European Art

Cinema John White, 2016-10-14 European art cinema includes some of the most famous films in cinema history. It is elite filmmaking that stands in direct opposition to popular cinema and yet it also has an intimate relationship with Hollywood. This guidebook sketches successive phases of art cinema in Europe from its early beginnings of putting Shakespeare's plays on the screen through movements such as Expressionism and Surrealism to the New Waves of the 1960s and more recent incarnations like Dogme 95. Using film examples, John White examines basic critical approaches to art cinema such as semiotics and auteur theory as well as addressing recurring themes and ideas such as existentialism and Christian belief. The different levels of political commitment and social criticism which appear in many of these films are also discussed. The book includes case studies of eight representative films: The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari (Weimar, 1920), Earth (Dovzhenko, 1930), A Man Escaped (Bresson, 1956), Hiroshima mon amour (Resnais, 1959), Aguirre, Wrath of God (Herzog, 1972), Comrades (Douglas, 1986), Le Quattro Volte (Frammartino, 2010), Silence (Collins, 2012).

Film Censorship Sheri Chinen Biesen, 2018-08-28 Film Censorship is a concise overview of Hollywood censorship and efforts to regulate American films. It provides a lean introductory survey of U.S. cinema censorship from the pre-Code years and classic studio system Golden Age in which film censorship thrived to contemporary Hollywood. From the earliest days of cinema, movies faced controversy over screen images and threats of censorship. This volume draws extensively on primary research from motion picture archives to unveil the fascinating behind-the-scenes history of cinema censorship and explore how Hollywood responded to censorial constraints on screen content in a changing American cultural and industrial landscape. This primer on American film censorship considers the historical evolution of motion picture censorship in the United States spanning the Jazz Age, Prohibition era lobbying by religious groups against Hollywood, industry self-censorship for the Hays Office, federal propaganda efforts during wartime, easing of regulation in the 1950s and 1960s, the MPAA ratings system, and the legacy of censorship in later years. Case studies include The Outlaw, The Postman Always Rings Twice, Scarface, Double Indemnity, Psycho, Bonnie and Clyde, Midnight Cowboy, and The Exorcist among many others.

The Experience Machine Gloria Sutton, 2015-02-13 An argument that the collaborative multimedia projects produced by Stan VanDerBeek in the 1960s and 1970s anticipate contemporary new media and participatory art practices. In 1965 the experimental filmmaker Stan VanDerBeek unveiled his Movie Drome, made from the repurposed top of a grain silo. VanDerBeek envisioned Movie Drome as the prototype for a communications system: a global network of Movie Dromes linked to orbiting satellites that would store and transmit images. With networked two-way communication, Movie Dromes were meant to ameliorate technology's alienating impulse. In The Experience Machine, Gloria Sutton views VanDerBeek, known mostly for his experimental animated films, as a visual artist committed to the radical aesthetic sensibilities he developed during his studies at Black Mountain College. She argues that VanDerBeek's collaborative multimedia projects of the 1960s and 1970s, sometimes characterized as Expanded Cinema, with their emphases on transparency of process and audience engagement, anticipate contemporary art's new media installation and participatory practices VanDerBeek saw Movie Drome not as pure cinema but as a communication tool an experience machine In her close reading of the work Sutton argues that Movie Drome can be understood as a programmable interface She describes the immersive experience of Movie Drome which emphasized multi sensory experience over the visual display strategies deployed in the work the Poemfield computer generated short films and VanDerBeek's interest unique for the time in telecommunications and computer processing as a future model for art production Sutton argues that visual art as a direct form of communication is a feedback mechanism which turns on a set of relations not a technology

Cinema, Memory, Modernity Russell J.A. Kilbourn, 2013-10-18 Since its inception cinema has evolved into not merely a reflection but an indispensable index of human experience especially our experience of time's passage of the present moment and most importantly perhaps of the past in both collective and individual terms In this volume Kilbourn provides a comparative theorization of the representation of memory in both mainstream Hollywood and international art cinema within an increasingly transnational context of production and reception Focusing on European North and South American and Asian films Kilbourn reads cinema as providing the viewer with not only the content and form of memory but also with its own directions for use the required codes and conventions for understanding and implementing this crucial prosthetic technology an art of memory for the twentieth century and beyond
