Design for the Changing Educational Landscape Andrew Harrison, Les Hutton, 2013-10-15 The whole landscape of space use is undergoing a radical transformation In the workplace a period of unprecedented change has created a mix of responses with one overriding outcome observable worldwide the rise of distributed space In the learning environment the social political economic and technological changes responsible for this shift have been further compounded by constantly developing theories of learning and teaching and a wide acceptance of the importance of learning as the core of the community resulting in the blending of all aspects of learning into one seamless experience This book attempts to look at all the forces driving the provision and pedagogic performance of the many spaces real and virtual that now accommodate the experience of learning and provide pointers towards the creation and design of learning centred communities Part 1 looks at the entire learning universe as it now stands tracks the way in which its constituent parts came to occupy their role assesses how they have responded to a complex of drivers and gauges their success in dealing with renewed pressures to perform It shows that what is required is innovation within the spaces and integration between them Part 2 finds many examples of innovation in evidence across the world in schools the higher and further education campus and in business and cultural spaces but an almost total absence of integration Part 3 offers a model that redefines the learning landscape in terms of learning outcomes mapping spatial requirements and activities into a detailed mechanism that will achieve the best outcome at the most appropriate scale By encouraging stakeholders to creating an events based rather than space based identity the book hopes to point the way to a fully integrated learning landscape a learning community Engaging Learners with Chemistry Ilka Parchmann, Shirley Simon, Jan

Apotheker, 2020-07-27 Many projects in recent years have applied context based learning and engagement tools to the fostering of long term student engagement with chemistry While empirical evidence shows the positive effects of context based learning approaches on students interest the long term effects on student engagement have not been sufficiently highlighted up to now Edited by respected chemistry education researchers and with contributions from practitioners across the world Engaging Learners with Chemistry sets out the approaches that have been successfully tested and implemented according to different criteria including informative interactive and participatory engagement while also considering citizenship and career perspectives Bringing together the latest research in one volume this book will be useful for chemistry teachers researchers in chemistry education and professionals in the chemical industry seeking to attract students to careers in the chemical sector Teaching William Morris Jason D.
