Organic Design in Twentieth-Century Nordic

Architecture Erik Champion, 2019-02-18 Organic Design in Twentieth Century Nordic Architecture presents a communicable and useful definition of organic architecture that reaches beyond constraints The book focuses on the works and writings of architects in Nordic countries such as Sigurd Lewerentz Jørn Utzon Sverre Fehn and the Aaltos Aino Elissa and Alvar among others It is structured around the ideas of organic design principles that influenced them and allowed their work to evolve from one building to another Erik Champion argues organic architecture can be viewed as a concerted attempt to thematically unify the built environment through the allegorical expression of ongoing interaction between designer architectural brief and building as process With over 140 black and white images this book is an intriguing read for architecture students and professionals alike

Reading Architecture Angeliki Sioli, Yoonchun Jung, 2018-04-09 Why write instead of draw when it comes to architecture Why rely on literary pieces instead of architectural treatises and writings when it comes to the study of buildings and urban environments Why rely on literary techniques and accounts instead of architectural practices and analysis when it comes to academic research and educational projects Why trust authors and writers instead of sociologists or scientists when it comes to planning for the future of cities This book builds on the existing interdisciplinary bibliography on architecture and literature but prioritizes literature's capacity to talk about the lived experience of place and the premise that literary language can often express the inexpressible It sheds light on the importance of a literary instead of a pictorial imagination for architects and it looks into four contemporary architectural subjects through a wide variety of literary works Drawing on novels that engage cities from around the world the book reveals aspects of urban space to which other means of architectural representation are blind Whether through novels that employ historical buildings or sites interpreted through specific literary methods it suggests a range of methodologies for contemporary architectural academic research By exploring the power of narrative language in conveying the experience of lived space it discusses its potential for architectural design and pedagogy Questioning the massive architectural production of today's globalized capital driven world it turns to literature for ways to understand resist or suggest alternative paths for architectural practice Despite literature's fictional character the essays of this volume reveal true dimensions of and for places beyond their historical social and political reality dimensions of utmost importance for architects urban planners historians and theoreticians nowadays

Envisioning Architecture Iain Fraser, Rod Henmi, 1993-12-16 Examples of world renowned masters of architecture are used in this enlightening book that explores the why of architectural drawing rather than the how By emphasizing the value of drawing over technique the authors demonstrate how the drawing itself influences the designer's processes of thought and exerts its own pull on the evolution of the concept

Nationalism and Architecture Darren Deane, Sarah Butler, 2016-12-05

Unlike regionalism in architecture which has been widely discussed in recent years nationalism in architecture has not been so well explored and understood However the most powerful collective representation of a nation is through its architecture and how that architecture engages the global arena by expressing defining and sometimes negating a sense of nation in order to participate in the international world Bringing together case studies from Europe North and South America the Middle East Africa Asia and Australia this book provides a truly global exploration of the relationship between architecture and nationalism via the themes of regionalism and representation various national building projects ethnic and trans national expression national identities and histories of nationalist architecture and the philosophies and sociological studies of nationalism It argues that nationalism needs to be trans national as a notion to be critically understood and the geographical scope of the proposed volume reflects the continuing relevance of the topic within current architectural scholarship as an overarching notion The interdisciplinary essays are coherently grouped together in three thematic sections Revisiting Nationalism Interpreting Nationalism and Questioning Nationalism These chapters offer vignettes of the protean appearances of nationalism across nations and offer a basis of developing wider knowledge and critically situated understanding of the question beyond a singular nation s limited bounds
