Religious Education As A Second Language:

Religious Education as a Second Language Gabriel Moran, 1989 Re-imagining Senior Secondary Religious Education William Sultmann, Janeen Lamb, Peter Ivers, Mark Craig, 2023-02-28 This book examines and reports the findings regarding the level of satisfaction by students teachers and parents with an innovative senior secondary Religious Education curriculum Religion Meaning and Life RML The stimulus for RML is found in the changing profile of students within faith based schools and the motivation of school authorities to be inclusive and responsive to changing needs and priorities of students and families Curriculum practices typically mirror this continuing renewal as community expectations give rise to innovation in curriculum practice This concept of continuity and discontinuity is evidenced in the field of Religious Education which recognizes religious plurality while giving preference to an imagination centred on inclusion hospitality and respectful dialogue In this context new pathways are being explored as the reality and significance of Religious Education in faith based school remain a priority for Christian organizations in Australia Mindful of the diversity of expectations within the Catholic school the curriculum initiative of RML was developed supported and implemented The La Salle Academy of the Australian Catholic University reviewed this senior secondary curriculum across three years and presents in this book an independent evaluative report of the findings together with insights for implementation at scale and associated applications across Christian faith based institutions

Special Religious Education in Australia and its Value to Contemporary Society Zehavit Gross, Suzanne D. Rutland, 2021-02-22 This book explores the advantages of and challenges concerning Special Religious Education SRE in multicultural Australia and argues for the need for General Religious Education GRE as well Through the lens of the most recent scholarship and drawing on an in depth qualitative study and specific case studies the book examines the current debate on the role of religious education within government schools It addresses key concepts of values education spirituality health and wellbeing and cultural and religious identity It analyses why it is important to retain SRE together with GRE as government policy It explores highly relevant controversial and contested issues regarding SRE including the 30% of Australia's population who declare themselves as having no religion and brings fresh insights to the table While secularization has increased in both the national and international spheres there has also been an increase in fundamentalism within religious beliefs Events such as the September 11 terror attacks and the more recent mass shootings by white supremacists and eco fascists in Christchurch New Zealand and Pittsburgh and San Diego in the USA are reminders that religion is still a major actor in the twenty first century This poses new challenges for the relationship between church and state and demonstrates the need to revisit the role of religious education within government schools While the importance of GRE is generally acknowledged SRE has increasingly come under attack by some researchers and teacher and parent bodies as being inappropriate and contradictory to the values of the postmodern world On the other hand the key stakeholders from all the faith traditions in Australia wish to retain the SRE classes in government schools The book

addresses this burning issue and shows that it is relevant not only for Australia but also globally Religious Education from a Critical Realist Perspective Johnny C. Go, 2018-12-14 This book examines the possibility and necessity of critical thinking in religious education through the lenses of critical realism and the Christian doctrine of sensus fidei sense of faith Drawing on Bhaskar's original critical realism and data from a survey of over a thousand teachers in the Philippines the author argues for a view of critical thinking based on components of disposition and competence As such critical thinking becomes the expression of a commitment to judgemental rationality and in a Christian religious education is guided by the individual's sensus fidei A philosophical and theological discussion of the process of coming to know in the religious domain Religious Education from a Critical Realist Perspective also offers concrete recommendations on how to promote the practice of religious critical thinking in confessional religious education classrooms As such it will appeal to scholars of philosophy theology and pedagogy with interests in religious education and curriculum development International Handbook of Inter-religious Education Kath Engebretson, Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Liam Gearon, 2010-08-17 This Handbook is based on the conviction of its editors and contributing authors that understanding and acceptance of as well as collaboration between religions has essential educational value The development of this Handbook rests on the further assumption that interreligious education has an important role in elucidating the global demand for human rights justice and peace Interreligious education reveals that the creeds and holy books of the world's religions teach about spiritual systems that reject violence and the individualistic pursuit of economic and political gain and call their followers to compassion for every human being It also seeks to lead students to an awareness that the followers of religions across the world need to be and to grow in dialogical relationships of respect and understanding An essential aim of interreligious education is the promotion of understanding and engagement between people of different religions and therefore it has great potential to contribute to the common good of the global community Interreligious education has grown from the interfaith movement whose beginning is usually identified with the World Parliament of Religions held in Chicago in 1893 This was the first time in history that leaders of the eastern and western religions had come together for dialogue and to consider working together for global unity

International Handbook of the Religious, Moral and Spiritual Dimensions in Education Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Kathleen Engebretson, Robert Jackson, Andrew McGrady, 2007-06-04 Traditionally spirituality has resided and been contained within religious frameworks but while the links between the two areas are still acknowledged by many in the contemporary world spirituality is perceived by some as an aspect of human life that is distinct from religion Consequently many are searching for meaning within and without religious traditions today and seeking answers to ethical and moral questions that have been generated by the knowledge and technological explosion One outcome is the renewed interest in the religious spiritual and moral dimensions of education throughout the life cycle This International Handbook presents the research and professional practice of scholars who are daily engaged in the consideration of these dimensions in education

The result is a collection of essays which reflects the discipline in all of its internationality as it is today. Embedded within the chapters is also an agenda for the future where the religious moral and spiritual dimensions in education are proposed as an exciting and challenging way forward for educators at all levels in society. As well, it offers a vision for the emergence of a peaceful and just world.

