Metaphor And Materiality:

Metaphor and Material Culture Christopher Tilley, 1991-01-16 This book provides an innovative contribution to debates about the use of metaphor in the social sciences written by one of today's foremost archaeological theorists Making Worlds Susan Hardy Aiken, Ann Brigham, Sallie A. Marston, Penny M. Waterstone, 2022-02-08 Making Worlds brings together thirty one distinguished feminist activists artists and scholars to address a series of questions that resonate with increasing urgency in our current global environment How is space imagined represented arranged and distributed What are the lived consequences of these configurations And how are these questions affected by gender and other socially constructed categories of difference race ethnicity sexuality class nationality How are the symbolic formations of place and space marked by cultural ideologies that carry across into the places and spaces we inhabit the boundaries and institutions we maintain In recent years these questions have occasioned intensifying debates but they have seldom extended beyond the boundaries of individual academic disciplines or crossed the divide that has traditionally separated the academy from the outside world Making Worlds both questions and traverses those divisions by combining personal essays activist political rhetoric oral history poetry iconography and performance art with interdisciplinary academic discourses Representing a wide range of perspectives Making Worlds develops a provocative conversation about gender and spatiality in the interwoven symbolic and material environments we create The contributors engage such issues as the body as site of symbolic action fabrication and desire the place and play of sexualities the cultural implications of everyday life home travel work childbirth food disease and death technology and mass media surveillance confinement and the law the dynamics of race and ethnicity imperialism oppression and resistance the politics of urban spaces landscape and cultural memory the experience of time and the nature of Nature For students and scholars in cultural studies geography literary criticism anthropology history and women's studies it offers new ways of thinking about space place and the spatial contexts of social thought and action Visual Metaphors and Aesthetics Michalle Gal, 2022-05-19 This book offers a new definition of metaphor as an ontological and visual construction whose roots are external visual forms and its motivation is our attachment to forms This definition which Michalle Gal names visualist challenges the ruling conceptualist theory of metaphors and places a new emphasis on how we experience rather than understand metaphors In doing so she responds to the visual turn that is taking place in literature and the media demanding that the visual become a site of philosophical analysis This focus on the external visual world allows Gal to employ visual theories to capture the essence of metaphor She looks beyond conceptual or semantic mechanism and returns to theories of Arnheim and Gombrich and the current evolution of ideas about the visual or material and embodied cognition Proposing to see visual metaphors in their basic form she uses a new externalist terminology of ontology visibility composition affordance construction and emergence Setting out a new theory that takes into account that humans are visual no less than cognitive creatures Visual Metaphors and Aesthetics lays the foundation for a new vocabulary to talk about metaphors The Material Culture Reader Victor Buchli, 2020-05-31 Material culture has finally earned a central place within anthropology Emerging from the pioneering work done at University College London this reader brings together for the first time seminal articles that have helped shape the anthropological study of material culture With topics ranging from the anthropology of art to architecture landscape studies archaeology consumption studies and heritage management this key text reflects the breadth of material culture studies today The authors who discuss field sites as distant as Vanuatu New Ireland Trinidad and Soviet Russia show how material culture provides a new lens for viewing the world around us and effectively bridges the gap between theory and data Providing the first ever synthesis of these ground breaking essays in an easily accessible volume this book will serve as a comprehensive introduction to the subject and a valuable reference guide for anyone interested in material culture anthropology art and museum studies Elemental Ecocriticism Jeffrey Jerome Cohen, Lowell Duckert, 2015-12-23 For centuries it was believed that all matter was composed of four elements earth air water and fire in promiscuous combination bound by love and pulled apart by strife Elemental theory offered a mode of understanding materiality that did not center the cosmos around the human Outgrown as a science the elements are now what we build our houses against Their renunciation has fostered only estrangement from the material world The essays collected in Elemental Ecocriticism show how elemental materiality precipitates new engagements with the ecological Here the classical elements reveal the vitality of supposedly inert substances mud water earth air chemical processes fire and natural phenomena as well as the promise in the abandoned and the unreal ether phlogiston spontaneous generation Decentering the human this volume provides important correctives to the idea of the material world as mere resource Three response essays meditate on the connections of this collaborative project to the framing of modern day ecological concerns A renewed intimacy with the elemental holds the potential of a more dynamic environmental ethics and the possibility of a reinvigorated materialism Material Culture and Sedition, 1688-1760 M. Pittock, 2013-10-18 Material Culture and Sedition 1688 1760 is a groundbreaking study of the ways in which material culture and its associated designs rituals and symbols was used to avoid prosecution for treason and sedition in the British Isles The fresh theoretical model it presents challenges existing accounts of the public sphere and consumer culture The Materiality of Ancient Greek Identities, 9th to 2nd Centuries BCE Emma Gooch, Jerome Ruddick, 2025-08-07 Material culture is the physical trace of what was used to construct and define identities in the past and is therefore a key source of evidence for archaeologists and ancient historians investigating ancient identities The focus of this volume is reflective of broader theoretical and methodological shifts in recent cross disciplinary explorations of identity Through the use of case studies each chapter demonstrates the benefits and crucial need to embrace inter and multi disciplinary approaches when investigating life and society in ancient Greece In particular this book covers the ever increasing spectrum of identities across the ancient Greek world ranging from collective groups such as women migrants children and slaves to individual figures Using archaeological iconographic and textual material as the basis of each exploration the contributors seek to understand the intersectional nature of what it meant to be an individual or group within a recognised social identity in ancient Greece More specifically this involves the analysis of various types of material culture such as artefacts from burials excavated settlements figurines statuary painted pottery small finds and monuments The contributors study the material using geo spatial and architectural methods along with more traditional approaches such as epigraphy Among other conclusions the chapters investigate the experiences of identity what the experience of having a particular identity was like as far as we can ascertain in ancient Greece as represented by the archaeological material record

