

Discussion Guide for Grades 3–5

Nothing Wrong with a Three-Legged Dog

Summary

Keath and his best friend Lynda are in the fourth grade. Some kids call Lynda “Zebra” because her mother is black and her father is white. And Keath is “Whitey.” “He’s vanilla in a chocolate school” where Toothpick, a bully, has it in for him. Lynda and Keath both love dogs. Dogs don’t care about what color is the right one. Dogs don’t hate anybody. Their favorite dog is Leftovers, Lynda’s three-legged beagle. When he got hurt, his first owners gave up on him, but Lynda and Keath turn him into a winner, a pooch that shows Keath that sometimes it’s good to stand out, to be special, and that even when you look different, there are ways to fit in.

Requirements

- Nothing Wrong with a Three-Legged Dog
- Definitions Related to Name-Calling, Bullying and Bias (optional)

Prompts for Writing and Discussion

Provided below are questions, by chapter or by theme, related to the themes of bullying and bias that can be used for small or large group discussion, or to guide reflective writing.

[By Chapter]

Chapter One

- How does it make you feel when Keath and Lynda are called names because of their skin color?
- Why do you think some people feel threatened by racial differences or hate others because of their race?
- Keath uses sarcasm or humor to deal with Toothpick’s taunts. Lynda ignores it when she is called a zebra and thinks about the beauty of the real animal instead. Do you think these are effective ways to deal with bullying?

Chapter Two

- Larry explains that Ryan attacked Keath so that he wouldn’t be “the lowest worm on the food chain.” What does he mean by this?
- Does someone always have to be on the “top” or “bottom” when it comes to social life at school? What changes would help to make things more equal or balanced?

Chapter Three

- How do Keath and Larry “stand out” in their school? What makes kids “stand out” in your school?
- Is it a good thing or a bad thing “to stand out” in some way? How do those who are different get treated?
- Describe a time when you wished you could be a chameleon like Keath and blend into the background. Do you think that “disappearing” would have solved all of your problems?

Bullies and Mean Girls in Popular Culture Patrice A. Oppliger,2013-10-03 The numerous anti bullying programs in schools across the United States have done little to reduce the number of reported bullying instances One reason for this is that little attention has been paid to the role of the media and popular culture in adolescents bullying and mean girl behavior This book addresses media role models in television film picture books and the Internet in the realm of bullying and relational aggression It highlights portrayals with unproductive strategies that lead to poor resolutions or no resolution at all Young viewers may learn ineffective even dangerous ways of handling aggressive situations Victims may feel discouraged when they are unable to handle the situation as easily as in media portrayals They may also feel their experiences are trivialized by comic portrayals Entertainment programming aimed particularly at adolescents often portray adults as incompetent or uncaring and include mean spirited teasing In addition overuse of the term bully and defining all bad behavior as bullying may dilute the term and trivialize the problem     Proceedings of the Twenty-first Annual Conference of the Cognitive

Between Two Worlds John Carriero, 2009 Between Two Worlds is an authoritative commentary on and powerful reinterpretation of the founding work of modern philosophy Descartes's Meditations Philosophers have tended to read Descartes's seminal work in an occasional way examining its treatment of individual topics while ignoring other parts of the text In contrast John Carriero provides a sustained systematic reading of the whole text giving a detailed account of the positions against which Descartes was reacting and revealing anew the unity meaning and originality of the Meditations Carriero finds in the Meditations a nearly continuous argument against Thomistic Aristotelian ways of thinking about cognition and shows more clearly than ever before how Descartes bridged the old world of scholasticism and the new one of mechanistic naturalism Rather than casting Descartes's project primarily in terms of skepticism knowledge and certainty Carriero focuses on fundamental disagreements between Descartes and the scholastics over the nature of understanding the relation between the senses and the intellect the nature of the human being and how and to what extent God is cognized by human beings Against this background Carriero shows Descartes developed his own conceptions of mind body and the relation between them creating a coherent philosophically rich project in the Meditations and setting the agenda for a century of rationalist metaphysics

Brentano's Philosophical System Uriah Kriegel, 2018-02-09 Uriah Kriegel presents a rich exploration of the philosophy of the great nineteenth century thinker Franz Brentano He locates Brentano at the crossroads where the Anglo American and continental European philosophical traditions diverged At the centre of this account of Brentano's philosophy is the connection between mind and reality Kriegel aims to develop Brentano's central ideas where they are overly programmatic or do not take into account philosophical developments that have taken place since Brentano's death a century ago and to offer a partial defense of Brentano's system as quite plausible and in any case extraordinarily creative and thought provoking Brentano's system grounds a complete metaphysics and value theory in a well developed philosophy of mind and accordingly the book is divided into three parts devoted to Brentano's philosophy of mind his metaphysics and his moral philosophy The book's fundamental ambition is to show how Brentano combines the clarity and precision of the analytic philosopher with the sweeping vision of the continental philosopher Brentano pays careful attention to important distinctions conscientiously defines key notions presents precise arguments for his claims judiciously considers potential objections and in general proceeds very methodically yet he does so not as an end in itself but as a means only His end is the crafting of a grand philosophical system in the classical sense attempting to produce nothing less than a unified theory of the true the good and the beautiful

The Demands of Taste in Kant's Aesthetics Brent Kalar, 2006-10-15 Typically philosophers have either viewed beauty as objective and judgments of beauty as universally valid or else they have viewed beauty as subjective and regarded judgments of beauty as merely private preferences Immanuel Kant is famous for his unique third path Kant argues that beauty is subjective but the judgment of taste about beauty is capable of universal validity In his view the beautiful is not a feature of objects themselves but merely represents the way we respond to objects Furthermore the judgment of taste about beauty is a merely aesthetic judgment i.e. one based on a feeling of pleasure we take in the object The judgment of taste on the other hand possesses universal validity to call something beautiful is implicitly to demand that all others find it beautiful as well Kant s views about the taste for the beautiful have long been the subject of controversy Scholars have differed over the interpretation of the demand contained in a judgment of taste and whether Kant s attempt to legitimate this demand is successful Brent Kalar argues that the demands of taste should be understood as involving a uniquely aesthetic normativity rooted in Kant s cognitive psychology If the basis of aesthetic pleasure in the activity of the cognitive faculties is properly understood then Kant s attempt to legitimate the demands of taste may be regarded as a success This leads Kalar to give a new interpretation of the nature of the beautiful according to Kant that re-examines the relationship between free play and the form of purposiveness in Kant s aesthetics and restores the aesthetic ideas to their rightful centrality in Kant s theory      Subconscious Power Eugene Victor Legaren,1926
