A New Model of Religious Conversion Ines W. Jindra, 2014-02-06 Based on the analysis of 52 conversion narratives to various religious groups A New Model of Religious Conversion utilizes case studies for comparison of converts backgrounds network influence and conversion narratives The author convincingly illustrates a fit between the converts background and the religion they convert to such as between disorganized family backgrounds and highly structured religions Conversely those from highly structured backgrounds often convert to more open groups The book also makes it clear that not all conversions are influenced by networks or align themselves with a social constructivist view of a conversion as an account Taking converts trajectories seriously the author makes a strong case for the application of biographical sociology to the study of conversion and American sociology overall

Protestants, Gender and the Arab Renaissance in Late Ottoman Syria Womack Deanna Ferree Womack, 2019-03-14 The Ottoman Syrians residents of modern Syria and Lebanon formed the first Arabic speaking Evangelical Church in the region This book offers a fresh narrative of the encounters of this minority Protestant community with American missionaries Eastern churches and Muslims at the height of the Nahda from 1860 to 1915 Drawing on rare Arabic publications it challenges historiography that focuses on Western male actors Instead it shows that Syrian Protestant women and men were agents of their own history who sought the salvation of Syria while adapting and challenging missionary teachings These pioneers established a critical link between evangelical religiosity and the socio cultural currents of the Nahda making possible the literary and educational achievements of the American Syrian Mission and transforming Syrian society in ways that still endure today

Religion and Space Lily Kong, Orlando Woods, 2016-02-11 This is the first study to bring space into conversation with religious competition conflict and violence in the contemporary world Lily Kong and Orlando Woods argue that because space is both a medium and an outcome of religious activity it is integral to understanding processes of religious competition conflict and violence The book explores how religious groups make claims to both religious and secular spaces and examines how such claims are managed negotiated and contested by the state and by other secular and religious agencies It also examines how globalisation has given rise to new forms of religious competition and how religious groups strengthen themselves through the development of social resilience as well as contribute to resilient societies Throughout the book case studies from around the world are used to examine how religious competition and conflict intersect with space The case studies include topical issues such as competing claims to the Temple Mount Haram el Sharif in Jerusalem opposition to the Ground Zero mosque in New York City and the regulation of religious conversion in India and Sri Lanka By helping readers develop new perspectives on how religion works in and through space Religion and Space Competition Conflict and Violence in the Contemporary World is an innovative contribution to the study of religion

while proposing the concept of everyday conversion as a way to think more broadly about emergent forms of subjectivity affinity and belonging "Kingdom-Minded" People Denise Austin, 2011-09-20 During the early twentieth century in China a number of key economic leaders converted to Christianity Whilst strongly influenced by cultural heritage powerful modernizing forces and tumultuous political changes the new Christian identity inculcated by Protestant missionaries motivated these entrepreneurs to modify their business practices improve their social environment and extend the influence of Christianity Protestant and Catholic sojourners likewise made significant contributions into their adopted communities With unprecedented economic growth in China today a fascinating contemporary parallel can be seen particularly through the influence of Pentecostal charismatic and evangelical training Previous research has explored the emergence of the urban Christian lite in modern China However this systematic study provides new understanding of how Christian identity motivates Chinese business Christians toward economic social and religious contribution Religiosity and Recognition Thomas Sealy, 2021-06-28 This book argues that multiculturalism remains a relevant and vital framework through which to understand and construct inclusive forms of citizenship Responding to contemporary ethnic and religious diversity in European states and the position of religious minorities debates in multiculturalism have revitalized discussion of the public role of religion yet multiculturalism has been increasingly challenged in both political as well as academic circles With a focus on Britain and through a study of the narratives of British converts to Islam this book engages in debates centered around multiculturalism particularly on the issues of identity recognition and difference Yet it also identifies and interrogates multiculturalism's shortcomings in relation to specifically religious identities and belonging In a unique and innovative analysis this book combines a discussion of multiculturalism in Britain with insights from political theology It juxtaposes multiculturalism's concepts of ethno religious identity and recognition with the notions of religiosity and hospitality to offer a new perspective on religious identity and the implications of this for thinking with and about multiculturalism and multicultural social and political relations Spiritual and Religious Competencies in Clinical Practice Cassandra Vieten, Shelley Scammell, 2015-09-01 Religion lies at the heart of many clients core values and helps shape their perception of themselves and the world around them In Spiritual and Religious Competencies in Clinical Practice two clinical psychologists provide a much needed research based road map to help professionals appropriately address their clients spiritual or religious beliefs in treatment sessions This book is a must read for any mental health professional Crises and Conversions Minoo Mirshahvalad, 2024-05-13 This book explores the phenomenon of conversion to Shi'a Islam in Italy It thoroughly examines the motivations behind this religious transition and scrutinizes the doctrinal characteristics that Shiism incorporates thanks to the contributions of Italian converts The text emphasizes the significance of Ren Gu non s Traditionalism as a pivotal factor in driving this religious mobility Additionally the book delves into the writings of figures such as Julius Evola who introduced Gu non to Italy shedding light on Evola's impact on the youth in the post World War II

