Mission Agogo:

Medicine, Faith and Politics in Agogo Pascal Schmid, 2018 Medicine Faith and Politics in Agogo examines the development of health care delivery at a former mission hospital in Ghana. It reveals the configurations of interests, values and ideologies that shaped the development and implementation of health care practices, strategies and concepts. By providing an in-depth analysis, the book contributes a particular perspective on the history of health care delivery in rural Africa and beyond. It addresses topics that are still heavily under-researched. These include the decolonisation of health care as well as the development and implementation of medical concepts for developing countries such as primary health care.

The Asante World Edmund Abaka, Kwame Osei Kwarteng, 2021-05-30 The Asante World provides fresh perspectives on the Asante, the largest Akan group in Southern Ghana, and what new scholars are thinking and writing about the world the Asante made. By employing a thematic approach, the volume interrogates several dimensions of Asante history, including state formation, Asante Ahafo and Bassari Dagomba relations in the context of Asante northward expansion and the expansion to the south. It examines the role of Islam, which although extremely intense for just a short time, had important ramifications. Together, the essays excavate key aspects of Asante political economy and culture exemplified in kola nut production, the kente adinkra cloth types and their associated symbols, proverbs and drum language. The Asante World explores the Asante origins of Jamaican maroons, Asante secular government, contemporary politics of progress, governance through the institution of Ahemaa or Queenmothers, epidemiology and disease, and education in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Featuring innovative and insightful contributions from leading historians of the Asante world, this volume is essential reading for advanced undergraduates, postgraduates and scholars concerned with African Studies, African diaspora history, the history of Ghana and the Gold Coast, the history of Islam in Africa and Asante history.

Science, Africa and Europe Martin Lengwiler, Nigel Penn, Patrick Harries, 2018-10-12. Historically, scientists and experts have played a prominent role in shaping the relationship between Europe and Africa. Starting with travel writers and missionary intellectuals in the 17th century, European savants have engaged in the study of nature and society in Africa. Knowledge about realms of the world like Africa provided a foil against which Europeans came to view themselves as members of enlightened and modern civilisations. Science and technology also offered crucial tools with which to administer, represent and legitimate power relations in a new global world, but the knowledge drawn from contacts with people in far-off places provided Europeans with information and ideas that contributed in everyday ways to the scientific revolution and that provided explorers with the intellectual and social capital needed to develop science into modern disciplines at home in the metropole. This book poses questions about the changing role of European science and expert knowledge from early colonial times to post-colonial times. How did science shape understanding of Africa in Europe?

and how was scientific knowledge shaped adapted and redefined in African contexts

Making Men in Ghana Stephan Miescher,2005-11-24 By featuring the life histories of eight senior men Making Men in Ghana explores the changing meaning of becoming a man in modern Africa Stephan F Miescher concentrates on the ideals and expectations that formed around men who were prominent in their communities when Ghana became an independent nation Miescher shows how they negotiated complex social and economic transformations and how they dealt with their mounting obligations and responsibilities as leaders in their kinship groups churches and schools Not only were notions about men and masculinity shaped by community standards but they were strongly influenced by imported standards that came from missionaries and other colonial officials As he recounts the life histories of these men Miescher reveals that the passage to manhood and a position of power seniority authority and leadership was not always welcome or easy As an important foil for studies on women and femininity this groundbreaking book not only explores masculinity and ideals of male behavior but offers a fresh perspective on African men in a century of change

Religion in Global Health and Development Benjamin Bronnert Walker,2022-04-20 The COVID 19 pandemic has made evident that the field of global health its practices norms and failures has the power to shape the lives of billions Global health perspectives on the role of religion however are strikingly limited Uncovering the points where religion and global health have connected across the twentieth century focusing on Ghana provides an opportunity to challenge narrow approaches In Religion in Global Health and Development Benjamin Walker shows that the religious features of colonial state architecture were still operating by the turn of the twenty first century Walker surveys the establishment of colonial development projects in the twentieth century with a focus on the period between 1940 and 1990 Crossing the colonial postcolonial divide analyzing local contexts in conjunction with the many layers of international organizations and identifying surprisingly neglected streams of personnel and funding particularly from Dutch and West German Catholics this in depth history offers new ways of conceptualizing global health Patchworks of international humanitarian intervention fragmented government services local communities and the actions of many foreign powers combined to create health services and the state in Ghana Religion in Global Health and Development shows that religion and religious actors were critical to this process socially culturally and politically

