Saving Lives With Force Military Criteria For Humanitarian Intervention Brookings Studies In Foreign Policy:

Saving Lives with Force Michael E. O'Hanlon, 2010-12-01 Military analyst Michael O Hanlon shows how outside forces could successfully intervene to stop an ongoing cycle of warfare in a country whose government has collapsed or come under severe internal challenge Based largely on recent U S experiences in Panama Somalia Bosnia and elsewhere as well as on U S military doctrine and information from the Pentagon s training and simulation centers the book discusses the steps in an intervention and estimates likely casualties and costs O Hanlon shows that modern Western militaries are capable of executing these types of operations with high proficiency While conditions are unlikely to resemble those of Desert Storm which allowed the U S and allies to take full advantage of modern technology top notch militaries have advantages in infantry combat situations night vision equipment attack and transport helicopters counterartillery radars that would enable them to establish order and prevail in any firefights O Hanlon warns that operations as casualty free as those in Haiti and to date in Bosnia would be unlikely Moreover the political framework that outside powers would attempt to employ in establishing a new order would be critical if intervening forces are seen as taking sides or occupying territory without legitimacy they could meet protracted guerrilla style resistance of the types witnessed in Vietnam Afghanistan and Somalia Part of the Studies in Foreign Affairs series

The Prevention and Intervention of Genocide Samuel Totten, 2008-03-31 This volume is comprised of over 2 300 annotations on a wide array of issues and topics germane to the subject of preventing the atrocities of genocide and managing these conflicts when they do arise Samuel Totten brings together in one comprehensive collection the research and findings in various fields such as political science sociology history and psychology to enable specialists in genocide studies peace studies and conflict resolution to benefit from the insights of a diverse range of scholars and foster an understanding of how the various components of genocide studies connect Among the topics included are key conventions international treaties and covenants genocide early warning signals and forecasting risk data bases sanctions peacekeeping missions conflict resolution the International Criminal Court realpolitik vis vis the issue of genocide prevention and intervention key non governmental agencies key governmental and UN bodies working on these important issues In addition to the annotations Totten frames the bibliography with a major essay that introduces the reader to the subject of prevention and intervention of genocide raising a host of critical issues regarding the strengths weaknesses and limitations of various approaches germane to issues of managing these conflicts

Saving Lives with Force Michael E. O'Hanlon, 1997 In this book military analyst Michael O Hanlon shows how outside forces could intervene to stop an ongoing cycle of warfare in a country whose government has collapsed or come under severe internal challenge

The Intervention Debate John Garofano, 2002 The author argues that American policymakers must take an approach based on principled judgment when deciding on the use of force The 1990s showed the extremes of deciding when and how to use force one of the central elements of strategy Throughout American history debate has raged over whether force is appropriate only in defense of the homeland and vital national interests or whether it should also be used to promote more expansive objectives like regional security and stopping humanitarian disasters in regions with few tangible U S interests He concludes with a discussion of Army roles and requirements for future contingencies SSI site

The Intervention Debate: Towards a Posture of Principled Judgement, 2002 The author argues that American policymakers must take an approach based on principled judgment when deciding on the use of force The 1990s showed the extremes of deciding when and how to use force one of the central elements of strategy Throughout American history debate has raged over whether force is appropriate only in defense of the homeland and vital national interests or whether it should also be used to promote more expansive objectives like regional security and stopping humanitarian disasters in regions with few tangible U S interests He concludes with a discussion of Army roles and requirements for future contingencies

Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict, revised edition Michael E. Brown, Owen R. Cote, Jr., Sean M. Lynn-Jones, Steven E. Miller, 2001-09-14 Understanding the roots and causes of ethnic animosity analyses of recent events in Bosnia Kosovo Rwanda Somalia and the former Soviet Union Most recent wars have been complex and bloody internal conflicts driven to a significant degree by nationalism and ethnic animosity Since the end of the Cold War dozens of wars in Bosnia Kosovo Rwanda Somalia the former Soviet Union and elsewhere have killed or displaced millions of people Understanding and controlling these wars has become one of the most important and frustrating tasks for scholars and political leaders This revised and expanded edition of Nationalism and Ethnic Conflict contains essays from some of the world's leading analysts of nationalism ethnic conflict and internal war The essays from the first edition have been updated and supplemented by analyses of recent conflicts and new research on the resolution of ethnic and civil wars The first part of the book addresses the roots of nationalistic and ethnic wars focusing in particular on the former Yugoslavia The second part assesses options for international action including the use of force and the deployment of peacekeeping troops The third part examines political challenges that often complicate attempts to prevent or end internal conflicts including refugee flows and the special difficulties of resolving civil wars

Voting for Peace Terrence Lyons, 2010-12-01 Elections have been used as a mechanism to institutionalize a new political order following internal conflict in Cambodia El Salvador Angola Mozambique Bosnia and now Liberia This book analyzes the Liberian transition and the July 1997 elections in order to better understand the relationship between war termination and transitions to democracy and the role post conflict elections play in promoting both of these goals The Liberian elections represented the final stage of a seven year West African led peace process An overwhelming majority voted for former factional leader Charles Taylor in the belief that if Taylor did not win war would erupt again The Liberian transition demonstrates that post conflict elections may play an important role in a process of war termination In many cases it may be necessary to move forward with war termination and imperfect elections in the short run and pursue goals relating to democratization after the new government has been put in place This study uses a detailed examination of the difficult Liberian case to highlight the more general challenges of helping countries make the transition from civil conflict and authoritarian rule to peace and democracy Studies in Foreign Policy

NATO and Peace Support Operations, 1991-1999 Henning A. Frantzen, 2004-12-17 This new book addresses the key question of how NATO and three of its member states are configuring their policies and military doctrines in order to handle the new strategic environment This environment is increasingly dominated by new wars more precisely civil wars within states and peacekeeping as the strategy devised by outside actors for dealing with them The book seeks to explain how this new strategic environment has been interpreted and how the new conflicts and peacekeeping have been fitted into defence and war key concepts in the field of security studies

Interregionalism and International Relations Heiner Hänggi, Ralf Roloff, Jürgen Rüland, 2006 Interregionalism the institutionalized relations between world regions is a new phenomenon in international relations It also a new layer of development in an increasingly differentiated global order This volume examines the structure of this phenomenon and the scholarly discourse it is generating It takes stock of empirical facts and theoretical explanations bringing together with clarity and concision the latest research on this key area This essential new book traces the emergence of interregionalism and reviews the latest literature provides a conceptual and theoretical framework for study includes case studies of inter regional relations between Asia and America Asia and Europe Europe and America and Europe and Africa delivers comparative analyses and special cases such as continental summits and interregional relationships beyond the Triad summarizes and evaluates the findings of each chapter providing a basis for further research This is a key reference book for students and researchers of regionalism global governance and international relations

Leashing the Dogs of War Chester A. Crocker, Fen Osler Hampson, Pamela R. Aall, 2007 The definitive volume on the sources of contemporary conflict and the array of possible responses to it
