Regional Development In Europe Recent Initiatives And Experiences:

Regional Development in Europe Jürgen Allesch, 1989 Regional Innovation Systems - An Analysis of Innovation Policy Instruments Michael Bison, 2007-02-01 Inhaltsangabe Abstract Innovation is essential for the competitiveness of companies within the globalised knowledge economy In the actual situation of high unemployment rates in most western countries public economy support works thereby actively on the improvement of innovation activity conditions The regional level is for this attempt the most interesting spatial entity because of its high significance in global economic mechanisms The questions motivating this master thesis are how regional innovation policy can improve a regional innovation system and which of the possible policy instruments the most effective ones are to combat unemployment Innovations are the new combination of recent or established knowledge whose implementation had a noticeable effect on the performance of the organisation it was implemented in This includes product process organisational and people innovations Innovations are not anymore an individual effort but a process which involves many actors and institutions The basis for the exploration of how to support the development and implementation of these innovations is the regional innovation system approach It divides the innovation process into phases and their linkages and allows identifying analytically the evolved actors and the weaknesses of the innovation process The analysis of innovation policy instruments assigns each weakness within the innovation process an instrument which is explained and analysed in detail The examined instruments are competence centres start up centres science parks networks regional knowledge management and diffusion agencies Each instrument s function and its main characteristics get described together with a best practice example which leads to a conclusion on its effects on innovation and employment The result of the analysis is that competence centres start up centres and science parks are central instruments and have the highest potential for employment effects Networks regional knowledge management and diffusion agencies are more supporting measures that improve the performance of the first three For the success of all instruments their combination with each other and the utilisation of synergies and dependencies between them is essential A holistic concept including all instruments is the most effective way to support regional innovation processes These findings get transferred to the case study region Bonn where as an example for an Protected Areas and Regional Development in Europe Ingo Mose, 2016-04-15 While originally created as reserves for beautiful landscapes and endangered species protected areas in Europe were subsequently used as a means to preserve whole ecosystems with restrictions on human activities and impacts More recently protected areas are also being considered as instruments for regional development particularly in marginal regions facing severe economic and socio cultural problems Contrary to previous conservation focused policies new approaches aim to blend conservation and development functions making protected areas real living landscapes and integrating activities such as agriculture forestry handicrafts tourism and education with the conservation and sustainability aspects The past decade has seen a marked increase in these innovative and dynamic types of protected areas However the policies of individual European countries are very varied This volume provides a comprehensive overview of the relationship between protected areas and regional development policies both in theory and practice Illustrated with a wide range of case studies from across Europe it compares the different concepts strategies and instruments being used In conclusion it suggests the most innovative and successful ways to use protected areas for regeneration and sustainable regional development Regional Development in Europe Jürgen Allesch,2012-10-25 No detailed description available for Regional Development in Europe Regional Development Strategies Jeremy Alden,Philip Boland,2013-10-18 Regional development strategies have become the focus of attention in many countries in the 1990s This textbook provides a conceptual theoretical and empirical analysis of regional development strategies within a European context It examines the various regional development strategies which are currently being pursued within the regions of Europe defined in its loosest term to include East and West The book describes how many different European regions are attempting to reduce regional disparities by engaging themselves in coherent and focused regional development strategies and there is also private sector approach to regional economic development There are many case studies from Europe and from other parts of the world including Japan thereby providing lessons that different countries and regions can learn from each other Local Development and Economic Policy: a European Forum Maurizio Baussola,Enrico Ciciotti,2005 A Modern Guide to National Urban Policies in Europe Karsten Zimmermann,Valeria Fedeli,2021-04-30 Written in a clear and concise style this Modern Guide provide a timely overview and comparison of urban challenges and national urban policies in 13 European countries addressing key issues such as housing urban regeneration and climate change A team of international contributors explore the gap between the rise of international urban agendas and variegated national urban policies examining whether a more bespoke approach is better than the traditional one size fits all The Regions and the New Europe Martin Rhodes,1995 The contributors argue that some regions such as Emilia Romagna Baden Wurttemberg and Rhone Alpes have been highly successful in launching regional development strategies Others such as the English and certain southern European regions lack the economic resources and institutional structures to follow these examples The book analyses the reasons for success and failure and considers the strategic development options open to the less developed European regions