Practicing Biomedicine at the Albert Schweitzer Hospital 1913-1965 Tizian Zumthurm,2020-08-10 Tizian Zumthurm uses the extraordinary hospital of an extraordinary man to produce novel insights into the ordinary practice of biomedicine in colonial Central Africa His investigation of therapeutic routines in surgery maternity care psychiatry and the treatment of dysentery and leprosy reveals the incoherent nature of biomedicine and not just in Africa Reading rich archival sources against and along the grain the author combines concepts that appeal to those interested in the history of medicine and colonialism Through the microcosm of the hospital Zumthurm brings to light the social worlds of Gabonese patients as well as European staff By refusing to easily categorize colonial medical encounters the book challenges our understanding of biomedicine as solely domineering or interactive The Basel Evangelical Mission on the Gold Coast, Western Africa, from 1828-1893, 1894 Report, 1940 Colonial Reports - Annual Great Britain. Colonial Office, 1896 Colonial Reports--annual, 1939 The Ghana Reader Kwasi Konadu, Clifford C. Campbell, 2016-02-04 Covering 500 years of Ghana's history The Ghana Reader provides a multitude of historical political and cultural perspectives on this iconic African nation Whether discussing the Asante kingdom and the Gold Coast's importance to European commerce and transatlantic slaving Ghana's brief period under British colonial rule or the emergence of its modern democracy the volume's eighty selections emphasize Ghana's enormous symbolic and pragmatic value to global relations They also demonstrate that the path to fully understanding Ghana requires acknowledging its ethnic and cultural diversity and listening to its population's varied voices Readers will encounter selections written by everyone from farmers traders and the clergy to intellectuals politicians musicians and foreign travelers With sources including historical documents poems treaties articles and fiction The Ghana Reader conveys the multiple and intersecting histories of Ghana's development as a nation its key contribution to the formation of the African diaspora and its increasingly important role in the economy and politics of the twenty first century

Our Own Way in This Part of the World Kwasi Konadu, 2019-04-15 Kofi D nk was a blacksmith and farmer as well as an important healer intellectual spiritual leader settler of disputes and custodian of shared values for his Ghanaian community In Our Own Way in This Part of the World Kwasi Konadu centers D nk's life story and experiences in a communography of D nk's community and nation from the late nineteenth century through the end of the twentieth which were shaped by historical forces from colonial Ghana's cocoa boom to decolonization and political and religious parochialism Although D nk touched the lives of thousands of citizens and patients neither he nor they appear in national or international archives covering the region Yet his memory persists in his intellectual and healing legacy and the story of his community offers a non national decolonized example of social organization structured around spiritual forces that serves as a powerful reminder of the importance for scholars to take their cues from the lived experiences and ideas of the people they study The Colonial Office List Great Britain. Colonial Office, 1946 Departmental Reports Gold Coast, 1919 Includes Report on the blue book and annual reports of various departments It Happened in Ghana. A Historical Romance 1824-1971 Noel Smith, 2007-11-15 It Happened in Ghana carries a positive message Conceived as a literary work it demonstrates that racial prejudice based on skin colour is not a pervasive and unalterable human condition The principal characters who are both Black and White are embroiled in various encounters notably wars slave trade colonialism and post colonial reconstruction Regardless of their skin colour and cultural differences they make friends or fall in love secretly during these encounters When they are forced to part company by the cessation of hostilities or whatever brought them together they serve in various capacities in new locations outside their original places of domicile They are accepted or integrated into existing social structures because of the warmth of their personalities and the manner in which they are able to adjust themselves to the pressures and challenges of new environments. Changes in the circumstances of the principal characters or their descendants enable them not only to restore broken relationships but also to identify themselves with the cause of freedom and justice or to reconnect in various ways with the development aspirations of Ghana where it all started

Problems and Prospects of the Search for a Catholic Spiritual Tradition in the Ghanaian Catholic Pastoral Ministry Norbert Okoledah, 2005

Today Christianity has become the most popular and fast growing religion in Ghana. Paradoxically the Christian Church in whatever form it has taken has for a complexity of reasons basically remained a weak church with a weak foundation. This book discusses from a theologico-cultural anthropological perspective some of the ecclesial and social processes and factors that the author believes are responsible for the creation of this paradox in the case of the Ghanaian Catholic Church and demonstrates how they influence the search for a Catholic spiritual tradition in it
