A cross between Margaret Atwood and Patricia Highsmith Fielding is a master of anticipation and knows how to create a labyrinth of tension never providing an exit until the very last page Toronto Globe Mail Marcy Taggart lost her 21 year old daughter Devon in a canoeing accident the year before But because Devon's body was never recovered from the waters Marcy has found it difficult to come to terms with her death and keeps seeing her daughter in the faces of strangers Now on a holiday to Ireland which should have been a celebration of her 25th wedding anniversary until her husband left her for another woman Marcy is convinced she has just seen Devon walk past the table where she is sitting outside a caf in Cork Desperate to appease her paranoia and lay her daughter's ghost to rest once and for all Marcy begins a search to find Devon But the truth although her only salvation is even more disturbing than she could ever have imagined Those familiar with Patricia Highsmith's particular brand of sinister storytelling will recognize the mayhem Fielding so cunningly unleashes Publishers Weekly Now You See It . . . Bathsheba Monk, 2003-08-18 It's pretty much a straight shot from the upstate New York towns of Richard Russo's books to Bathsheba Monk's Cokesville PA This is coal and steel country The sort of place where an inch of soot on the windowsill means a regular paycheck and two inches means a fat one And what's the best make out spot in town Next to the burning slag heap In seventeen beguiling linked stories spanning forty five years Monk brings a corner of America alive as never before Her world bursts with indelible characters Mrs Szilborski who bakes great cake but sprays her neighbors dogs with mace and Mrs Wojic who believes her husband was reincarnated as one of those dogs Then there is the younger generation Annie Kusiak who wants to write and Theresa Gojuk who dreams of stardom Cokesville is their Yoknapatawpha they ache to escape it and the ghosts of their ancestors and the regret of their parents What ghosts and what regrets When Theresa's father Bruno falls into a vat of molten steel the mill gives the family an ingot roughly his weight to bury As deliciously wry as Allegra Goodman in The Family Markowitz and with the matter of fact humanity of Grace Paley Bathsheba Monk leads us into a world that is at once totally surprising and recognizable These stories glow like molten steel