Regional Behaviour Dimitrios C. Christopoulos,2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2001 In the framework of the EU a number of policies have been devised for regions in order to facilitate their balanced economic development The author argues that the focus on regional planners and their actions in academic literature has obscured the importance of regional elites in this process The author compares Western Scotland and the west of Crete focusing on the wider regional political and business elites within these regions and attempting a comparison of elite attitudes within regions and between regions

International Books in Print, 1995 Barbara Hopkinson,[Anonymus AC01401231],1995 Regional Development Agencies in Europe Charlotte Damborg,Mike Danson,Henrik Halkier,2017-09-29 In the past decade Europe has seen much change and at the same time the importance of the regional perspectives has significantly increased Regional Development Agencies in Europe brings together experiences of Regional and Development Agencies throughout Europe to provide material for the first major comparative study of bottom up regional policy across the continent Using an analytical framework developed by editors the contributors evaluate the long term potential and limitations of the RDAs in terms of promoting regional and economic development Institutional and other preconditions for successful regional policies are identified and combined with a broad analytical and geographical coverage that includes Eastern Europe a clearer picture of the relevance of the RDAs emerges Re-framing Regional Development Philip Cooke, 2013-01-17 Turbulence characterises the current global scene This book uses complementary theoretical approaches to understand and help prescribe policies to re frame the regional development problem in turbulent times These approaches are evolutionary complexity evolutionary economic geography emergence theory and resilience theory From below they address the four major crises creating a perfect storm for societies and economics involving the climate change crisis the energy crisis the banking and financial crisis and the global economic crisis This book analyses and proposes ways in which regional economies in particular are having to be reframed to address these crises First many must evolve in new ways possibly moving back from the service economy towards a new greener form of manufacturing of goods as well as services Accordingly regional economies are innovating in new ways Amongst these are the quest for relatedness within their own regional orbits and promoting modularity as a mode of analysis and a policy stance to stimulate innovation across industry and geographical borders Finally regional economies and societies are discovering that from a resilience perspective they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice Fertile Links? Connections Between Tourism Activities, Socioeconomic Contexts and Local Development Antonio Raschi, Elisabete Figueiredo, 2013 In many European regions rural areas are facing major challenges in economic and social terms consequence of transformations in the role and meaning of agriculture The loss of the productive character strongly contributed to the emergence of new roles and functions particularly related to leisure and tourism The book aims to discuss questions directly related to the connections between rural tourism and local socioeconomic contexts presenting diverse theoretical and methodological perspectives and different case studies from various European regions The book addresses the relationships among rural tourism and the complex interactions conflicts and innovative processes developing in rural territories as consequence of the implementation of tourism activities The book responds to some relevant and not yet comprehensively researched aspects within this topic especially in what extent tourism in its various forms and processes might give an important contribution to rural development Enterprising Initiatives in the Experience Economy Britta Timm Knudsen, Dorthe Refslund Christensen, Per Blenker, 2014-09-19 Over the last decade the close relationship between culture and economy or the experience economy has risen on the agenda. Although there is an established research field for analysing the economic impact of entrepreneurship, there is currently a limited amount of research that analyses the cultural impact and opportunity of entrepreneurship. Linking experience economy with enterprising behavior moves the term away from businesses' competitiveness and consumer behavior towards a more value-focused business in general. This ground-breaking book integrates entrepreneurship and empowerment into one central theme, drawing on research from both the social sciences (innovation, entrepreneurship, empowerment and activism) and the humanities (participatory culture, user-generated designs, creative networks). Enterprising Initiatives expands the definition of entrepreneurship beyond a primarily economic profit-seeking phenomenon to a broader understanding of enterprising behaviour based on an individual opportunity nexus. Beyond social entrepreneurship, it explores a broad range of individual, collective and cooperative citizen initiatives under the umbrella of enterprising action. This innovative approach will be of great interest to scholars in entrepreneurship, social entrepreneurship, cultural entrepreneurship, cultural studies and consumer culture, as well as for policy makers in public and local government, regional development and cultural event management. Governance, Institutional Change and Regional Development Mike Danson, Henrick Halkier, Greta Cameron, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000. This volume addresses the prominent role given to institution building, institutional change and governance in the regional development strategies and policies. The establishment of the Scottish Parliament, Welsh and Northern Ireland Assemblies and the arrival of regional development agencies in England highlighted the need to put the initiatives into some context, drawing on experience from across Europe on the critical factors in the determination of the potential and success of regions. Central to the discussions presented here by a group of European experts are the question of governance: how does an ongoing process of institution building affect the ways in which regions and localities are governed, including questions of democracy, participation, regional self-determination, public-private partnerships, networks and accountability, and the consequences of new modes of governance and institutional change for regional development strategies and policies, particularly in the context of large-scale industrial restructuring and city, region and urban regeneration. Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) Local Governance and the Drivers of Growth OECD, 2005-12-01 Innovation, skills, entrepreneurship and social cohesion are key drivers of growth. Each has a strong governance component which is analysed in this OECD book.

