New Directions In Prose And Poetry No 39:

The Works of Allen Ginsberg, 1941-1994 Bill Morgan, 1995-02-28 Avant garde poet and popular culture icon Allen Ginsberg has been one of the world's most important writers for over 40 years. This comprehensive bibliography covering the years 1941 to 1994 was prepared with the cooperation of the poet himself. All books, periodicals, photographs, recordings, films, and miscellaneous appearances are listed here. Entries are grouped in chapters according to type of work, and each entry provides full descriptive bibliographic information. Allen Ginsberg is perhaps the most famous poet of our time, as well as one of our most prolific writers. His subjects range from Buddhist studies to drug research to gay rights to political issues of every description, from Vietnam to censorship. Ginsberg gave the author access to personal files, and as a result, every appearance of Ginsberg's writings in the English language is noted. This bibliography is a comprehensive descriptive record of all of Ginsberg's works. The volume contains descriptive annotations of every book, pamphlet, and broadside by Ginsberg. It also contains complete descriptions of every contribution by Ginsberg to the works of others. In addition, all periodical contributions, recordings, films, and miscellaneous publications are listed. Due to Ginsberg's recent acceptance as a photographer of note, a special section identifies all of his published photographs. Entries are arranged in chapters according to the type of work to facilitate ease of use. As a result, this book presents a history of Ginsberg's works and traces the evolution of his writings over a period of publications and revisions.

The New American Poetry John R. Woznicki, 2013-12-24 The New American Poetry Fifty Years Later is a collection of critical essays on Donald Allen's 1960 seminal anthology The New American Poetry, an anthology that Marjorie Perloff once called the fountainhead of radical American poetics. The New American Poetry is referred to in every literary history of post-World War II American poetry. Allen's anthology has reached its fiftieth anniversary, providing a unique time for reflection and reevaluation of this preeminent collection. As we know, Allen's anthology was groundbreaking; it was the first to distribute widely the poetry and theoretical positions of poets such as Charles Olson, Allen Ginsberg, and the Beats, and it was the first to categorize these poets by the schools: Black Mountain, New York School, San Francisco Renaissance, and the Beats, by which they are known today. Over the course of fifty years, this categorization of poets into schools has become one of the major, if not only, way that The New American Poetry is remembered or valued. One certain goal of this volume, as one reviewer invites, is to pry The New American Poetry out from the hoary platitudes that have encrusted it. To this point, critics mostly have examined The New American Poetry as an anthology; former treatments of The New American Poetry look at it intently as a whole. Though the almost singularly focused study of its construction and less often reception has lent a great deal of documented, highly visible, and debated material in which to consider, we have been left with certain notions about its relevance that have become imbued ultimately in the collective critical consciousness of postmodernity. This volume, however, goes beyond the analysis of construction and reception and achieves something distinctive, extending those former treatments by treading on the paths they create This volume aims to discover another sense of radical that Perloff articulated rather than a radical that departs markedly from the usual we invite consideration of The New American Poetry that is radical in the sense of root of harboring something fundamental something inherent as we uncover and trace further elements correlated with its widespread influence over the last fifty years New Serial Titles ,1989 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949 Catalog of Copyright Entries.
