Politics and Sustainable Growth in the Arctic Jyrki Käkönen, 1993 This collection of papers on the future of the Arctic considers the region in several aspects including the theory of a peripheral economy security knowledge based development financial resources and the role of traditional cultures and knowledge in the political economy The Politics of Sustainability in the Arctic Ulrik Pram Gad, Jeppe Strandsbjerg, 2018-10-04 The Politics of Sustainability in the Arctic argues that sustainability is a political concept because it defines and shapes competing visions of the future In current Arctic affairs prominent stakeholders agree that development needs to be sustainable but there is no agreement over what it is that needs to be sustained In original conservationist discourse the environment was the sole referent object of sustainability however as sustainability discourses have expanded the concept has been linked to an increasing number of referent objects such as society economy culture and identity This book sets out a theoretical framework for understanding and analysing sustainability as a political concept and provides a comprehensive empirical investigation of Arctic sustainability discourses Presenting a range of case studies from Greenland Norway Canada Russia Iceland and Alaska the chapters in this volume analyse the concept of sustainability and how actors are employing and contesting this concept in specific regions within the Arctic In doing so the book demonstrates how sustainability is being given new meanings in the postcolonial Arctic and what the political implications are for postcoloniality nature and development more broadly Beyond those interested in the Arctic this book will also be of great value to students and scholars of sustainability sustainable development and identity and environmental politics Politics and Development in the North American Arctic Roman S. A Place Called Nunavut Karin Irma Margot van Dam, Kim van Dam, 2008 In 1999 Nunavut Territory was created in the Canadian Arctic The area is about 50 times as large as the Netherlands and is inhabited by a population of 30 000 85% of the population is Inuit the indigenous people in this area The central questions in this research project are what place or regional identities are being ascribed to Nunavut by different groups of people from within and from outside the region and how do these identities work In the process of the formation of the region the territorial Government of Nunavut is an important actor in producing a regional identity that is based on the cultural identity of the Inuit the Inuit Homeland This official regional identity creates a symbolic unity that is important in linking people to the region and through which the land the history and the people are united in a new territorial membership However there is no reason to assume that there is only one regional identity for Nunavut Different individuals or groups of people from within and from outside the region such as the people who live in one of the 25 communities and those who work for the multinational mining corporations or as tourist operators are also involved in the production and reproduction of identities for Nunavut They represent Nunavut for example as a place to live a resource region a wilderness or as a sustainable place Nunavut Government also links these alternative identities to the area because as a government they are not only interested in protecting Inuit culture but also aim to modernize the economy in order to enhance prosperity and well being As such the place identities are hybrid and identities that before were produced only by external actors are now also being produced by internal actors and vice versa
