Millette,2017-12-06 New Directions in Urban Planning in the Ancient Mediterranean assembles the most up to date research on the design and construction of ancient cities in the wider Mediterranean In particular this edited collection reappraises and sheds light on lost Classical plans Whether intentional or not each ancient plan has the capacity to embody specific messages linked to such notions as heritage and identity Over millennia cities may be divested of their buildings and monuments and can experience periods of dramatic rebuilding but their plans often have the capacity to endure As such this volume focuses on Greek and Roman grid traces both literal and figurative This rich selection of innovative studies explores the ways that urban plans can assimilate into the collective memory of cities and smaller settlements In doing so it also highlights how collective memory adapts to or is altered by the introduction of re aligned plans and newly constructed monuments New Light on Ancient Carthage John Griffiths Pedley,1980 A Companion to North Africa in Antiquity R. Bruce Hitchner,2022-03-01 Explore a one of a kind and authoritative resource on Ancient North Africa A Companion to North Africa in Antiquity edited by a recognized leader in the field is the first reference work of its kind in English It provides a comprehensive introduction to all aspects of North Africa s rich history from the Protohistoric period through Late Antiquity 1000 BCE to the 800 CE Comprised of twenty four thematic and topical essays by established and emerging scholars covering the area between ancient Tripolitania and the Atlantic Ocean including the Sahara the volume introduces readers to Ancient North Africa s environment peoples institutions literature art economy and more taking into account the significant body of new research and fieldwork that has been produced over the last fifty years A Companion to North Africa in Antiquity is an essential resource for anyone interested in this important region of the Ancient World Delos, Carthage, Ampurias Birgit Tang,2005 The Bir Messaouda Basilica Richard Miles,Simon Greenslade,2019-12-31 This volume charts the radical transformation of an inner city neighbourhood in late antique Carthage which was excavated over a five year period by a team from the University of Cambridge Bordering the main thoroughfare leading from the Brysa Hill to the ports the neighbourhood remained primarily a residential one from the second century until 530s AD when a substantial basilica was constructed over the eastern half of the insula Further extensive modifications were made to the basilica half a century later when the structures on the western half of the insula were demolished and the basilica greatly enlarged with the addition of a new east west aisles a large monumental baptistery and a crypt By carefully reconstructing the complex architectural plan of this innovative building this study shows how the re modelled Bir Messaouda basilica was transformed into a major pilgrimage centre overturning established tradition that located such complexes outside the city walls The Bir Messaouda basilica provides important insights into the transition between Vandal and Byzantine control of the city the development of a new Christian inter mural

urban landscape in the sixth century AD and the significance of the pilgrimage in reinforcing ecclesiastical authority in post Justinianic North Africa

Ezekiel in Context Brian Neil Peterson, 2012-05-03 One of the most perplexing and misunderstood books of the Bible Ezekiel has left many scholars and exegetes scratching their heads regarding its message coherency and interpretation Brian Peterson's look at the book of Ezekiel as a unified whole set within an exilic context helps explain some of the more difficult symbolic aspects in the book and makes Ezekiel as a whole more intelligible Drawing on ancient Near Eastern concepts and motifs such as covenant and treaty curses the various gods that made up the Babylonian pantheon and the position that Israel held as the people of Yahweh Peterson enlightens readers by showing that Ezekiel can only be understood in its original context By placing the book first in its historical context Peterson demonstrates how the original hearers of its message would have understood it and how this message can be appreciated and applied by people today as well

Traditions at Odds John H. Choi, 2010-09-02 Traditions at Odds explores the Pentateuch's literary influence on other biblical texts There exist a number of content discrepancies between pentateuchal and non-pentateuchal texts that treat the same subject Through a detailed analysis the author argues that the discrepancies are not alterations of pentateuchal material as is generally argued but rather indications of independent traditions Thus much of biblical literature was written outside of the Pentateuch's purview Corroborating evidence is found in literature from the Second Temple Period which also exhibits a lack of conformity to the Pentateuch After demonstrating this independence this study explores its implications on the composition of biblical texts and the process of canonization Marked by an interdisciplinary approach the study incorporates recent theoretical developments in literary and ideological criticism as well as ritual historiography and textual citation It not only provides a broader base of study but serves to address a deficiency in biblical studies most studies of intertextuality operate with little theoretical grounding while studies in ritual or historiography are based on models from the late 19th early 20th centuries

Emperor, Prefects & Kings P. S. Barnwell, 1992 P S Barnwell examines the development of imperial and royal government in the western part of the Roman Empire and in the early barbarian kingdoms that were established within its frontiers the Visigothic Burgundian Frankish and Vandal nations Covering the fifth century the period from the death of the Emperor Theodosius to the death of the Emperor Justinian Barnwell s book demonstrates the extent to which barbarian government was influenced by its Roman predecessor Earlier studies have argued implicitly that the fifth century witnessed the disintegration of an ordered Roman governmental system and its replacement by a series of disorganized Germanic administrations Barnwell by contrast examines Roman government of the fifth century western Empire on its own terms and then analyzes the administrations of individual Barbarian kingdoms in relation to this fifth century Roman background He shows that the law and government of the Barbarian kingdoms were more deeply indebted to Roman institutions than most previous historians have realized

Learning Cities in Late Antiquity Jan R. Stenger, 2018-12-07 Education in the Graeco Roman world was a hallmark of the polis Yet the complex ways in which pedagogical theory and practice intersected with their local environments has not been much explored in recent scholarship Learning Cities in Late Antiquity suggests a new explanatory model that helps to understand better how conditions in the cities shaped learning and teaching and how in turn education had an impact on its urban context Drawing inspiration from the modern idea of learning cities the chapters explore the interplay of teachers learners political leaders communities and institutions in the Mediterranean polis with a focus on the well documented city of Gaza in the sixth century CE They demonstrate in detail that formal and informal teaching as well as educational thinking not only responded to specifically local needs but also exerted considerable influence on local society With its interdisciplinary and comparatist approach the volume aims to contextualise ancient education in order to stimulate further research on ancient learning cities It also highlights the benefits of historical research to theory and practice in modern education
