utopian themes portrayed at Malinalco and other Augustinian monasteries were integrated into a religious and political ideology that in part camouflaged the harsh realities of colonial policies toward the native population. That the murals were ultimately whitewashed at the end of the sixteenth century suggests that the spiritual conquest failed. Peterson argues that the incorporation of native features ultimately worked to undermine the orthodoxy of the Christian message. She places the murals' imagery within the pre-Columbian tlacuilo scribe painter tradition. It traces a Sahagún connection between the Malinalco muralists and the native artists working at the Franciscan school of Tlatelolco and explores mural painting as an artistic response to acculturation. The book is beautifully illustrated with 137 black and white figures including photographs and line drawings. For everyone interested in the encounter between European and Native American cultures, it will be essential reading. Textilforum, 2001

Analysis of Mexican Corn Prices in the Chicago Board of Trade Futures Market, period 2000-2016 Erika del Carmen González Huacuz, Jorge Víctor Alcaraz Vera, Rubén Chávez Rivera, 2025-04-09. This work outlines an analysis of the relationship between real prices of real production and prices resulting from speculation in the period 2000-2016. The specific agricultural commodity selected to carry out this study is Mexican yellow corn, whose prices are analyzed based on the spot market on the real or physical goods market and on the results of speculation within the Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) of the CME Group located in the United States of America. To achieve the above, a linear regression analysis using the ordinary least squares (OLS) method and time series data has been applied. We consider that this tool is the most appropriate to test the hypothesis planted based on currently available data. Among the main findings of the analysis is that the growing speculation in agricultural commodity markets in this case Mexican yellow corn brings with it a series of structural problems in the Mexican agricultural sector such as the agrifood crisis, the lack of food sovereignty and a highly speculative pricing process coming from abroad. In this sense, this work shows evidence of the need to put forward proposals in terms of public policy whose axis is DOI: <https://doi.org/10.52501/cc.050>
