Novels And Essays Vandover And The Brute McTeague The Octopus Essays:

Novels and Essays Frank Norris, Donald Pizer, 1986 In his brief career he died at 32 Frank Norris introduced fresh and sometimes shocking elements into American fiction Inspired by the naturalistic new novel developed in France by Zola and Flaubert he adapted it to American settings adding his own taste for exciting action and a fascination with the emerging sciences of economics and psychology Vandover and the brute set in a vividly described San Francisco captures with harsh realism the dissipation and decline of a fashionable playboy into virtual bestiality McTeague source for Erich von Stroheim's classic film Greed was a radical departure for its time in its frank treatment of sex domestic violence and pathological obsession revealing the dark underside of San Francisco's new middle class The octopus depicts the epic struggle of strong ruthless California ranchers with the railroad monopoly and its political machine Twenty two essays address theories of literature the state of American fiction and the social responsibilities of the artist The New York Times said An opportunity to read or re read in an authentic new edition the work of one of the trailblazers in American literature Novels and Essays Frank Norris, Donald Pizer, 1986 Vol 33 Novels and Essays Frank Norris, 1986 Novels and Essays Frank Norris, 1984

Bitter Tastes Donna M. Campbell, 2016 Challenging the conventional understandings of literary naturalism defined primarily through its male writers Donna M Campbell examines the ways in which American women writers wrote naturalistic fiction and redefined its principles for their own purposes Bitter Tastes looks at examples from Edith Wharton Kate Chopin Willa Cather Ellen Glasgow and others and positions their work within the naturalistic canon that arose near the turn of the twentieth century Campbell further places these women writers in a broader context by tracing their relationship to early film which like naturalism claimed the ability to represent elemental social truths through a documentary method Women had a significant presence in early film and constituted 40 percent of scenario writers in many cases they also served as directors and producers Campbell explores the features of naturalism that assumed special prominence in women's writing and early film and how the work of these early naturalists diverged from that of their male counterparts in important ways Beyond Narrative Sebastian M. Herrmann, Katja Kanzler, Stefan Schubert, 2022-04-04 This book calls for an investigation of the borderlands of narrativity the complex and culturally productive area where the symbolic form of narrative meets other symbolic logics such as data base play spectacle or ritual It opens up a conversation about the beyond of narrative about the myriad constellations in which narrativity interlaces with rubs against or morphs into the principles of other forms To conceptualize these borderlands the book introduces the notion of narrative liminality which the 16 articles utilize to engage literature popular culture digital technology historical artifacts and other kinds of texts from a time span of close to 200 years Frank Norris and American Naturalism Donald Pizer, 2018-05-30 Frank Norris is a seminal figure in the history of American literary naturalism despite the brevity of his career Frank Norris and American Naturalism brings together in one volume Donald Pizer's lifelong exploration of the naturalist's work ranging from his 1955 discussion of point of view in The Octopus to his 2010 essay on the thematic unity of that novel. The essays in Frank Norris and American Naturalism as a whole seek to demonstrate both the coherence of Norris's thought and his contribution toward the establishment of a specific form of naturalism in America. The collection's principal focus is Norris's most enduring works, the novels McTeague and The Octopus, though his other fiction and literary criticism are also discussed. American Literary Scholarship ALS, American Literary Scholarship, 1993-06 The Nonhuman in American Literary Naturalism Karin M. Danielsson, Kenneth K. Brandt, 2023-09-05 The Nonhuman in American Literary Naturalism responds to a need to expand and refine the connections among nonhuman studies and American literary naturalism and to productively expand the scholarly discourse surrounding this vital movement in American literary history. This collection focuses on that which becomes visible when the human subject is skirted or moved off center in other words, the representation of nonhuman animals and other vital or inert species, things, entities, cityscapes and seascapes that play an important part in American literary naturalism. Informed by animal studies, ecocriticism, posthumanism, new materialism, and other recent theoretical perspectives, the essays in this collection discuss early naturalist texts as well as more recent naturalistic-oriented authors. A Companion to the Modern American Novel, 1900 - 1950 John T. Matthews, 2013-06-10 This cutting-edge Companion is a comprehensive resource for the study of the modern American novel. Published at a time when literary modernism is being thoroughly reassessed, it reflects current investigations into the origins and character of the movement as a whole. Brings together 28 original essays from leading scholars. Allows readers to orient individual works and authors in their principal cultural and social contexts. Contributes to efforts to recover minority voices such as those of African American novelists and popular subgenres such as detective fiction. Directs students to major relevant scholarship for further inquiry. Suggests the many ways that modern American fiction carry new meanings in the twenty-first century. Silent Film and U.S. Naturalist Literature Katherine Fusco, 2016-03-17 Typically, studies of early cinema's relation to literature have focused on the interactions between film and modernism. When film first emerged, however, it was naturalism, not modernism, competing for the American public's attention. In this media ecosystem, the cinema appeared alongside the works of authors including Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Jack London, and Frank Norris. Drawing on contemporaneous theories of time and modernity as well as recent scholarship on film narrative and naturalism, this book moves beyond traditional adaptation studies approaches to argue that both naturalism and the early cinema intervened in the era's varying experiments with temporality and time management. Specifically, it shows that American naturalist novels are constructed around a sustained formal and thematic interrogation of the relationship between human freedom and temporal inexorability and that the early cinema developed its norms in the context of naturalist experiments with time. The book identifies the silent cinema and naturalist novel's shared privileging of narrative progress over character development as a symbolic solution to social and aesthetic concerns ranging from systems of representation to historiography, labor reform, miscegenation, and birth control. This volume thus establishes the dynamic exchange between silent film and naturalism arguing that in the products of this exchange personality figures as excess bogging down otherwise efficient narratives of progress Considering naturalist authors and a diverse range of early film genres this is the first book length study of the reciprocal media exchanges that took place when the cinema was new It will be a valuable resource to those with interests in Adaptation Studies American Literature Film History Literary Naturalism Modernism and Narrative Theory

