Management of Broadband Technology and Innovation Jyoti Choudrie, Catherine Middleton, 2013-11-12 When one considers broadband the Internet immediately springs to mind However broadband is impacting society in many ways For instance broadband networks can be used to deliver healthcare or community related services to individuals who don't have computers have distance as an issue to contend with or don't use the internet Broadband can support better management of scarce energy resources with the advent of smart grids enables improved teleworking capacity and opens up a world of new entertainment possibilities Yet scholarly examinations of broadband technology have so far examined adoption usage or diffusion but missed exploring the capacity of broadband networks to enable new applications the management aspects of funding and developing broadband enabled services or the policy environment in which such networks are developed This book explores a wide range of issues associated with the deployment and use of broadband including its impacts on individuals organizations and society and offers a generalist understanding of the technical aspects of broadband Management of Broadband Technology and Innovation offers insights on broadband from the perspectives of Information Systems Management Strategy and Communications Policy scholars drawing on research from these disciplines to inform diverse aspects of broadband deployment policy and use Issues associated with a subject technical in nature but now researched in many ways are emphasised This book explains various softer aspects of broadband deployment and use focusing on the benefits of broadband rather than on details of the technology

Digital Cities III. Information Technologies for Social Capital: Cross-cultural Perspectives Peter van den Besselaar, Satoshi Koizumi, 2005-04-25 Digital cities constitutes a multidisciplinary field of research and development where researchers designers and developers of communityware interact and collaborate with social scientists studying the use and effects of these kinds of infrastructures and systems in their local application context The field is rather young After the diffusion of ICT in the world of organizations and companies ICT entered everyday life And this also influenced ICT research and development The 1998 Workshop on Communityware and Social Interaction in Kyoto was an early meeting in which this emerging field was discussed After that two subsequent Digital Cities workshops were organized in Kyoto and a third one in

Amsterdam This book is the result of the 3rd Workshop on Digital Cities which took place September 18 19 2003 in Amsterdam in conjunction with the 1st Communities and Technologies Conference Most of the papers were presented at this workshop and were revised thoroughly afterwards Also the case studies of digital cities in Asia the US and Europe included in Part I were direct offsprings of the Digital Cities Workshops Together the papers in this volume give an interesting state of the art overview of the field In total 54 authors from the Americas from Asia and from Europe were contributed to this volume The authors come from Brazil two the USA eleven China three Japan fourteen Finland two Germany two Italy three Portugal two the Netherlands eight and the UK seven indicating the international nature of the research field Handbook

Pawar, 2009-09-11 This book familiarizes

readers with the Asia Pacific region presents the major social economic and political issues maps contemporary community development trends and critically analyzes the challenges of and opportunities for community development practice in the Asia Pacific region Localizing the Internet John Postill, 2011-08-01 Internet activism is playing a crucial role in the democratic reform happening across many parts of Southeast Asia Focusing on Subang Jaya a suburb of Kuala Lumpur this study offers an in depth examination of the workings of the Internet at the local level In fact Subang Jaya is regarded as Malaysia's electronic governance laboratory The author explores its field of residential affairs a digitally mediated social field in which residents civil servants politicians online journalists and other social agents struggle over how the locality is to be governed at the dawn of the Information Era Drawing on the field theories of both Pierre Bourdieu and the Manchester School of political anthropology this study challenges the unquestioned predominance of network and community as the two key sociation concepts in contemporary Internet studies The analysis extends field theory in four new directions namely the complex articulations between personal networking and social fields the uneven diffusion and circulation of new field technologies and contents intra and inter field political crises and the emergence of new forms of residential sociality

Housing Inequality in Chinese Cities Youqin Huang, Si-ming Li, 2014-03-05 In recent decades Chinese cities have experienced profound social economic and spatial transformations In particular Chinese cities have witnessed the largest housing boom in history and unprecedented housing privatization China now is a country of homeowners with more than 70 per cent of urban residents owning homes higher than many developed countries This book shows how China's spectacular housing success is not shared by all social groups with rapidly rising housing inequality and residential segregation increasingly prevalent in previously homogeneous Chinese cities It focuses on the two extremes of the residential landscape and reveals the stark contrast between low income households who live in shacks in so called urban villages and the nouveaux riches who live in exclusive gated villa communities Over four parts the contributors look at the degree to which inequality affects Chinese cities and the extent of residential differentiation housing for the urban poor and in particular housing for migrants from rural China housing for the rapidly expanding Chinese middle class and the new rich and finally governance in residential neighbourhoods Housing Inequality in Chinese Cities presents theoretically informed and empirically grounded research into the polarized residential landscape in Chinese cities and as such will be of great interest to students and scholars of Chinese studies urban geography urban sociology and urban studies

Public and Situated Displays K. O'Hara, M. Perry, E. Churchill, D. Russell, 2013-03-09 Public and situated display technologies can have an important impact on individual and social behaviour and present us with particular interesting new design considerations and challenges While there is a growing body of research exploring these design considerations and social impact this work remains somewhat disparate making it difficult to assimilate in a coherent manner This book brings together the perspectives of key researchers in the area of public and situated display technology The chapters detail research representing the social technical and interactional aspects of public and situated display technologies The underlying concern common to these chapters is how these displays can be best designed for collaboration coordination community building and mobility Presenting them together allows the reader to examine everyday display activities within the context of emerging technological possibilities
