Corporation on a Tightrope John G. Sifonis, Beverly Goldberg, 1996-05-23

Business is no longer business as usual. The global market is in constant flux as some nations come together, others fall apart, trading blocs emerge, and formerly closed doors reopen. At home, leadership roles and organizational structure have seen a sea change with the vertically integrated, tightly knit organization seemingly headed for oblivion. And the changes keep happening faster and faster. For a firm to succeed in this highly complex environment, executives need a better understanding of the deep philosophic and extensive physical adaptations needed to reshape and prepare their company for an uncertain future. To provide this deeper understanding, John G. Sifonis, a business consultant, and Beverly Goldberg, a think tank executive who together have decades of hands-on experience, visited dozens of companies, conducted numerous interviews, and then traveled to the Sante Fe Institute to discuss their conclusions about practical applications of complexity theory to business. The result of their study is Corporation on a Tightrope, a brilliant blend of complexity theory and hard-earned business sense that will help executives lead their organizations into the highly uncertain future. Sifonis and Goldberg show that the flexible organization of the future will be a complex adaptive system that responds to the effects of market-driven changes on its three critical components: governance, technology, and leadership. It will be an organization capable of self-renewal, constantly reshaping itself to seize opportunities as they emerge and quickly shrink when the market changes yet again. To help executives create this flexible firm, the authors provide seven practical tools/principles that, when carefully put in place, create a solid foundation for the future: an organization must set unwavering ethical standards, establish a social contract, maintain a lean organization based on core competencies, develop leadership skills at every level, be open to learning, encourage experimentation, and be innovative. Avoid restructuring when it should be regoverning and ensure connectivity. The authors illustrate each of these principles with fascinating examples taken from actual corporations, such as the ethical dilemma faced by Levi's whose move overseas brought up the problem of lost American jobs and foreign child labor, the innovative arrangement between insurance company Allmerica Financial and DST Systems a developer of automated business solutions and the leadership of executives such as Herb Kelleher of Southwest Airlines who projects enthusiasm and friendliness to the media and has his workforce reflect the same image Readers will find other instructive anecdotes on companies such as Boeing Texas Instruments Shell and Intel Spiced with pithy quotations from prominent executives and business experts such as Peter Drucker Edward Filene Charles Handy and Sam Walton plus top people at Johnson Johnson Unilever and other major corporations this is a sweeping visionary book that will transform the way business leaders take their companies into the future

Rethinking the "L" Word in Higher Education: The Revolution of Research on Leadership Adrianna Kezar, Rozana Carducci, Melissa Contreras-McGavin, 2011-10-19 In these times of change and challenge in higher education pleas for leadership have become frequent However the type of leadership required within this new context of globalization demographic changes technological advancement and questioning of social authority may call for different skills requiring a re education among campus stakeholders if they want to be successful leaders In the past twenty years there has been a revolution in the way that leadership is conceptualized across most fields and disciplines Leadership has moved away from being leader centered individualistic hierarchical focused on universal characteristics and emphasizing power over followers Instead a new vision has emerged leadership that is process centered collective context bound non hierarchical and focused on mutual power and influence processes This volume summarizes research and literature about new conceptualizations of leadership to inform practice This is volume 31 number 6 of the ASHE Higher Education Report a bi monthly journal published by Jossey Bass See our entire list of ASHE Higher Education Report titles for a wide variety of critical issues facing Higher Education today

Hall, 2002 Careers In and Out of Organizations provides an overview of the changing context of careers and describes the role of interpersonal relationships as influences on development of a person s identity and learning The author examines the nature of the new career contract and the different approaches that have been taken to studying career decision making He explores how career choices are made the developmental stages people pass through during the course of their working lives in organizations and the factors related to career effectiveness including integrating career and personal life The latter third of the book turns from research to the practical issues involved in applying theory including a look at how an understanding of career dynamics can be employed to make careers work better for individuals and for the work communities where they are employed

Beyond Bias and Barriers Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Engineering, National Academy of Sciences, Committee on Science, Engineering, and Public Policy, Committee on Maximizing the Potential of Women in Academic Science and Engineering, 2007-06-04 The United States economy relies on the productivity entrepreneurship and creativity of its people To maintain its scientific and engineering leadership amid increasing economic and educational globalization the United States must aggressively pursue the innovative capacity of all its people women and men However women face barriers to success in every field of science and engineering obstacles that deprive the country of an important source of talent Without a transformation of academic institutions to tackle such barriers the future vitality of the U S research base and economy are in jeopardy Beyond Bias and Barriers explains that eliminating gender bias in academia requires immediate overarching reform including decisive action by university administrators professional societies federal funding agencies and foundations government agencies and Congress If implemented and coordinated across public private and government sectors the recommended actions will help to improve workplace environments for all employees while strengthening the foundations of America s competitiveness

Designing for Diversity Kathryn H. Anthony, 2021-08-18 A powerful statement about the repercussions of discrimination and the benefits of diversity in architecture Providing hard data for trends that many perceive only vaguely and some deny altogether Designing for Diversity reveals a profession rife with gender and racial discrimination and examines the aspects of architectural practice that hinder or support the full participation of women and persons of color Drawing on interviews and surveys of hundreds of architects Kathryn H Anthony outlines some of the forms of discrimination that recur most frequently in architecture being offered added responsibility without a commensurate rise in position salary or credit not being allowed to engage in client contact field experience or construction supervision and being confined to certain kinds of positions typically interior design for women government work for African Americans and computer aided design for Asian American architects Anthony discusses the profession s attitude toward flexible schedules part time contracts and the demands of family and identifies strategies that have helped underrepresented individuals advance in the profession especially establishing a strong relationship with a mentor She also observes a strong tendency for underrepresented architects to leave mainstream practice either establishing their own firms going into government or corporate work or abandoning the field altogether Given the traditional mismatch between diverse consumers and predominantly white male producers of the built environment plus the shifting population balance toward communities of color Anthony contends that the architectural profession staves off true diversity at its own peril Designing for Diversity argues convincingly that improving the climate for nontraditional architects will do much to strengthen architecture as a profession Practicing architects managers of firms and educators will learn how to create conditions more welcoming to a diversity of users as well as designers of the built environment