American Naturalism and the Jews Donald Pizer, 2010-10-01 American Naturalism and the Jews examines the unabashed anti-Semitism of five notable American naturalist novelists otherwise known for their progressive social values Hamlin Garland Frank Norris and Theodore Dreiser all pushed for social improvements for the poor and oppressed while Edith Wharton and Willa Cather both advanced the public status of women But they all also expressed strong prejudices against the Jewish race and faith throughout their fiction essays letters and other writings producing a contradiction in American literary history that has stymied scholars and until now gone largely unexamined In this breakthrough study Donald Pizer confronts this disconcerting strain of anti-Semitism pervading American letters and culture illustrating how easily prejudice can coexist with even the most progressive ideals Pizer shows how these writers' racist impulses represented more than just personal biases but resonated with larger social and ideological movements within American culture Anti-Semitic sentiment motivated such various movements as the western farmers' populist revolt and the East Coast patricians' revulsion against immigration both of which Pizer discusses here This antagonism toward Jews and other non-Anglo-Saxon ethnicities intersected not only with these authors' social reform agendas but also with their literary method of representing the overpowering forces of heredity social or natural environment and savage instinct

San Francisco in Fiction David M. Fine, Paul Skenazy, 1995 In the beginning there was the bay the land the forty-three hills the coastline down to Monterey the strip of mountains the quiet valley behind the vast ocean the hidden faults And with the landscape came the stories as Paul Skenazy and David Fine note in their introduction to this new anthology of essays San Francisco is as much a place in the mind as on the map if the terrain set the stage for the stories the stories have helped remake our perceptions of the space These twelve essays explore the relationship between place and prose between San Francisco the city and San Francisco the territory of fiction From the Gold Rush times of Mark Twain and Bret Harte through the Prohibition Era of Dashiell Hammett to the Beat days of Jack Kerouac and the present works of writers like Maxine Hong Kingston Amy Tan and Arturo Islas San Francisco has been blessed with great writers who have given life to the land in their fiction These essays engage the history and geography ethnic gender and class conflicts and stylistic range of the fiction They demonstrate how authors as various as Jack London Gertrude Atherton Frank Norris William Saroyan James D. Houston Joan Didion and Wallace Stegner have re-created and revised our understanding of this region

Overwhelmed Maurice S. Lee, 2024-06-04 This book looks at how debates over the fate of literature in our digital age are powerfully conditioned by the nineteenth century's information revolution It explains what happens to literature during an information revolution and how readers and writers adapt to proliferating data and texts both today and in the nineteenth century Explores four key areas reading searching counting and testing and analyzes diverse writings from canonical works to lesser known texts Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady, 2012-12-06 Reader's Guide Literature in English provides expert guidance to and critical analysis of the vast number of books available within the subject of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the current American British and Commonwealth scene It is designed to help students teachers and librarians choose the most appropriate books for research and study MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures ,1999 Encyclopedia of American Literature Manly, Inc., 2013-06 Susan Clair Imbarrato Carol Berkin Brett Barney Lisa Paddock Matthew J Brucoli George Parker Anderson Judith S Fighting Words Ira Wells, 2013-06-25 An entirely new understanding of what literary naturalism is and why it matters Ira Wells countering the standard narrative of literary naturalism's much touted concern with environmental and philosophical determinism draws attention to the polemical essence of the genre and demonstrates how literary naturalists engaged instead with explosive political and cultural issues that remain fervently debated today Naturalist writers Wells argues in Fighting Words are united less by a coherent philosophy than by an attitude a posture of aggressive controversy which happens to cluster loosely around particular social issues To an extent not yet appreciated literary naturalists took controversial and frequently contrarian positions on a wide range of literary political and social issues Frank Norris for instance famously declared the innate inferiority of female novelists and frequently wrote about literature in tones suggestive of racial warfare Theodore Dreiser once advocated with deadly earnestness a program of state run infanticide for disabled or unwanted children Richard Wright praised the Stalin Hitler agreement of 1939 as a great step toward peace While many of their arguments were irascible attention seeking and self consciously inflammatory the combative spirit that fueled these outbursts remains central to the canonical texts of the movement Wells considers Frank Norris's The Octopus in light of the emerging discourses of environmentalism and ecological despoliation and examines the issue of abortion in Theodore Dreiser's An American Tragedy A chapter on Richard Wright's Native Son takes issue with traditional humanistic readings of its protagonist by analyzing the disturbing relationship between terrorism and lynching as a crime and punishment that resists formal incorporation into the law By highlighting the contentious rhetoric that infuses the canonical texts of literary naturalism Fighting Words opens up a wide ranging and interdisciplinary interrogation of racial sexual and environmental polemics in American culture Norris: Novels and Essays Frank Frank Norris, 2018-05-12 Always blame conditions not men Frank Norris Frank Norris The Octopus A Story of California Vandover And The Brute McTeague A Story of San Francisco A Companion to American Fiction, 1865 - 1914 Robert Paul Lamb, G.
