Why We Forget and How to Remember Better Andrew E. Budson, Elizabeth A. Kensinger, 2023 One of us Elizabeth had the opportunity to conduct research with a gentleman named Henry Molaison better known by his initials H M 1 who had the interior portion of his left and right temporal lobes the part of your brain next to your temples removed in 1953 because of epileptic seizures that were difficult to control From a technical standpoint the surgical procedures went fine But as he recovered the doctors and researchers soon noticed something very troubling he was unable to form any new memories He could read and talk and if you were having a brief conversation with him you would probably not notice anything amiss But family members would visit and although he knew who they were he would have no memory of them coming New doctors would introduce themselves and the next day or even the next hour he did not recall that he had met them It was then that the doctors understood that somehow the removal of those parts of the temporal lobe caused him to become completely amnesic

We Are What We Remember Laura Mattoon D'Amore, Jeffrey Meriwether, 2013-01-16 Commemorative practices are revised and rebuilt based on the spirit of the time in which they are re created Historians sometimes imagine that commemoration captures history but actually commemoration creates new narratives about history that allow people to interact with the past in a way that they find meaningful As our social values change race gender religion sexuality class our commemorations do too We Are What We Remember The American Past Through Commemoration analyzes current trends in the study of historical memory that are particularly relevant to our own present our biases our politics our contextual moment and strive to name forgotten overlooked and denied pasts in traditional histories Race gender and sexuality for example raise questions about our most treasured myths where were the slaves at Jamestowne How do women or lesbians protect and preserve their own histories when no one else wants to write them Our current social climate allows us to question authority and especially the authoritative definitions of nation patriotism and heroism and belonging How do we un commemorate things that were mis commemorated in the past How do we repair the damage done by past commemorations The chapters in this book contributed by eighteen emerging and established scholars examine these modern questions that entirely reimagine the landscape of commemoration as it has been practiced and studied before

YOUNG CHILDREN have hundreds of tales to tell most of them humorous with a special blend of love and emotion. I tried to share some of my favorites from these formative years. THE TEENAGERS are so much more secretive in their storytelling. My parents hadn't a clue as to what was going on in my mind during the mid 1940's. Read about how we all share in the triumphs and the disappointments of our teen years. LOVE MARRIAGE CHILDREN go hand in hand along with trying to build a home literally for your family. Raising children is a wonderful experience. This portion of the book contains more humor than I anticipated. Most of us can relate to these sentimental anecdotes. OLD AGE brings with it a multitude of problems but I wouldn't change it for the world. It also brings grandchildren who light up my life and make each day a joy. I have attempted to write about all the inspiration
