Action at a distance George Henry Lewes, 1875 Century Path, 1906 The Conceptions of Reality in the Interpretations of Quantum Mechanics Gerd Christian Krizek, 2024-09-15

This book explores the different conceptions of reality in the various interpretations of Quantum Mechanics demonstrating the intimate connection to philosophy of physics With interest in the foundations of Quantum Mechanics having revived in recent decades a number of interpretations have been formulated or rediscovered and these remain in strong competition with one another for acceptance by the scientific community At the same time they imply quite different notions of reality The author provides an overview of these conceptions of reality and their embedding in physical theories interpretations of Quantum Mechanics and related philosophical frameworks Starting with Aristotle's principles the deep fruitful connection between philosophy and physics guides this journey through the foundations of Quantum Mechanics The New

Conceptions of Matter Sir Charles Galton Darwin, 1932 Holy Matter Sara Ritchey, 2014-03-29 A magnificent proliferation of new Christ centered devotional practices including affective meditation imitative suffering crusade Eucharistic cults and miracles passion drama and liturgical performance reveals profound changes in the Western Christian temperament of the twelfth century and beyond This change has often been attributed by scholars to an increasing emphasis on God's embodiment in the incarnation and crucifixion of Christ In Holy Matter Sara Ritchey offers a fresh narrative explaining theological and devotional change by journeying beyond the human body to ask how religious men and women understood the effects of God's incarnation on the natural material world She finds a remarkable willingness on the part of medieval Christians to embrace the material world its trees flowers vines its worms and wolves as a locus for divine encounter Early signs that perceptions of the material world were shifting can be seen in reformed communities of religious women in the twelfth century Rhineland Here Ritchey finds that in response to the constraints of gendered regulations and spiritual ideals women created new identities as virgins who like the mother of Christ impelled the world's re-creation their notion of the world's re-creation held that God created the world a second time when Christ was born In this second act of creation God was seen to be present in the physical world thus making matter holy Ritchey then traces the diffusion of this new religious doctrine beyond the Rhineland showing the profound impact it had on both women and men in professed religious life especially Franciscans in Italy and Carthusians in England Drawing on a wide range of sources including art liturgy prayer poetry meditative guides and treatises of spiritual instruction Holy Matter reveals an important transformation in late medieval devotional practice a shift from metaphor to material from gazing on images of a God made visible in the splendor of natural beauty to looking at the natural world itself and finding there God's presence and promise of salvation The Christian Advocate, 1915 Why Concepts Matter Martin Burke, Melvin Richter, 2012-05-11 The volume explores distinctive issues involved in translating political and social thought Thirteen contributors consider problems arising from the study of translation and cultural transfers of texts in particular in terms of translation studies and the history of concepts
