comprehensively with 309 species These comprise all the seed eating families from sparrows to buntings and including weavers widowbirds whydahs and waxbills The editors and artists have worked closely with other authors all acknowledged experts in their field to produce a superb reference in which comprehensive texts on every species are complemented by accurate and detailed paintings and drawings of the birds themselves Recent Geographical Literature, Maps, and Photographs Added to the Society's Collection, 1928 Eco-Cultural Networks and the British Empire James Beattie, Edward Melillo, Emily O'Gorman, 2014-12-18 19th century British imperial expansion dramatically shaped today's globalised world Imperialism encouraged mass migrations of people shifting flora fauna and commodities around the world and led to a series of radical environmental changes never before experienced in history Eco Cultural Networks and the British Empire explores how these networks shaped ecosystems cultures and societies throughout the British Empire and how they were themselves transformed by local and regional conditions This multi authored volume begins with a rigorous theoretical analysis of the categories of empire and imperialism Its chapters written by leading scholars in the field draw methodologically from recent studies in environmental history post colonial theory and the history of science Together these perspectives provide a comprehensive historical understanding of how the British Empire reshaped the globe during the 19th and 20th centuries This book will be an important addition to the literature on British imperialism and global ecological change Birders of Africa Nancy J. Jacobs,2016-04-26 In this unique and unprecedented study of birding in Africa historian Nancy Jacobs reconstructs the collaborations between well known ornithologists and the largely forgotten guides hunters and taxidermists who worked with them Drawing on ethnography scientific publications private archives and interviews Jacobs asks How did white ornithologists both depend on and operate distinctively from African birders What investment did African birders have in collaborating with ornithologists By distilling the interactions between European science and African vernacular knowledge this stunningly illustrated work offers a fascinating examination of the colonial and postcolonial politics of expertise about nature Notes on Some Birds of Dar Es Salaam Cecily Jane Gurney Ruggles-Brise,1927
