Paterson, 1990 A compilation of 11 essays which offers an insight into the issues that came to dominate the political scene of the 1980s and form the political agenda of the 1990s Topics covered include an assessment of specific policy areas affecting Europe such as high unemployment and the welfare state Political Data Handbook Jan-Erik Lane, David McKay, Kenneth

Newton, 1996-12-26 This fully revised and updated edition of an established reference book provides in one volume the most comprehensive and detailed statistical guide available to the government and politics of the twenty four countries in the OECD There is no lack of statistical data about the OECD countries the nineteen countries of Western Europe together with Canada the United States Japan Australia and New Zealand but much of the material is hard to track down and little is available in comparative form The editors of the present volume have sifted through many hundreds of sources to select the essential facts and figures on population social structure employment the economy public finance government structures and political parties from 1950 to the present day In addition they provide social and economic background for each of the countries covered to enable the data to be put in context A short final section lists sources of further information The resulting combination is both invaluable and fascinating whether it is used casually to check up a fact or two or systematically to make detailed comparisons between the most advanced political systems of the Western world

A Comparative Political Economy of Tunisia and Morocco Gregory White, 2001-07-26 This book examines the profound impact of European integration on two North African countries Tunisia and Morocco Confronting the theoretical literatures on the entanglements of the domestic and international realms and the intricate role played by the middle income state in the international arena White provides the first detailed comparison of Tunisia and Morocco's post independence political economies especially in the context of the Euro Mediterranean Partnerships signed with the European Union in the late 1990s North African states must act on the one hand as entrepreneurs seeking to encourage trade and attract foreign investment within the domestic economy in the process of crafting foreign economic policy with the European Union On the other hand such states are constrained by domestic pressures such as imperatives to secure job creation and maintain internal security Countries on the periphery are therefore faced with two distinct questions first how does a middle income state balance its conflicting roles and manage its relations with a regional power and second how does the relationship with the outside world affect key domestic actors Answering these questions is one of the primary challenges facing Tunisia and Morocco in the new decade
