Seductions of Place Carolyn L. Cartier, Alan A. Lew, 2005 The seductiveness of touristed landscapes is simultaneously local and global as travelled places are formed and reworked by the activities of diverse mobile people in their desires to experience situated sensuous qualities of difference. Cartier and Lew's interesting and informative book explores contemporary issues in travel and tourism and human geography and the complex cultural, political, and economic activities at stake in touristed landscapes as a result of globalization. This book assesses travel and tourism as simultaneously cultural and economic processes through ideas about place seduction and the formation of landscapes. Throughout, examples are given from urban and environmental touristed landscapes from major world cities to tropical islands, and chapter contributions include an analysis of the representational character of landscape and the built environment, historic constructions of place seduction, the importance of class, racial, and gender dimensions of place, how mobility and the seduction of place orient identity formation, the environmental impacts of tourism economies. Broad in scope, this book is ideal for social scientists and humanists who are interested in contemporary debates about place studies, mobility, and the located realities of globalization.

Landscapes Hilary P.M. Winchester, 2013-10-29 Landscapes is a timely and well-written analysis of the meaning of cultural landscapes. The book delves into the layers of meaning that are invested in ordinary landscapes as well as landscapes of spectacle and power. Landscapes is a powerful and vivid application of the new cultural geography to case studies not previously visited within cultural geography texts.

Technologies of InSecurity Katja Franko Aas, Helene Oppen, Heidi Mork Lomell, 2008-08-21 Technologies of InSecurity examines how general social and political concerns about terrorism, crime, migration, and globalization are translated into concrete practices of securitisation of everyday life. Who are we afraid of in a globalizing world? How are issues of safety and security constructed and addressed by various local actors and embodied in a variety of surveillance systems? Examining how various forms of contemporary insecurity are translated into and reduced to issues of surveillance and social control, this book explores a variety of practical and cultural aspects of technological control as well as the discourses about safety and security surrounding them. Insecurity is a politically and socially constructed phenomenon with a variety of meanings and modalities. And exploring the inherent duality and dialectics between our striving for security and the simultaneous production of insecurity, Technologies of Insecurity considers how mundane objects and activities are becoming bearers of risks which need to be neutralised As ordinary arenas such as the workplace the city centre the football stadium the airport and the internet are imbued with various notions of risk and danger and subject to changing public attitudes and sensibilities the critical deconstruction of the nexus between everyday surveillance and in security pursued here provides important new insights about how broader political issues are translated into concrete and local practices of social control and exclusion Text, Theory, Space Kate Darian-Smith, Liz Gunner, Sarah Nuttall, 2005-08-04 Focusing on two white settler societies South Africa and Australia this book investigates the meaning of the South as an aesthetic political geographical and cultural space This is a landmark in post colonial theory and criticism Intelligent Environments P. Droege, 1997-03-20 The environment as modified and created by people is largely about the use of information its generation and exchange How do recent innovations in the technologies of information management and communication affect our use of space and place and the way we perceive and think about our surroundings This volume provides an international exploratory forum for the complex phenomenon of new information and communication technology as it permeates and transforms our physical world and our relation to it the architectural definition of our surrounding geographical space urban form and immediate habitats This book is a reader an attempt at registering disciplinary changes in context at tracing subtexts for which most mainstream disciplines have no established language The project is to give voice to an emerging meta discipline that has its logic across the specializations A wide range of professionals and academics report findings views and ideas Together they describe the architecture of a postmodern paradigm how swiftly mutating the proliferating technology applications have begun to interact with the construction and reading of physical space in architecture economics geography history planning social sciences transport visual art but also in the newer domains that have joined this spectrum through the very nature of their impacts information technology and telecommunications The space navigated in this volume is vast both in physical terms and in its virtual and analogous form It ranges from the space that immediately encompasses or is simulated to encompass the human body as in buildings and virtual tectonics to that of towns and regions We stay clear of molecular scale space and of dimensions that are larger than earth Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2006-09-27 Home is a significant geographical and social concept It is not only a three dimensional structure a shelter but it is also a matrix of social relations and has wide symbolic and ideological meanings home can be feelings of belonging or of alienation feelings of home can be stretched across the world connected to a nation or attached to a house the spaces and imaginaries of home are central to the construction of people s identities An essential guide to studying home and domesticity this book locates home within wider traditions of thought It analyzes different sources methods and examples in both historical and contemporary contexts ranging from homes on the American frontier and imperial domesticity in British India to Australian suburbs multicultural London and South Asian diasporic homes The core argument of the book has three main parts that cut across each of its chapters home making identity and belonging homely and unhomely spaces Each chapter includes text boxes and exercises and is well illustrated with cartoons line drawings and photographs Outlining the social relations shaping and being influenced by the geographies of home and the imaginative as well as material importance of home this book will be a valuable reference for students of geography sociology gender studies and those interested in the home and domesticity
