Faith-based Radicalism

Christiane Timmerman, 2007 Terror attacks against Western symbols of power suicide terrorism in Chechnya or bombing of abortion clinics in the United States these are a few of the violent religious outbursts that the media never seem to stop broadcasting While these outbursts are mostly linked to Islamic extremism it should however be acknowledged that every religion has its own violent side Despite all the events the media are too prompt to show us it would be dishonest and insensible not to accept that every religion has also a potential for religious peace building and communal renewal How can it be explained then that religions sometimes react violently against the society surrounding them by trying to overthrow it while at some other times they willingly help and try to build a better

Voices from the Borderland Chris Shannahan, 2016-04-01 Urban theology affirms the importance of context notably the place of the city in theological reflection However it has often been confined to particular contexts or theological camps and thus failed to engage with the fluidity of contemporary urban societies Voices from the Borderland presents an overview of urban theology arguing that the twenty first century demands a dialogical model of theology that enacts progressive change The volume draws on studies of the multicultural and multi faith British urban experience and situates these within the wider international context The works of influential theologians in the field are examined and the dialogue between theology globalisation post colonialism postmodernism and post religious urban culture critically explored The volume is unique in bringing together urban liberation theology urban black theology reformist urban theology globalisation urban theology and post religious urban theology

A Theology of International Development Thia Cooper,2020-02-05 Religion and development have been intertwined since development s beginnings yet faith based aid and development agencies consistently fail to consider how their theology and practice intersect This book offers a Christian theology of development with practical solutions to bridge the gap and return to truly faith based policies and practices Development aims to raise the living standard of the world s poor mainly through small scale projects that increase economic growth A theology of liberation provided a critique to development practice but a specific theology of development is still lacking and many faith based aid agencies have failed to adapt their practice In applying theological thinking to development the author argues that aid agencies need to address the entrenchment of unequal power relations and embrace a holistic notion of development defined by the needs of those most marginalized instead of by a focus on economic growth Development organisations need to consider the distinction between charity and justice and to empower people in the Global South paying particular attention to the intersections of race class sexuality religion and the environment Overall this book is a powerful call to upend development practice as it currently exists and to return faith based organizations to following Christian practices It will be an important read for religion and development researchers practitioners and students

Post-Colonial Theology Robert S. Heaney, 2019-05-08 Hate is unveiled on our streets Politics is polarized and the cohesion of communities is under stress and threat Religious and theological leaders appear compromised or paralyzed Robert S Heaney grew up in a Northern Ireland where enmity paraded itself and policed the boundaries between segregated identities and aspirations Such conflict with deep historic roots is inextricably linked to religion and colonization The theologizing of colonialism and the ongoing implications of colonialism cannot be ignored by those who wish to understand the most intractable of human conflicts Religious adherents and scholars are increasingly seeking to understand colonialism and decolonization in theological terms The field of post colonial studies across a range of contexts and in a complex network of inter disciplinary analyses has emerged as a major scholarly movement seeking to provide resources for such a task Theologians have increasingly seen the field as a resource and have made their own contributions to its development However depending as it does on a series of theoretical and technical commitments post colonialism remains inaccessible to the uninitiated Beginning with his own particular context of formation in this book Heaney provides an accessible introduction to post colonial theology

Public Life and the Place of the Church Michael Brierley, 2017-11-28 The work of Richard Harries Bishop of Oxford from 1987 to 2006 has been highly distinctive for the consistency of its engagement with contemporary society. It represents a model of the Church which is outward looking, a Church which is as ready to learn from others as it is to offer its own wisdom and resources. This book reflects on Richard Harries' ministry in the borderlands of society and Church and engages deeply with the nature of modern society and the place of the Church within it. Taking Richard Harries' contributions as their inspiration, key figures, each of them major commentators on areas of pressing contemporary concern, probe the important questions which people are asking about a range of social issues. Arms and violence, the role of the media in public life, spirituality, multifaith Britain, sex, capitalism, the second chamber and medical ethics are all discussed, building up a serious debate on the kind of society in which we live and making suggestive comments about the part which the Church might play.

Contributors: Sabina Alkire, Michael Bourke, Melvyn Bragg, John Drury, Claire Foster, Jonathan Gorsky, Anthony Howard, Douglas Hurd, Eric James, Julia Neuberger, Edmund Newell, Christopher Rowland, Jane Shaw, Margaret Shepherd, Roger Wagner, Keith Ward, Rowan Williams, Shirley Williams, and James Woodward.

Orthodoxy and Anarchism Davor Džalto, 2024-03-26. This book brings together essays by contemporary Orthodox theologians and scholars on Orthodox Christianity that analyze various aspects of the complex relationship between anarchism both as a concept and as a political philosophy and Orthodoxy. As many studies have already shown, the dominant theological approaches in Orthodox political theology have been characterized by the search for some kind of symphonia, where a harmonious and mutually beneficial cooperation between the Church and the State has been sought. Although one can see many alternative attempts in contemporary Orthodox political theology to move away from traditional monarchical and autocratic symphonic models, the fact remains that most of those approaches still tend to provide theological articulations that rationalize and ultimately defend the dominant ideological systems such as those of the nation state or liberal democracy, for instance. There has been, however, another marginal and marginalized tradition in Orthodox Christian political theology which can be labelled as anarchist. The purpose of this volume is to gather contemporary voices in and on Orthodox theology that explore this tradition in the history of Orthodox Christianity or that themselves employ an anarchist approach to the socio-political sphere, including the Church in its institutional functioning.
