Cognitive Development

Piaget's 4 Stages of Cognitive Development

1) Sensorimotor Stage (birth to 2 yrs)

- Children learn to interact with stimulation
- Children learn doing with thinking
- Cognitive contents of behaviour
- Challenge = object permanence

Object Permanence

Birth to 3 months

- Turn head toward stimulus. But if it's moved, a child's eyes might not follow it.

3 months

- Follow moving objects with eyes. Stares at the spot that an object disappeared but will not search for it.

5 months

- Grasp and manipulate objects and anticipates the future position of an object

8 months

- Starts searching for an object that's hidden. Shows "A not B" effect.
- Will search for an object at the last place they found it, not the last place they saw it.

12 months

- Searches in the last place they saw the object.

A schema is a mental representation or idea of an object that directs a particular behaviour pattern.

Assimilation - new information is modified to fit within an existing schema.
Accommodation - the pre-existing schema, which an existing schema is modified by new experiences.

Representational thought - the ability to form mental images separately from the end of the sensorimotor period.
Important in imitation, delayed imitation, symbolic play, and language.

2) Pre-concrete Stage (2 to 7 yrs)

- Start to think logically
- Rapid language development
- Classify and categorize objects
- Learn to manipulate objects
- Challenge = conservation

Conservation is the understanding that specific properties of objects (e.g. weight, volume, number) remain the same despite apparent changes and rearrangements of those objects.

Egocentrism - a child's belief that others see the world as primarily the same way that they do.

3) Concrete Operational Stage (7 to 11 yrs)

- For them to find an object
- Engage with thoughts and feelings at once
- Logical and logical-mathematical thought
- Logical thought
- Challenge - abstract reasoning

4) Formal Operations Stage (11 yrs)

- Use abstract reasoning by constructing hypothetical thoughts
- Meta-cognition
- dependent on exposure to principles of scientific thinking

Evaluating Piaget's Theory

Children don't seem to start with nothing. They have some prior knowledge.

- Visual cliff - perceive depth around the time they can crawl.
- Effect of education - prefer to look at novel things, even at 4 months.
- Understanding of support - even by 6 months
- Object permanence - 18 mos is earlier appears to represent difficulty understanding water bucket.

Number and Mathematical Reasoning

Early research - kids show some understanding of numbers. Young child 3 months then a group of 4 things with a group of 3 things. Child was more likely at the latter.

3) Social Cognition

- newborn babies would rather see an adult than a decorated one.
- At 3 months old, infants will attempt to read and facial expressions.
- 7 months old will look in the direction of their mother's gaze.

Cognitive Developmental Theories

- Piaget's stages of pre-concrete, concrete, formal, and post-formal stages.
- Learning from when they don't see the right answers, children understand what learning is all about.
- Piaget's reasoning - could Piaget's theory be improved? Could there be more to be learned from children's reasoning? Children's reasoning can be generally conservative. Piaget's theory of the nature is relevant.
- Social Cognition in pre-concrete stages.
- Egocentrism. Piaget thought they were egocentric until 7 years old. But even 3 and 4-year-olds can pass a drawing test if it's relevant. At 3.5 to 4.5, children will turn around to an adult can see it, and head down when talking to young children. Children under 4 years will look at the what their mother is looking at, trying to see and understand that someone else has a different viewpoint.
- Theory of Mind. This is a group of skills relating to the understanding of the distinct of other people's minds, e.g. intentions, beliefs and desires. Asked to be a theory in social interaction.
- Gender roles and theories. Specifically, children that 18 months old have more than gender role theory.
- Piaget - kids gave what they had.

- True and False beliefs. False belief task. You can see that there is a rubber duck in the basket. 4-year-olds correctly think that a person who has not seen the contents of the box will believe there are no ducks in the box. 3-year-olds will think that other people will think that there is a rubber duck in the box.

Social and Moral Development

Principle of Moral Sufficiency
- Children will understand a certain way of acting better if there is just enough pressure to get them to behave in that way, but not enough to pressure them, forcing them to do the task.

Demands on Parents

Children's Behaviours	High	Low
	Authoritative	Permissive
Children's Behaviours	Authoritarian	Disengaged

Children's Theory of Moral Development

Shaped best between 10 and 11-year-old. Presented the subject with moral questions scenarios, e.g. wife dying and husband can't afford medication, breaks into store and steals drugs.

Pre-concrete Level

Lawrence is based on external sanctions, such as authority and punishment.
Stage 1: Morality of punishment and obedience
- Child obey authority and avoid punishment.

Stage 2: Morality of naive instrumental hedonism

- Behaviour guided essentially by the pleasantness of its consequences to them.

Concrete Level

Subject an understanding that the social system has an interest in proper behaviour.
Stage 3: Morality of maintaining good relations

- Children want to be regarded as good, well-behaved people.

Stage 4: Morality of maintaining social order

- Law and moral rules maintain social order and meant to be obeyed.

Post-concrete Level

Moral rules have some underlying principles that apply to all situations and societies.

Stage 5: Morality of social contracts

Law and rules are created, sometimes not all authority figures are obedient, in developed rights can sometimes take precedence over laws.

Stage 6: Morality of universal ethical principles

- Rules and laws are justified by abstract ethical values, e.g. when it becomes too hard to justify.

Bernhardt, Margaret I. Fletcher, Frances L. Johnson, Dorothy A. Millichamp, Mary L Northway, Institute of Child Study, 1951-12-15 This is the story of the Institute of Child Study University of Toronto from its beginning in 1926 to the present To honour the Director W E Blatz it has been written by members of the staff and its publication financed by parents of children who have attended the Nursery School and by students graduates and friends of the Institute The book is centred around the research programme which the Institute has conducted during the quarter century It contains abstracts of all its scientific papers and publications and reviews these to indicate the significant trends The stories of the Institute s foundation of its programmes of parent education and nursery school procedures form a setting from which the research has emerged and to which its discoveries have contributed Thus research is described as no abstract pursuit but as an activity arising out of social need and reflecting its achievements to the social good The book will of course be of interest to everyone to who knows the Institute or its Director It will be of value we believe also to all teachers and students in child study centres they will find it a handbook of research papers in this field To those in the social sciences it will serve as an illustration of the growth and organization of an Institution peculiar to the twentieth century and specific in its formulated purposes Although the book has been created to pay tribute to the Director and to mark the event of the Institute s twenty fifth year it is in no way an eulogy extolling past achievements Rather as the Preface states we have attempted to be as honest in this volume as we have insisted we should be in our scientific researches We have tried indeed to tell the truth Truth is such a rare thing it is delightful to tell it We have expected the authors of each chapter to give an accurate picture of the topic as they evaluate it we believe it is through the unique slants of the individual writers we attain a true vision of the whole Nothing is here but that which we believe the significance of the project has been in the fulfilling rather than the fulfillment The activities of the past provide us with hope for the future This attempt to solidify our previous efforts has led us to re affirm our belief that to increase human understanding is the most satisfying of all possible enterprises

The Law and Child Development Mavis Maclean, 2017-03-02 This volume asks what legal and socio legal scholarship can contribute to understanding the role of law in the care and development of children The editors have selected key articles ranging from theoretical analysis to empirical data based research that address the law s approach in the United States and the United Kingdom to resolving parenting disputes after separation protecting children from abuse and neglect and affording children procedural protections in the juvenile justice system Their introduction to these important and often distressing areas of the law confirms the importance of understanding how law works in practice and reaffirms that law itself remains responsible for articulating and protecting society s values