Learning to Teach Religious Education in the Secondary School, 2013-05-13

Learning to Teach Religious Education in the Secondary School provides insights from current educational theory and the best contemporary classroom teaching and learning and suggests tasks, activities and further reading that are designed to enhance the quality of initial school experience for the student teacher. Key themes addressed include the place of Religious Education in the curriculum, state and faith community schooling, developing schemes of work, language and religious literacy, teaching religion at 16 plus, religion and moral education, collective worship. This second edition has been thoroughly updated throughout to take account of changes to policy and the curriculum. It includes two additional chapters on Religious Education and Citizenship and Teaching Religious Education at A level as well as new versions of three original chapters: Teaching Children with Special Educational Needs, Religious Education and Moral Education, and Resources for Religious Education. Supporting teachers in developing levels of religious and theological literacy both of individual pupils and the society as a whole, this comprehensive and accessible text will give practising teachers and students an introduction to the craft of teaching Religious Education in the secondary school.

Encyclopedia of Christian Education George Thomas Kurian, Mark A. Lamport, 2015-05-07

Christianity regards teaching as one of the most foundational and critically sustaining ministries of the Church. As a result, Christian education remains one of the largest and oldest continuously functioning educational systems in the world, comprising both formal day schools and higher education institutions as well as informal church study groups and parachurch ministries in more than 140 countries. In The Encyclopedia of Christian Education, contributors explore the many facets of Christian education in terms of its impact on curriculum, literacy, teacher training, outcomes and professional standards. This encyclopedia is the first reference work devoted exclusively to chronicling the unique history of Christian education across the globe, illustrating how Christian educators pioneered such educational institutions and reforms as universal literacy, home schooling, Sunday schools, women's education, graded schools, compulsory education of the deaf and blind, and kindergarten. With an editorial advisory board of more than 30 distinguished scholars and five consulting editors, The Encyclopedia of Christian Education contains more than 1,200 entries by 400 contributors from 75 countries. These volumes cover a vast range of topics from Christian education history, spanning from the church's founding through the Middle Ages to the modern day, to denominational and institutional profiles, intellectual traditions in Christian education, biblical and theological frameworks, curricula, missions, adolescent and higher education, theological training, and Christian pedagogy. Biographies of distinguished Christian educators. This work is ideal for scholars of both the history of Christianity and education as well as researchers and students of contemporary Christianity and modern religious education.

Religious Education Matter? Mary Shanahan, 2016-07-28 In the current climate and in an age of increasing hostility towards religion and the study of religion religious education is a much debated area Bringing together an interdisciplinary team of contributors from the USA Britain and Ireland and Australia representing a variety of religious perspectives Does Religious Education Matter provocatively demonstrates that it is vital that religious education is presented as it really is a valuable and rich resource that when taught and engaged with appropriately stimulates essential qualities for global and responsible citizenship critical thinking tolerance respect and mutual understanding Reshaping Religious Education Maria Harris, Gabriel Moran, 1998-01-01 Well known religious educators Maria Harris and Gabriel Moran challenge the religious education community to risk change Focusing on themes of foundations development spirituality and a wider world Harris and Moran discuss issues such as gender death and dying and both interreligious and international dialogue

International Perspectives on Citizenship, Education and Religious Diversity Robert Jackson, 2003-09-02 Citizenship is high on the agenda of education systems in many of the world's democracies As yet however discussions of citizenship education have neglected issues of religious diversity and how the study of religions can contribute to our understanding of citizenship International Perspectives on Citizenship Education and Religious Diversity brings together an international range of contributions from religious studies scholars and educators specialising in the study of religions Together these illustrate and explore the key questions for educational theory and pedagogy raised by drawing issues of religious diversity into citizenship education The chapters address and extend debates over the nature of citizenship in late modernity highlighting local and global dimensions of citizenship in relation to issues of national religious ethnic and cultural identity As well as emphasising the role religious education has to play in citizenship education this book also covers wider issues such as state supported faith schools and cultural diversity in relation to common citizenship The authors argue that critical yet reflective approaches to religious education have a distinctive and valuable contribution to make to citizenship education Issues addressed within the study of religions are related to new forms of global and cultural citizenship as well as citizenship within the nation state Ultimately this stimulating and original collection highlights the challenges and possibilities for teaching and learning about religion religions and religious diversity within an inclusive educational practice

Adam B. Seligman,2014 This book offers a comparative analysis of religious education and state policies towards religious education in seven different countries and in the European Union as a whole. Most of the cases studied have not been presented previously in the English speaking world. The comparative contextualization of the different countries studied here – Muslim majority, Orthodox Christian, Jewish and secular or laic – is also new. The challenge addressed by the book's different studies is quite simply: if religious education can itself be a vehicle for civic enculturation and the creation of ties of belonging and meaningful solidarity across different ethnic and religious communities in the contemporary world. In many of the countries studied, the state and the program of state making was associated with one religious/ethnic community and then the question remains: if religious education that privileges that religious community can provide such shared terms of meaning for members of different communities. This is the challenge faced by such countries as Bulgaria, Israel, Malaysia and in a slightly different way facing not religious diversity but ethnic difference, Turkey. The case of Cyprus by contrast is one of a country actually split along lines of ethno-religious difference. Additional studies of the connection between religious education and the terms of citizenship in the EU, France and the USA provide important contrasts to the challenges facing us as we seek to educate our citizenry in an age of religious resurgence and global politics.
