Improving the Regulation and Management of Low-Activity Radioactive Wastes National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Nuclear and Radiation Studies Board, Committee on Improving Practices for Regulating and Managing Low-Activity Radioactive Waste, 2006-05-24 The largest volumes of radioactive wastes in the United States contain only small amounts of radioactive material These low activity wastes LAW come from hospitals utilities research institutions and defense installations where nuclear material is used Millions of cubic feet of LAW also arise every year from non nuclear enterprises such as mining and water treatment While LAW present much less of a radiation hazard than spent nuclear fuel or high level radioactive wastes they can cause health risks if controlled improperly Improving the Regulation and Management of Low Activity Radioactive Wastes asserts that LAW should be regulated and managed according to the degree of risk they pose for treatment storage and disposal Current regulations are based primarily on the type of industry that produced the waste the waste s origin rather than its risk In this report a risk informed approach for regulating and managing all types of LAW in the United States is proposed Implemented in a gradual or stepwise fashion this approach combines scientific risk assessment with public values and perceptions It focuses on the hazardous properties of the waste in question and how they compare with other waste materials The approach is based on established principles for risk informed decision making current risk informed initiatives by waste regulators in the United States and abroad solutions available under current regulatory authorities and remedies through new legislation when necessary

An Introduction to Nuclear Waste Immobilisation Michael I. Ojovan, William E Lee, William E. Lee, 2010-07-07 Safety and environmental impact is of uppermost concern when dealing with the movement and storage of nuclear waste The 20 chapters in An Introduction to Nuclear Waste Immobilisation cover all important aspects of immobilisation from nuclear decay to regulations to new technologies and methods Significant focus is given to the analysis of the various matrices used in transport cement bitumen and glass with the greatest attention being given to glass The last chapter concentrates on the performance assessment of each matrix and on new developments of ceramics and glass composite materials thermochemical methods and in situ metal matrix immobilisation The book thoroughly covers all issues surrounding nuclear waste from where to locate nuclear waste in the environment through nuclear waste generation and sources treatment schemes and technologies immobilisation technologies and waste forms disposal and long term behaviour Particular attention is paid to internationally approved and worldwide applied approaches and technologies Each chapter focuses on a different matrix used in nuclear waste immobilisation Cement bitumen glass and new materials Keeps the most important issues surrounding nuclear waste such as treatment schemes and technologies and disposal at the forefront
