Shortland Street Production Text:

Shortland Street Barbara Cairns, Helen Martin, 1996 Envisioning Media Power Brett Christophers, 2009-04-16
Envisioning Media Power develops an original geographical perspective on the nature and exercise of power in the international television economy. It uses theories of political economy as the basis for a comparative empirical examination of the UK and New Zealand television markets while closely considering these markets' respective relationships with the US market and its globally influential media corporations. In fleshing out this geographical perspective, the book critically addresses the power to produce, reproduce and extract profit from territorialized media markets. To understand such powers, the book examines processes of creation and dissemination of industry knowledge, structures of industry governance and the locational characteristics of television's operational economy. Through its rigorous and creative combination of conceptual insights with empirical substance, Envisioning Media Power both illuminates the fabric of television's international space economy and ultimately offers a unique theoretic argument suggesting that power, knowledge and geography are inseparable, not only from one another but from the process of accumulation of media capital.

New Zealand Filmmakers Ian Conrich, Stuart Murray, 2007. The most thorough study on the filmmakers who have defined New Zealand cinema from its origins to its current successes.

Television Studies: The Basics Toby Miller, 2009-12-04. Television Studies: The Basics is a lively introduction to the study of a powerful medium. It examines the major theories and debates surrounding production and reception over the years and considers both the role and future of television. Topics covered include broadcasting history and technology, institutions and ownership, genre and content, audiences. Complete with global case studies, questions for discussion and suggestions for further reading, this is an invaluable and engaging resource for those interested in how to study television.

New Zealand Books in Print, 1998 Shakespeare beyond English Susan Bennett, Christie Carson, 2013-08-29. Tackling vital issues of politics, identity and experience in performance, this book asks what Shakespeare's plays mean when extended beyond the English language. From April to June 2012, the Globe to Globe Festival offered the unprecedented opportunity to see all of Shakespeare's plays performed in many different world languages. Thirty-eight productions from around the globe were presented in six weeks as part of the World Shakespeare Festival, which formed a cornerstone of the Cultural Olympics. This book provides the only complete critical record of that event, drawing together an internationally renowned group of scholars of Shakespeare and world theatre with a selection of the UK's most celebrated Shakespearean actors Featuring a foreword by Artistic Director Dominic Dromgoole and an interview with the Festival Director Tom Bird this volume highlights the energy and dedication that was necessary to mount this extraordinary cultural experiment Shortland - Production, Text and Audience Barbara Cairns, Helen Martin, 1996-02
