Mud And Magic Shows Robertson Davies Fifth Business:

Mud and Magic Shows Patricia Monk, 1992 Canadian Fiction Studies are an answer to every librarian's student's and teacher's wishes. Each book about 80 pages in length contains clear readable information on a major Canadian novel. These studies are carefully designed readings of the novels; they are not substitutes for reading them. Each book is attractively produced and follows the same format so students will know exactly what to expect: a chronology of the author's life, the importance of the book, critical reception, reading of the text, selected list of works cited. Majesty in Canada Colin MacMillan Coates, 2006-02-04 Examines how Canadians have understood their ties to royalty and how the regal principle influenced our national identity. Pioneering North America Klaus Martens, 2000 Children's Literature and Imaginative Geography Aida Hudson, 2019-01-10 Where do children travel when they read a story? In this collection, scholars and authors explore the imaginative geography of a wide range of places from those of Indigenous myth to the fantasy worlds of Middle-earth, Earthsea, or Pacificus from the semi-fantastic Wild Wood to real world places like Canada's North, Chicago's World Fair, or the modern urban garden. What happens to young protagonists who explore new worlds, whether fantastic or realistic? What happens when Old World and New World myths collide? How do Indigenous myth and sense of place figure in books for the young? How do environmental or post-colonial concerns, history, memory, or even the unconscious affect an author's creation of place? How are steampunk and science fiction mythically re-enchanting for children? Imaginative geography means imaged earth; writing it creates what readers see when they enter the world of fiction. Exploring diverse genres for children including picture books, fantasy, steampunk, and realistic novels as well as plays from Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, and Ireland from the early nineteenth century to the present, Children's Literature and Imaginative Geography provides new geographical perspectives on children's literature. Robertson Davies Lynne Diamond-Nigh, 1997 You Can't Get There From Here Ryan Porter, 2019-04-08 Rather than reading small town representations in Canadian literature as portraits of a parochial past or a lost golden age, this book claims that they are best understood as sophisticated statements on the effects of modernity in an ever more cosmopolitan world. In Ontario, as urbanization increased over the past century, small towns became a popular literary trope, and Ryan Porter argues that literary small towns are reflections and even sublimated explorations of contemporary life. Referencing the theories of heritage scholars who view popularly understood pasts as constructions shaped by changing sensibilities, You Can't Get There from Here argues that the literary small town Ontario past is malleable, consisting of attempts to come to terms with the present in which the narrators find themselves. The book focuses on four key Ontario authors: Stephen Leacock, Robertson Davies, Alice Munro, and Jane Urquhart, as well as many secondary authors, and links the readings to much broader trends in actual Ontario towns and in popular culture. Post-Jungian Criticism James S. Baumlin, Tita French Baumlin, George H. Jensen, 2004-01-29 Rereads Jung in light of contemporary theoretical concerns and offers a variety of examples of post-Jungian literary and cultural criticism.

Alien Theory Patricia Monk, 2006-06-15 From the early days of pulp magazines to contemporary works of science fiction the subject of the alien has been a fertile and enduring if not also the most vital element of the genre In Alien Theory author Patricia Monk asserts that the creation of the alien in short fiction contributes substantially to humanity's understanding of its present status and future potential in the universe By employing a Jungian and archetypal approach to these stories Monk attempts to direct the attention of readers to the significance of the vast body of imaginative fiction about the alien arguing that studying the alien will reveal why this archetype is necessary in the development of humanity's understanding of its own intrinsic nature as a sapient being When a science fiction writer writes about aliens Monk asserts he or she is saying something that can and should be taken seriously by readers Furthermore it is being expressed in a particular story telling mode that deserves to be treated with respect By discussing the creation of the form of the science fictional alien its psyche and the context in which aliens and humans interact Monk brings into focus a topic that has not been given the rightful discussion it deserves In addition to examining the alien in the science fiction short story novella and novelette Monk evaluates its role in pre postmodernist and postmodernist criticism and theory The author also draws on relevant writings by editors writers and fans including editorial letter columns and reviews to place the stories in the context of science fiction By drawing on all of these sources Alien Theory brings into focus a topic that will be of interest not only to academics and students but also to the general reader

Companion to the New Literatures in English Christa Jansohn, 2002

A World Under Sentence Dennis Duffy, Steve McCaffery, 1996-02 In The Cheat of Words McCaffery expands on the linguistic and political issues addressed in his previous book Theory of Sediment In this new work the reader encounters and must negotiate an insistent slippage of meaning Exploiting the inherent shiftiness of language that tendency of phrases to refuse to link into higher syllogistic ensembles McCaffery demonstrates the incessant potential within writing to disturb all drives toward centrality and stability Defiantly non lyrical and non narrative this poetry achieves a neo baroque festiveness within its regulatory scepticism
