Michael Wesely Open Shutter:

Michael Wesely, Sarah Hermanson Meister, 2004 Since the early 1990s German photographer Michael Wesely has been inventing and refining techniques for using extremely long camera exposures to take uniquely compelling photographs Through the use of filters and a very small aperture yet one that is standard in a professional camera lens he is able to diminish the amount of light hitting the negative to the point where he can extend the exposure many thousands of times longer than we would ordinarily expect Some of Wesely's pictures of the rebuilding of Berlin's Potsdamer Platz for example in a series completed in 1999 were continuously exposed over a period of 26 months. The results of Wesely s explorations are as surprising as they are beautiful In 2001 as The Museum of Modern Art began to prepare for its ambitious construction and renovation project a turning point in its history it recognized in Wesely's work an unequalled opportunity to artistically document that project In August of that year then Wesely set specially designed cameras in long term installations in and around the museum choosing his locations for the construction views they provided Nearly three years later the images are complete and their pentimento like strata of transparencies and overlays render the construction project s evolution in time as a dense and delicate network of forms and colors in space Open Shutteraccompanies an exhibition organized by Sarah Hermanson Meister Associate Curator of the museum s Department of Photography Included in the book are several images of the construction of the new Museum of Modern Art On Slowness Lutz Koepnick, 2014-10-07 Speed is an obvious facet of contemporary society whereas slowness has often been dismissed as conservative and antimodern Challenging a long tradition of thought Lutz Koepnick instead proposes we understand slowness as a strategy of the contemporary a decidedly modern practice that gazes firmly at and into the present's velocity As he engages with late twentieth and early twenty first century art photography video film and literature Koepnick explores slowness as a critical medium to intensify our temporal and spatial experiences Slowness helps us register the multiple layers of time history and motion that constitute our present It offers a timely and untimely mode of aesthetic perception and representation that emphasizes the openness of the future and undermines any conception of the present as a mere replay of the past Discussing the photography and art of Janet Cardiff Olafur Eliasson Hiroshi Sugimoto and Michael Wesely the films of Peter Weir and Tom Tykwer the video installations of Douglas Gordon Willie Doherty and Bill Viola and the fiction of Don DeLillo Koepnick shows how slowness can carve out spaces within processes of acceleration that allow us to reflect on alternate temporalities On Altering Architecture Fred Scott, 2007-12-10 In his new text Fred Scott brings together ideas of what and durations might constitute a theory of interior or interventional design Modernism and Time Machines Tung Charles M. Tung, 2019-03-14 Bridging modernist studies and science fiction scholarship Modernism and Time Machines places the fascination with time in canonical works of twentieth century literature and art side by side with the rise of time travel narratives and alternate histories in popular culture Both modernism and this cardinal trope of science fiction produce a range of effects and insights that go beyond the exhilarations of simply sliding back and forth in history Together the modernist time obsession and the fantasy of moving in time help us to rethink the shapes of time the consistency of timespace and the nature of history Key FeaturesDraws on insights from a range of sources including critical geography postcolonial theory science and technology studies and time studies Examines different kinds of objects together SF Impressionism and Henri Lefebvre's rhythmanalysis evolutionary biology Eliot's The Waste Land and Leinster's e Sidewise in Timee Woolf Philip K Dick's alternate history and the film Interstellar bullet time Faulkner's racialized lag and Jessica Hagedorn's postcolonial anachronism e big history e Olaf Stapledon's two billion year novel of the human species and Terrence Malick s film Tree of Life New Museums and the Making of Culture Kylie Message,2024-11-01 In the last decade museums all around the world have been reinventing themselves They are now much more than scholarly cultural archives A remit to reach out to a broader public the increasing politicization of the ownership and curation of objects the architectural expectations of new buildings the requirements of the event exhibit all have changed the way any new museum is built operates and serves its public purpose Museums now reflect global economics and local politics New museums now shape our public culture Illustrated with a very wide range of museums and museum spaces from MOMA in New York to the reconstruction of Ground Zero from the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington DC to the Museo Guggenheim Bilbao from the planned renewal of the Crystal Palace site in London to the Sendai Mediatheque in Japan the book reveals how the new museum is evolving as a cross disciplinary self consciously political and often avowedly self Imagining New York City Christoph Lindner, 2015-02-02 Using examples from architecture film reflexive institution literature and the visual arts this wide ranging book examines the significance of New York City in the urban imaginary between 1890 and 1940 In particular Imagining New York City considers how and why certain city spaces such as the skyline the sidewalk