Denmark, 1513-1660 Paul Douglas Lockhart, 2007-08-23 One of the largest states in Europe and the greatest of the Protestant powers Denmark in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries was at the height of its influence Embracing Norway Iceland portions of southern Sweden and northern Germany the Danish monarchy dominated the vital Baltic trade However its geopolitical importance far exceeded its modest resources Paul Douglas Lockhart examines the short and perhaps unlikely career of Denmark as the major power of northern Europe exploring its rise to the forefront of European affairs and its subsequent decline in fortunes following its disastrous involvement in the Thirty Years War Using the latest research from Danish and other Scandinavian scholars Lockhart focuses on key issues from the dynamic role of the Oldenburg monarchy in bringing about Denmark's European integration to the impact of the Protestant Reformation on Danish culture The multi national character of the Danish monarchy is explored in depth in particular how the Oldenburg kings of Denmark sought to establish their authority over their sizable and oftentimes contentious Norwegian Icelandic and German minorities Denmark's participation in international politics and commerce is also investigated along with the power struggle between Denmark and its rival Sweden over Baltic dominion and the Danes unique approach to internal governance

От империй – к империализму. Государство и возникновение буржуазной цивилизации Борис Кагарлицкий, 2021-12-08 XVIII XIX Military Revolution and the Thirty Years War 1618-1648 Olli Bäckström, 2023-11-08

Military Revolution and the Thirty Years War 1618 1648 investigates change and decline in military institutions during a period of protracted and destructive European warfare Conceptual background is provided by the Military Revolution thesis which argues that changes in military technology and tactics drove revolutionary transformation in the way states organised and waged war in the early modern era This transformation of military institutions became evident during the long and destructive Thirty Years War in 1618 1648 The outcome of the Military Revolution was the centralised fiscal military state that possessed a strong claim to the monopoly of violence within its territorial boundaries The book examines how the Thirty Years War accelerated and even initiated transformation in four military institutions that defined land warfare feudal cavalry services militias regular armies and war commissariats The regional scope of the investigation covers the Holy Roman Empire France Spain Portugal Sweden Denmark and the Dutch Republic The book combines military historical inquiry with ancillary sciences of sociology and economics It argues that the Military Revolution of the Thirty Years War stimulated institutions capable of increased complexification and specialisation while curtailing those that were locked in stasis and immutability The institutional legacy of the Thirty Years War was the emergence of complex military organisations that are characteristic to the modern society and its self renewing social subsystems Previous scholarship on the Military Revolution has concentrated on military technicalities and the wider process of early modern state formation This book proposes an alternative way of viewing early modern military transformations from the perspectives of institutions and systems System analytical survey of change and decline in the military institutions of the Thirty Years War introduces qualifications to the Military Revolution theory and offers a novel way of conceptualising early modern military history