Pentecostals, Proselytization, and Anti-Christian Violence in Contemporary India Chad M. Bauman, 2015-01-02 Every year there are several hundred attacks on India's Christians These attacks are carried out by violent anti minority activists many of them provoked by what they perceive to be a Christian propensity for aggressive proselytization or by rumored or real conversions to the faith Pentecostals are disproportionately targeted Drawing on extensive interviews ethnographic work and a vast scholarly literature on interreligious violence Hindu nationalism and Christianity in India Chad Bauman examines this phenomenon While some of the factors in the targeting of Pentecostals are obvious and expected their relatively greater evangelical assertiveness for instance other significant factors are less acknowledged and more surprising marginalization of Pentecostals by mainstream Christians the social location of Pentecostal Christians and transnational flows of missionary personnel theories and funds A detailed analysis of Indian Christian history contemporary Indian politics Indian social and cultural characteristics and Pentecostal belief and practice this volume sheds important light on a troubling fact of contemporary Indian life

Contested Conversions to Islam Tijana Krstić, 2011-05-13 This book explores how Ottoman Muslims and Christians understood the phenomenon of conversion to Islam from the 15th to the 17th centuries The Ottomans ruled over a large non Muslim population and conversion to Islam was a contentious subject for all communities especially Muslims themselves Ottoman Muslim and Christian authors sought to define the boundaries and membership of their communities while promoting their own religious and political agendas Tijana Krstić argues that the production and circulation of narratives about conversion to Islam was central to the articulation of Ottoman imperial identity and Sunni Muslim orthodoxy in the long 16th century Placing the evolution of Ottoman attitudes toward conversion and converts in the broader context of Mediterranean wide religious trends and the Ottoman rivalry with the Habsburgs and Safavids Contested Conversions to Islam draws on a variety of sources including first person conversion narratives and Orthodox Christian neomartyrologies to reveal the interplay of individual inter communal local and imperial initiatives that influenced the process of conversion

Migration and the Making of Global Christianity Jehu J. Hanciles, 2021-03-16 A magisterial sweep through 1500 years of Christian history with a groundbreaking focus on the missionary role of migrants in its spread Human migration has long been identified as a driving force of historical change Building on this understanding Jehu Hanciles surveys the history of Christianity's global expansion from its origins through 1500 CE to show how migration more than official missionary activity or imperial designs played a vital role in making

Christianity the world's largest religion Church history has tended to place a premium on political power and institutional forms thus portraying Christianity as a religion disseminated through official representatives of church and state But as Hanciles illustrates this top down perspective overlooks the multifarious array of social movements cultural processes ordinary experiences and non elite activities and decisions that contribute immensely to religious encounter and exchange Hanciles's socio historical approach to understanding the growth of Christianity as a world religion disrupts the narrative of Western preeminence while honoring and making sense of the diversity of religious expression that has characterized the world Christian movement for two millennia In turning the focus of the story away from powerful empires and heroic missionaries Migration and the Making of Global Christianity instead tells the more truthful story of how every Christian migrant is a vessel for the spread of the Christian faith in our deeply interconnected world