T.S. Eliot, Poetry, and Earth Etienne Terblanche, 2016-05-12 T S Eliot enjoyed a profound relationship with Earth Criticism of his work does not suggest that this exists in his poetic oeuvre Writing into this gap Etienne Terblanche demonstrates that Eliot presents Earth as a process in which humans immerse themselves The Waste Land and Four Quartets in particular re locate the modern reader towards mindfulness of Earth s continuation and one s radical becoming within that process But what are the potential implications for ecocriticism Based on its careful reading of the poems from a new material perspective this book shows how vital it has become for ecocriticism to be skeptical about the extent of its skepticism to follow instead the twentieth century s most important poet who at the end of searing skepticism finds affirmation of Earth art and real presence

Early Modern Theatre and the Figure of Disability Genevieve

Love, 2018-10-18 What work did physically disabled characters do for the early modern theatre Through a consideration of a range of plays including Doctor Faustus and Richard III Genevieve Love argues that the figure of the physically disabled prosthetic body in early modern English theatre mediates a set of related likeness problems that structure the theatrical textual and critical lives of the plays of Shakespeare and his contemporaries The figure of disability stands for the relationship between actor and character prosthetic disabled characters with names such as Cripple and Stump capture the simultaneous presence of the fictional and the material embodied world of the theatre When the figure of the disabled body exits the stage it also mediates a second problem of likeness between plays in their performed and textual forms While supposedly imperfect textual versions of plays have been characterized as lame the dynamic movement of prosthetic disabled characters in the theatre expands the figural role which disability performs in the relationship between plays on the stage and on the page Early Modern Theatre and the Figure of Disability reveals how attention to physical disability enriches our understanding of early modern ideas about how theatre works while illuminating in turn how theatre offers a reframing of disability as metaphor

Oral Tradition and Book Culture Pertti Anttonen, Cecilia af Forselles, Kirsti Salmi-Niklander, 2018-10-17

Traditionally oral traditions were considered to diffuse only orally outside the influence of literature and other printed media Eventually more attention was given to interaction between literacy and orality but it is only recently that oral tradition has come to be seen as a modern construct both conceptually and in terms of accessibility Oral traditions cannot be studied independently from the culture of writing and reading Lately a new interdisciplinary interest has risen to study interconnections between oral tradition and book culture In addition to the use and dissemination of printed books newspapers etc book culture denotes manuscript media and the circulation of written documents of oral tradition in and through the archive into published collections Book culture also intertwines the process of framing and defining oral genres with literary interests and ideologies In addition to writing and reading the study of oral traditions must also take into consideration the culture of publishing The present volume highlights varied and selected aspects of the expanding field of research into oral tradition and book culture The questions discussed include the following How have printing and book publishing set terms for oral tradition scholarship How have the practices of reading affected the circulation of oral traditions Which books and publishing projects have played a key role in this and how How have the written representations of oral traditions as well as the roles of editors and publishers introduced authorship to materials customarily regarded as anonymous and collective The editors represent some of the key institutions in the study of oral traditions in Finland the University of Helsinki the Finnish Literature Society and the University of Eastern Finland The authors are folklorists anthropologists historians and literary historians and scholars in information studies from Finland Sweden Norway Ireland and the United States