the slum and the subway have come to emblematize key aspects of the modern urban condition In so doing Christoph Lindner also considers the ways in which cultural developments in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries set the stage for more recent responses to a variety of urban challenges facing the city such as post disaster recovery the renewal of urban infrastructure and the remaking of public space 9/11 and the Visual Culture of Disaster Thomas Stubblefield, 2014-12-17 An insightful view on how 9 11 is perceived in American society the day that refuses to enter history the tragedy that has in effect not yet passed Journal of Popular Culture The day the towers fell indelible images of plummeting rubble fire and falling bodies were imprinted in the memories of people around the world Images that were caught in the media loop after the disaster and coverage of the attack its aftermath and the wars that followed reflected a pervasive tendency to treat these tragic events as spectacle Though the collapse of the World Trade Center was the most photographed disaster in history it failed to yield a single noteworthy image of carnage Thomas Stubblefield argues that the absence within these spectacular images is the paradox of 9 11 visual culture which foregrounds the visual experience as it

obscures the event in absence erasure and invisibility From the spectral presence of the Tribute in Light to Art Spiegelman s nearly blank New Yorker cover from the elimination of the Twin Towers from TV shows and films to the monumental cavities of Michael Arad's 9 11 memorial the void became the visual shorthand for the incident By examining configurations of invisibility and erasure across the media of photography film monuments graphic novels and digital representation Stubblefield interprets the post 9 11 presence of absence as the reaffirmation of national identity that implicitly laid the groundwork for the impending invasions of Iraq and Afghanistan A concise engaging and thought provoking work that asks the reader to reassess their knowledge and relationship to that moment and the resulting milieu of post 9 11 life in America ARLIS NA Reviews Extraordinarily brilliant will change how we think about disasters and tragedies The book is a must read for both students and practitioners of media studies Repository Rereading East Germany Karen Leeder, 2015 The first volume in English about the German Democratic Republic GDR as a cultural phenomenon with essays by leading scholars providing a chronological and genre based overview along with close readings of individual works It addresses the history Handbook of Research on Methods and Tools and context of GDR culture including the two decades since its decline for Assessing Cultural Landscape Adaptation Rosa, Isabel de Sousa, Lopes, Joana Corte, Ribeiro, Ricardo, Mendes, Ana, 2018-06-22 In a globalizing and expanding world the need for research centered on analysis representation and management of landscape components has become critical By providing development strategies that promote resilient relations this book promotes more sustainable and cultural approaches for territorial construction The Handbook of Research on Methods and Tools for Assessing Cultural Landscape Adaptation provides emerging research on the cultural relationships between a community and the ecological system in which they live This book highlights important topics such as adaptive strategies ecosystem services and operative methods that explore the expanding aspects of territorial transformation in response to human activities This publication is an important resource for academicians graduate students engineers and researchers seeking a comprehensive collection of research focused on the social and ecological components in territory Dynamics and Performativity of Imagination Bernd Huppauf, Christoph Wulf, 2013-05-13 In this development interdisciplinary anthology essays study the relationship between the imagination and images both material and mental Through case studies on a diverse array of topics including photography film sports theater and anthropology contributors focus on the role of the creative imagination in seeing and producing images and the imaginary Camera Constructs Andrew Higgott, Timothy Wray, 2016-12-05 Photography and architecture have a uniquely powerful resonance architectural form provides the camera with the subject for some of its most compelling imagery while photography profoundly influences how architecture is represented imagined and produced Camera Constructs is the first book to reflect critically on the varied interactions of the different practices by which photographers artists architects theorists and historians engage with the relationship of the camera to architecture the city and the evolution of Modernism The title thus on the one hand opposes the medium of photography and the materiality of construction but on the other can be read as saying that the camera invariably constructs what it depicts the photograph is not a simple representation of an external reality but constructs its own meanings and reconstructs its subjects Twenty three essays by a wide range of historians and theorists are grouped under the themes of Modernism and the Published Photograph Architecture and the City Re imagined Interpretative Constructs and Photography in Design Practices They are preceded by an Introduction that comprehensively outlines the subject and elaborates on the diverse historical and theoretical contexts of the authors approaches Camera Constructs provides a rich and highly original analysis of the relationship of photography to built form from the early modern period to the present day
