New Directions In Music:

New Directions in Music David Cope, 1989 Fifth edition contains a new chapter Automated and cybernetic music to cover very recent advances in computer centered artificial intelligence and music Another new chapter The new conservatism recounts attempts at returning to tonality and suggests a cyclic nature to the past thirty to fifty years in contemporary music preface

New Directions in Music David Cope, 2001 Musicians and musical scholars of all levels will benefit from Cope s clear presentation organizing a seemingly idiosyncratic field into a logical succession of ideas and developments BOOK JACKET

New Directions in Music and Human-Computer Interaction Simon Holland, Tom Mudd, Katie Wilkie-McKenna, Andrew McPherson, Marcelo M. Wanderley, 2019-02-06 Computing is transforming how we interact with music New theories and new technologies have emerged that present fresh challenges and novel perspectives for researchers and practitioners in music and human computer interaction HCI In this collection the interdisciplinary field of music interaction is considered from multiple viewpoints designers interaction researchers performers composers audiences teachers and learners dancers and gamers The book comprises both original research in music interaction and reflections from leading researchers and practitioners in the field It explores a breadth of HCI perspectives and methodologies from universal approaches to situated research within particular cultural and aesthetic contexts Likewise it is musically diverse from experimental to popular classical to folk including tango laptop orchestras composition and free improvisation New Directions in Musical Collaborative Creativity Raymond MacDonald, Tia DeNora, Maria Sappho, Robert Burke, Ross Birrell, 2025 During the COVID 19 pandemic creative communities were faced with unprecedented challenges and forced to embark upon a re evaluation of traditional approaches to artistic collaboration In the wake of these discussions and experiments New Directions in Musical Collaborative Creativity asks how new technology can be used to enhance creativity and how this creativity increases our knowledge in relation to musical interactions in group contexts Focusing on a case study of a leading musical improvisation group the Glasgow Improvisers Orchestra and their online music sessions established during the COVID 19 lockdowns of March 2020 the book s five authors probe the transformative impact of online and hybrid improvisation and explore the crucial role of interactive visual and sound technology in the emergence of new identities and hybrid working practices Virtual improvising though a relatively new type of creative activity has significant implications for how researchers can better understand improvisation generally as well as musical interactions in non virtual environments The book s topics range from an overview of digital music frameworks to an investigation of how improvisations begin and end the unique context of the online sessions the integration of audio and visual stimuli to produce audio visual compositions and new types of creative activities The authors explore how improvisation and online improvising in particular can engender a fresh sense of community while presenting innovative opportunities for experimentation communication community involvement educational enrichment the cultivation of new virtuosities and the promotion of health and well being Furthermore they delve into the ramifications of these insights for education and health emphasising the importance of new technologies and their potential to produce significant creative breakthroughs Ultimately the book points us toward novel manifestations of technologically mediated and community centred creative engagement delineating avenues for future advancement and scholarly investigation Bringing together a multidisciplinary and cross generational author team with a wealth of complementary academic and artistic experience this book responds to the significant growth in interest in improvisation as a musical and artistic practice and situates this research within the study of collaborative creativity in the contemporary hybrid context A companion website features a series of films that document sessions of the Glasgow Improvisers Orchestra showing the innovative collaborative artistic practices as they emerged New Directions in Music David H.
