Relating Work And Education:

Toward a Federal Policy on Education and Work Barry E. Stern, 1977 Key Qualifications in Work and Education W.J. Nijhof, J.N. Streumer, 2012-12-06 In today's rapidly changing world a constant renewal of knowledge and skills in every human endeavour can be observed. The characteristics of workers and the jobs that they perform have been attended by technological, social and political change on a global scale. New forms of employment have made work more mobile to an extent never experienced before. An increasing proportion of workers no longer need come to their employer's job site in order to do their work. The instability of employment is creating a new breed of workers who know how to move efficiently from one job to another. As a consequence, workers need flexible qualifications to perform jobs. Key qualifications are the answer. Key qualifications provide the key to rapid and effective acquisition of new knowledge and skills. First qualifications enable workers to react effectively to and exercise initiative in changes to their work. Second qualifications enable workers to shape their own career in a time of diminishing job security, nowadays frequently defined as employability.

The introduction outlines the current developments and challenges facing social work education in Europe, contextualizing the topics to be covered in the volume. Each chapter offers an individual country profile of social work, including an analysis of typical examples of different traditions of educational models for social work that collectively provide insight into an overall European model of education for social work. The countries selected represent all parts of Europe: Finland, Latvia, Germany, United Kingdom, The Netherlands, France, Italy, Croatia, Romania, Cyprus. Social Work Education: Traditions and Transformations is an essential resource, an up-to-date and differentiated inventory of social work education in Europe from a horizontal and vertical perspective which describes fields of work and approaches that prepare students to practice social work, examines the degree of academization of the discipline and investigates its structures and conditions.