Multiregionalism and Multilateralism Sebastian Bersick, Paul Velde, Wim Stokhof, 2025-10-01 The Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM), established in 1996, is an interregional forum which consists of the members of the European Union and the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, and China, Japan and South Korea. The main components of the ASEM process include political dialogue, economy, education and culture. Multiregionalism and Multilateralism focuses on the institutionalisation of intra-regional and inter regional cooperation in the international system with emphasis on the changing relationship between the EU China and India The role of ASEM in this relationship is growing more important because of the growth of multilateralism as cornerstone of the international system Return Migration and Regional Development in Europe Robert

Nadler,Zoltán Kovács,Birgit Glorius,Thilo Lang,2016-07-30 This book assesses recent migration patterns in Europe which have significantly included return migration against the stream of East West migration Since the Eastern enlargement of the EU many regions of Central and Eastern European have experienced a loss of human resources in core industries raising concerns about social economic and territorial cohesion in the region The success rates of national and regional governmental policy aiming to retain or re attract skilled workers have been variable yet return migration has emerged as a major element of migration flows Bringing together leading researchers on this important topic in contemporary European geography the contributors analyse a series of key issues These include theoretical frameworks in the field of return migration the nexus between return migration and regional development the effects of the global and European crisis on emigration and return migration non economic motivations for emigration and return the intergenerational character of return migration and the reintegration of return migrants into post socialist societies Taken together the chapters see return migrants as important agents of change innovation and economic growth The book will be of great interest for scholars and students of human economic and political geography Urban Regeneration in Europe Uwe Altröck,Detlef

Kurth,2024-11-25 We understand urban regeneration as all efforts managed funded or at least guided to some extent by public authorities that aim at improving stabilizing or revitalizing existing neighborhoods This comprises area based strategies improvements of public infrastructure and interventions into the physical structure of the built environment Their strategies may be redevelopment renewal careful regeneration socially integrative management and others Those efforts aim at dealing with reurbanization trends recently challenged by new suburbanization due to overheated development sharp increases in house prices and more and more professionals working from home The major objective of the book is to give an overview of the variety of approaches applied in European countries Therefore it takes a particular look at the systems of urban regeneration that build upon an interplay of specific legal frameworks policies public funding schemes physical planning tools partnerships and governance arrangements applied with the intention of solving urban problems For this purpose chapters present case studies of those national or regional systems or outstanding examples of long term efforts by major cities Urban Change and Regional Development at the Margins of Europe Ignazio Vinci,Paula

Russell,2022-07-28 Since the beginning of the 1990s regions and urban areas have become a primary target of EU Cohesion Policy For a number of European cities especially in the less developed regions this has resulted in a unique opportunity for the implementation of extensive development projects as well as delivering innovations in urban policy and local governance Through the detailed observation of planning processes which took place in four European cities Porto PT Malaga ES

Palermo IT and Thessaloniki EL this book explores the different ways that EU intervention can affect the policy process locally from the regeneration of decayed neighbourhoods and the creation of key services for improving the quality of life to the establishment of new governance relations and increasing the institutional capacity in local government The book also provides a critical reflection on the impact of EU urban policy in reducing regional disparities and the extent to which Cohesion Policy has helped cities to open new pathways for local development With a special focus on the EU s marginal regions this book is a guide to understanding how EU policy has affected urban change and local development across Europe The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Urban Research Practice
