Little,Patricia A. McAnany,2011-10-16 Textiles have been a highly valued and central part of the politics of human societies across culture divides and over millennia The economy of textiles provides insight into the fabric of social relations local and global politics and diverse ideologies Textiles are a material element of society that fosters the study of continuities and disjunctions in the economic and social realities of past and present societies From stick loom weaving to transnational factories the production of cloth and its transformation into clothing and other woven goods offers a way to study the linkages between economics and politics The volume is oriented around a number of themes textile production textiles as trade goods textiles as symbols textiles in tourism and textiles in the transnational processes Textile Economies appeals to a broad range of scholars interested in the intersection of material culture political economy and globalization such as archaeologists cultural anthropologists economists museum curators and historians Philippine Development ,1983 Design in Motion Laura A. Frahm,2022-07-19 The first comprehensive history in English of film at the Bauhaus exploring practices that experimented with film as an adaptable elastic polymedium With Design in Motion Laura Frahm proposes an alternate history of the Bauhaus one in which visual media and film in particular are crucial to the Bauhaus s visionary pursuit of integrating art and technology In the first comprehensive examination in English of film at the Bauhaus Frahm shows that experimentation with film spanned a range of Bauhaus practices from textiles and typography to stage and exhibition design Indeed Bauhausler deployed film as an adaptable elastic polymedium malleable in shape and form unfolding and refracting into multiple material aesthetic and philosophical directions Frahm shows how the encounter with film imbued the Bauhaus of the 1920s and early 1930s with a flexible notion of design infusing painting with temporal concepts sculptures with moving forms photographs with sequential aesthetics architectural designs with a choreography of movement Frahm considers among other things student works that explored light and the transparent features of celluloid and cellophane weaving practices that incorporate cellophane experimental films social documentaries and critical reportage by Bauhaus women and the proliferation of film strips in posters book covers and other typographic work Viewing the Bauhaus s engagement with film through a media theoretic lens Frahm shows how film became a medium for design in motion Movement and process rather than stability and fixity become the defining characteristics of Bauhaus educational aesthetic and philosophical ethos
