authority of the state sponsored Freedom Park project in Pretoria how smell memories of apartheid era social life in Cape Town informed contemporary struggles for belonging after forced removal how taste informed debates about the attempted rebranding of Heritage Day as barbecue day and how the sound of the vuvuzela popularized during the FIFA 2010 Football World Cup helped legitimize its unofficial African and South African heritage status This book makes a valuable contribution to the field of sensory studies and with its focus on aesthetics and material culture is in sync with the broader material turn in the humanities

The Oxford Handbook of Roman Britain Martin Millett, Louise Revell, Alison Moore, 2016-08-04 This book provides a twenty first century perspective on Roman Britain combining current approaches with the wealth of archaeological material from the province This volume introduces the history of research into the province and the cultural changes at the beginning and end of the Roman period The majority of the chapters are thematic dealing with issues relating to the people of the province their identities and ways of life Further chapters consider the characteristics of the province they lived in such as the economy and settlement patterns This Handbook reflects the new approaches being developed in Roman archaeology and demonstrates why the study of Roman Britain has become one of the most dynamic areas of archaeology The book will be useful for academics and students interested in Roman Britain

The Routledge History of Food Carol Helstosky, 2014-10-03 The history of food is one of the fastest growing areas of historical investigation incorporating methods and theories from cultural social and women s history while forging a unique perspective on the past The Routledge History of Food takes a global approach to this topic focusing on the period from 1500 to the present day Arranged chronologically this title contains 17 originally commissioned chapters by experts in food history or related topics Each chapter focuses on a particular theme idea or issue in the history of food The case studies discussed in these essays illuminate the more general trends of the period providing the reader with insight into the large scale and dramatic changes in food history through an understanding of how these developments sprang from a specific geographic and historical context Examining the history of economic technological and cultural interactions between cultures and charting the corresponding developments in food history The Routledge History of Food challenges readers assumptions about what and how people have eaten bringing fresh perspectives to well known historical developments It is the perfect guide for all students of social and cultural history