Angry Planet Anne Stewart, 2023-01-17

Before the idea of the Anthropocene there was the angry planet How might we understand an earthquake as a complaint or erosion as a form of protest in short the Earth as an angry planet Many novels from the end of the millennium did just that centering around an Earth that acts moves shapes human affairs and creates dramatic nonanthropogenic change In Angry Planet Anne Stewart uses this literature to develop a theoretical framework for reading with and through planetary motion Typified by authors like Colson Whitehead Octavia Butler and Leslie Marmon Silko whose work anticipates contemporary critical concepts of entanglement withdrawal delinking and resurgence angry planet fiction coalesced in the 1990s and delineated the contours of a decolonial ontology Stewart shows how this fiction brought Black and Indigenous thought into conversation offering a fresh account of globalization in the 1990s from the perspective of the American Third World construing it as the era that first made connections among environmental crises and antiracist and decolonial struggles By synthesizing these major intersections of thought production in the final decades of the twentieth century Stewart offers a recent history of dissent to the young movements of the twenty first century As she reveals this knowledge is crucial to incipient struggles of our contemporary era as our political imaginaries grapple with the major challenges of white nationalism and climate change denial

Reading Embodied Citizenship Emily Russell, 2011-02-25

Liberal individualism a foundational concept of American politics assumes an essentially homogeneous population of independent citizens When confronted with physical disability and the contradiction of seemingly unruly bodies however the public searches for a story that can make sense of the difference The narrative that ensues makes abnormality an important part of the dialogue about what a genuine citizen is though its role is concealed as an exception to the rule of individuality rather than a defining difference Reading Embodied Citizenship brings disability to the forefront illuminating its role in constituting what counts as U S citizenship Drawing from major figures in American literature including Mark Twain Flannery O Connor Carson McCullers and David Foster Wallace as well as introducing texts from the emerging canon of disability studies Emily Russell demonstrates the place of disability at the core of American ideals The narratives prompted by the encounter between physical difference and the body politic require a new understanding of embodiment as a necessary conjunction of physical textual and social bodies Russell examines literature to explore and unsettle long held assumptions about American citizenship

From Gluttony to Enlightenment Viktoria von Hoffmann, 2016-12-08 Scorned since antiquity as low and animal the sense of taste is celebrated today as an ally of joy a source of adventure and an arena for pursuing sophistication The French exalted taste as an entrance to ecstasy and revolutionized their cuisine and language to express this new way of engaging with the world Viktoria von Hoffmann explores four kinds of early modern texts culinary medical religious and philosophical to follow taste's ascent from the sinful to the beautiful Combining food studies and sensory history she takes readers on an odyssey that redefined a fundamental human experience Scholars and cooks rediscovered a vast array of ways to prepare and present foods Far sailing fleets returned to Europe bursting with new vegetables exotic fruits and pungent spices Hosts refined notions of hospitality in the home while philosophers pondered the body and its perceptions As von Hoffmann shows these labors produced a sea change in perception and thought one that moved taste from the base realm of the tongue to the ethereal heights of aesthetics

Love Poetry in the Spanish Golden Age Isabel Torres, 2013 This work engages with a broader evaluation of early modern poetics that foregrounds the processes rather than the products of thinking The locus of the study is the Imperial home space where love poetry meets early modern empire at the inception of a very conflicted national consciousness and where the vernacular language Castilian emerges in the encounter as a strategic site of national and imperial identity The political is therefore a pervasive presence teased out where relevant in recognition of the poet's sensitivity to the ideologies within which writing comes into being But the primary commitment of the book is to lyric poetry and to poets individually and in their dynamic interconnectedness Moving beyond a reevaluation of critical responses to four major poets of the period Garcilaso de la Vega Herrera Gongora and Quevedo this study disengages respectfully with the substantial body of biographical research that continues to impact upon our understanding of the genre and renegotiates the Foucauldian concept of the epistemic break often associated with the anti-mimetic impulses of the Baroque This more flexible model accommodates the multiperspectivism that interrogated Imperial ideology even in the earliest sixteenth century poetry and allows for the exploration of new horizons in interpretation Cover page 4
